Livestock Producers Use Loans; Applications Can Be Made Here

More than $11,689,000 in special livestock loans has been loaned to approximately 1,190 farmers and ranchers throughout 13 of United States and nearly 600 other applications are being considered, John L. Zachary, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor for Nicholas, Fleming, and Bourbon counties, reported this week.

The special livestock loan program authorized last July, helps established producers of cattle, sheep, and goats to maintain their herds, Zachary said. The producers who can borrow are those with good past records of livestock production but who are temporarily unable to get adequate credit from commercial banks, cooperative lending agencies, or other responsible sources to enable them to go ahead with normal livestock operations. They must have reasonable prospects of success with the help of a loan. Commercial feed lot operators are not included.

Applications can be made at the county Farmers Home Administration office at Carlisle on Tuesdays. Committees authorized by Secretary of Agriculture Benson approve the loans. Applications for more than $50,000 must have final approval by the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington.

A borrower may use his loan funds for usual expenses of carrying on a livestock operation, including restocking his herd up to the number he held before he had to reduce his herd.

The five present loans may be amortized over a 3-year period and secured by the best lien possible on the borrower's property and his personal obligation to repay the borrowed money. Ocarr creditors, although not asked to subordinate their claims, are expected to agree to stand by so the farmer can have a fair chance to work out of his difficulties. Agreements are made to let the farmer apply a reasonable part of his livestock income to repay the special livestock loan.

Chickens Still Return Profits

While prices of many farm products have dropped, poultry and eggs have remained high to return profits, comments. C. E. Harris of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service. Prospects are favorable for continued profits for poultrymen who do a good job, he believes.

Farmers now may have the choice of several lines of producers—market eggs, production strain hatching eggs, broiler-strain hatching eggs, or broiler chickens. Eggs at Kentucky hatcheries now are operating the year-round. Harris points out, and need more hatching eggs. Also there are several egg brokers handling broiler-strain hatching eggs who buy all year. Many Kentucky broiler eggs are shipped south, but there is a rapidly expanding broiler industry in this state. This broiler industry will require more eggs every year. Harris also notes that some producer dealers are paying a premium for good-quality eggs that are large and uniform in size as nearly always a good market for good eggs is available.

Regardless of the kind of eggs produced, Harris says chicks should be out in the brooder house before Jan. 1. The demand for chicks for eating and for hatching broilers is best from June to mid-August. At that time there usually a shortage of eggs of high quality, and thousands of Kentucky dollars leave the state for eggs to be consumed here.

Pullets that lay well during the period of high egg prices should be hatched in October, November, December or January. It takes about seven months to produce a pullet flock that will pay its feed bill and return a profit.

Jess Daniel of Ohio county produced 1329½ bushels of corn on an acre.

Diabetes Detection Begins Nov. 15-21

An estimated 15,000 unknown diabetics in Kentucky will have a chance now to learn if they have been using, normal lives or possible sufferers, and death as the Kentucky State Medical Association conducts its annual life-saving Diabetes Detection Drive as part of National Diabetes Week, November 15-21.

All physicians who are members of the Kentucky State Medical Association, and all hospitals and laboratories have been requested to give a free diabetes test to every person requesting it during the week.

"Each previously undiscovered case of diabetes uncovered through the drive represents a useful happy life saved which might otherwise be lost," said Carlisle Morse, M. D. Louisville, chairman of the K. S. M. A. Diabetes Committee, as he urged all Kentuckians to avail themselves of the free tests.

"With the control measures now possible through insulin, diet, or a combination of both, the average person with diabetes may even expect to live longer than many non-diabetics," Dr. Morse said. "Because such controls exist, every person should regularly check before it is too late. Don't be afraid to find out if you have the disease. Detection Early affords such an opportunity each year without cost. With full public cooperation, it can help us achieve a real victory over diabetes."

Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby has proclaimed November 15-21 as "Diabetes Detection Week in Kentucky." The campaign is also endorsed by numerous state-wide organizations.

