Grass Roots Will Decide

An old but ever-accurate truism holds that in the long run a people get the kind of government they want and deserve.

For economic, public defense and public programs will determine whether we will have efficient, economical government or a bloated, inefficient one.

Representative News of New Hampshire touched on this by indicating when he said, "We have reached that point in the session when the final vote of protest against appropriation cuts really has to be made."

The future of our government will be decided in the grass roots, not in Washington.

Need The Profit Motive

An authority on retailing points out that when production and merchandising activities have several important functions to perform in a competitive economy.

The left-wing, of course, always make their best in anguish and disgust when the profit motive is mentioned in connection with the business.

Incidentally, that profit is nowhere near as great as you think. In 1952, to give one typical illustration, the national retailing stores with a volume of over $100,000 averaged a profit of 4.7 percent.

Poles Downed by Storm Being Replaced; Charles Donnell Buys Lot On College Street

Thursday, July 13, 1953
A crew of the Southern Bell Telephone Company has been at work during the past week installing new poles on the Kipper Kauffmann road to replace the poles blown down during a storm several days ago.

Famine And Hunger

In America, we have deflated famine. But famine and hunger still stalk the face of the world.

In a recent talk, an official of a company which manufactures and distributes food products said that the world is still suffering from famine and hunger.