LAW UPHELD

Constitutionality of the Kentucky Real Estate Commission law was upheld by the Court of Appeals in holding that it was entirely within the competency of the General Assembly to prescribe tests of "trustworthiness and competence" as standards for real estate agents and brokers. It also held that the requirement that brokers maintain an office easily located was one to protect the public against the "irresponsible, unscrupulous, fly-by-night operator." The decision sustained a prior ruling of Franklin Circuit Judge William B. Ardery.

ATTENTION

Due to crowded conditions we are unable to accept any beef for processing until Monday, November 23.

Agriculture Department Suspends 'Inter-Compliance' Policy On Tobacco

Senator Earle C. Clements and Congressman John C. Watts stated Friday that the Department of Agriculture in a meeting held with various tobacco groups at 2:00 p. m. November 13 announced that it would not put into effect its previously announced requirement that producers must be in compliance with all acreage allotments established for their farm in order to be eligible for price support on any basic commodity in the year 1954.

The Department officials further stated that this action was based on several factors not fully considered by the Department before it made the original announcement several weeks ago.

Several of these factors had been brought to the Department's attention by Senator Clements, Congressman Watts and the various tobacco groups.

The Department officials further stated that they would, at a later date, consider the proposal as it relates to the 1955 crops, but assured the groups that before it was put into effect for any year that all groups representing the different commodities to be affected would have the opportunity to examine and discuss the proposal before it was adopted.

In discussing this reversal of action by the Department, Senator Clements said, "When this requirement was so abruptly announced, I immediately made my objection known to the Secretary of Agriculture, namely, that although the tobacco growers were as a whole in favor of compliance and controls, they felt that this requirement was hastily devised, it contained many administrative difficulties making it impractical and unworkable, and further represented a moral breach of faith in

Nicholas County Homemaker Leaders Receive Their Instructions On Braiding Rugs From U of K Specialist

Seventy-six braided rugs have been started by the Nicholas County Homemakers as a result of a rug making project in the county.

Seven room size rugs (9x12) are being made by the following homemakers: Mrs. Maurice King, Mrs. Beulah Dollins, Mrs. Emmett Darrell, Mrs. James C. Lowe, Mrs. Ethun Rye, Mrs. S. R. Barlow and Mrs. Clyde Alexander. Many rugs 6x9, 3x5 and none smaller than 27"x45" have been started.

The braided rugs are being made from old woolen clothing and blankets found at home which will make even the large ones very inexpensive. You may have a room size all wool rug for as little as $35 if this has been done in other counties.

The lessons are being given to 20 leaders at the training meetings by Miss Vivian Curnutt, University of Kentucky, Extension Home Furnishings Specialist. The leaders in turn give the lessons to their club members with the last one in January, in March or April.

Those leaders as selected by the clubs to attend were:

Carlisle West—Mrs. Frank Henry and Mrs. Grimes Caywood. Concord—Mrs. Herman Hamilton and Mrs. Ernest Alexander, Ellisville—Mrs. Beulah Dollins and Anita C. Mann; East Union—Mrs. Roland Boyd and Mrs. Kenneth Stephenson; Headquarters—Mrs. Emmett Darrell and Mrs. Naomi Dale Miranda—Mrs. James C. Lowe and Mrs. Willie Stone. Maxwell—Mrs. Ethun Rye and Mrs. Fred Whaley. Parks—Mrs. Russell Barlow and Mrs. W. L. Shaw. Sunnyside—Mrs. Jack Tincher and Mrs. Sam George. From this group, Mrs. Kenneth Stephenson was selected as County chairman with Mrs. James C. Lowe, Mrs. Fred Whaley and Mrs. Emmett Darrell as committee.

In addition to learning the correct method of making a braided rug, other valuable information has been gained which will help in the selection of rugs for their home estimating the size for rooms or to use with various pieces of furniture, good proportions, color and care of rugs.

Other major projects which will be included in the homemakers program this year are furniture refinishing, using cane in chair seating and making fireside bars.

Three exhibits are planned which will include rugs, chairs that have been caned and baskets. One in the spring, one at the Homemakers Annual Meeting and also at the Youth Fair in the fall.

Xmas Seal Sale Now Underway

Most Nicholas counties received a special letter in their mail Monday morning. It contained their 1953 Christmas Seals.

The local Christmas Seal sale which began Nov. 16 and continues through December is part of a nationwide fund raising drive to help prevent tuberculosis. The funds are used locally for education, casefinding and rehabilitation.

"It 'Is particularly important that Kentuckians make an intensive effort to control tuberculosis because our state has the third highest death rate from the disease in the nation," according to E. P. Garnett, M. D., president of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association.

"The Seal sale is conducted entirely by mail so that persons may decide how much they can give without outside pressure," Dr. Garnett said. "Last year $35 a ton.

Rep. John C. Watts of Kentucky's Sixth district said:

"The Department of Agriculture has advised me that the counties of Fayette, Franklin, Bourbon, Henry, Harrison, Montgomery, Robertson, Scott, Jessamine, Clark, Garrard, Madison, Nicholas, and Owen, have been designated as drought disaster counties and are entitled to the drought relief provided by law. Those are the only counties in the Sixth district that have been certified by the State Drought Committee to the secretary of Agriculture from other counties to be considered later. This action means cheaper feeds and cheaper rates to those counties."

Drive Continues On Stray Dogs

On Saturday morning, November 14 a proceeding was had in county court against a dog owned by Mr. Sterling Jackson on the charge that he killed sheep on the farm James Sisson.

A second dog which was a pup of the dog on trial was likewise involved in the sheep killing. This pup was not caught until the next Saturday morning, it having been confined on the premises of Mrs. Jackson after summons had been served upon him by Sheriff John Clinkenbeard to produce the pup in court.

As a result of trial the dog which was charged with having killed the sheep on Sissons farm was found guilty of the offense and was ordered destroyed.

Mr. Jackson was cited for contempt of court in failing to produce the pup, at the time of the trial Saturday morning. He was fined $3 and sentenced to 6 hours in the county jail on the contempt citation upon entering a plea of guilty to the charge at his trial on Tuesday morning, November 17.

The Sheriff's office advises that they have received several calls to pick up unlicensed dogs in connection with the new dog pound program.

There has been some minor delays in getting the dog pound completed but is anticipated it will be ready for use in the immediate future. It is hoped that everyone will cooperate with the Sheriff in trying to rid the county of all dogs which are unlicensed.

Nicholas Granted Drought Relief

Secretary of Agriculture Benson last Thursday designated 43 more Kentucky counties as drought disaster areas, making them eligible for federal aid.

In a telegram, Sen. Clements (D-Ky.) announced that 31 additional counties in Kentucky had been recommended for such designation. The counties mentioned were included in Benson's order.

Included in Benson's announcement were: Allen, Barren, Boone, Breathitt, Breckinridge, Butler, Campbell, Carroll, Clark, Fayette, Franklin, Gallatin, Garrard, Grant, Grayson, Green, Harlan, Harrison, Henry, Hopkins, Jessamine, Kenton, LaRue, Logan, Madison, Mason, Meade, Mercer, Montgomery, Muhlenberg, Nicholas, Oldham, Owen, Pendleton, Robertson, Scott, Shelby, Simpson, Spencer, Taylor, Warren, Wolfe and Woodford counties.

Eligible farmers and dairymen in the disaster areas may purchase feed held by the Commodity Credit Corp. at these prices: Corn, $1 a bushel; oats 75 cents a bushel; feed wheat $1.10 a bushel and cottonseed meal $35 a ton.

Rep. John C. Watts of Kentucky's Sixth district said:

"The Department of Agriculture has advised me that the counties of Fayette, Franklin, Bourbon, Henry, Harrison, Montgomery, Robertson, Scott, Jessamine, Clark, Garrard, Madison, Nicholas, and Owen, have been designated as drought disaster counties and are entitled to the drought relief provided by law. Those are the only counties in the Sixth district that have been certified by the State Drought Committee to the secretary of Agriculture from other counties to be considered later. This action means cheaper feeds and cheaper rates to those counties."
