Montgomery Women Restore Furniture

Montgomery county homemakers have a new appreciation of furniture that is in good condition and repair. The reason is that for the past year they have worked on at least 555 different articles to restore them to usefulness and beauty. In a report of the year's work, it was brought out that of that number, 239 pieces were refinished, 126 were painted, 60 were decorated with designs, 81 were seated with hong kong grass, and 49 pieces were slipcovered.

In addition, the homemakers made 89 pairs of draperies, 13 bedspreads, 26 lampshades, and finished 30 hooked rugs and started 27. Seventy-four pictures were bought this year, 76 were framed and 274 were rehung.

Mrs. L. N. Kratzer, county president, was in charge of the program, said Mrs. Helen White, assistant state leader for the UK, College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

MIDDLESBORO WILL VOTE

Middlesboro citizens will be permitted to vote November 3 on whether it can abandon the present commission form of government, and return to the council manic system, the Court of Appeals held in denying a writ of mandamus to keep the question off the ballot.

After a petition had been filed with more than 1,500 names on it — a sufficient number—more than 500 persons signed affidavits that they had signed under misunderstanding and wished to withdraw their names. The Appellate Court ruled that names once placed on a petition could not be withdrawn subsequently.

CERTIFICATE REVOKES

Irregularities in the examination papers of Carvell Arnett, candidate for County Tax Commissioner of Magoffin County, resulted in revocation of his certificate to seek that office and possible grand jury inquiry into the matter.

Commissioner of Revenue Robert H. Allphin announced cancellation of Arnett's certificate after question was raised as to whether he, or another, had actually taken the examination which resulted in his being granted a certificate authorizing him to seek the nomination. Arnett failed an earlier examination, and the handwritine on the second examination paper did not correspond with the first.

Woodworking Hobby Turns Into Art For Local Man

Remakes Organs, Pianos Into Desks Refinishes Other Pieces

Did you ever see a piano turn into a desk? Did you ever see an old-fashioned flattop organ turn into a desk? It can be done, we've seen it with our own eyes.

The transformation doesn't take place overnight but sometimes takes weeks. But when it is completed, you can see that the effort has been well worth the wait.

For we've seen the finished product, which you can see in the adjacent picture, and it's an item that will make every woman turn green with envy.

The magician who performs these earthly miracles is one you haven't guessed by this time, is Rella Scott of this city.

In his 22 by 28 foot woodwork shop which he constructed behind his home, he has, over a period of years, reworked and reproduced some special pieces of some value which are thi pride and joy of the local housewives who are lucky enough to own them.

Once An Organ

The desk which you see in the adjoining picture was once an old-fashioned flattop organ which C. Talbert took it to Mr. Scott and asked him if he couldn't do something with it, perhaps make a desk out of it. Mr. Scott thought he could.

So the change gradually began to take place from a worthless old organ is one of the most beautiful desks in our opinion, that could be found anywhere. Solid walnut to begin with, it has been finished in natural walnut with a slide-out writing board. And just as the organ once did, it can be closed.

To the left of the desk in the adjacent picture is a solid cherry Grandfather Clock, belonging to Dr. and Mrs. Ealie Asbury of Forest Retreat Farm.

In an unfortunate accident, the old clock took a tumble down a flight of stairs at their home. Mr. Scott reworked the clock and it is another beautiful piece.

Popular Item

The 30-inch cherry hepplewhite night table in the picture is one of the most popular items around the town and county, Mr. Scott said. He had two on hand that he was working on, one for Mrs. George Seeby and the other for Mrs. Chad Whitaker. He does a lot of calls for these tables, he said, as they make a very desirable addition to any household.

Mr. Scott, who takes a lot of pride in working over and finishing furniture, came by his trade naturally. At the close of World War I, in which he served, he began work for Brown & Bigelow Hamilton Lumber yard, in the mill and in the yard.

As the years went on he developed a certain amount of skill in making special pieces of furniture and in his spare time always had something in the line on hand.

Has Many Machines

In 1950 he built his workshop and today it is almost completely equipped. Among his machines are to be found a two-horse power radial saw, with which he uses to cut angles and dados, and which is especially helpful in frame-making and sash making; a belt sander for flat surface work; a mortiser, a 12-inch planer, a 20-inch bandsaw, a 10-inch variety saw, an eight-inch Crescent jointer; shaper, drill press, disc sander, mitrebox and many other smaller saws and tools, which he said he "acquired almost piece by piece."

In 1952, he resigned from Dorsey Bros. and Fisher, and for the past year has spent most of his time in his workshop. Bothered by a severe case of sinus, he works now when he feels like it.

Beautiful Pieces In Home

A quick stroll thru Mr. Scott's home revealed that over the years he had also found time to do a little work for himself. A solid cherry desk, cherry drop-leaf table, walnut bed, cedar chest, hutch's, all beautifully finished, would make any collector's mouth water.

Mr. Scott has a good memory when it comes to the various pieces of furniture he has worked on

Musketeers Open Home Season Against Elkhorn Tomorrow Night

The Carlisle Musketeers will open their home football season Friday night when they meet Elkhorn at 7:30 at the local athletic field.

The Musketeers, 27-0 victims of the Scotland Wildcats last Friday night at Stanford, will be seeking their second win of the season against Elkhorn.

Friday night's game will also mark the opening performance of Carroll Hall's "Marching 32," the Carlisle high school band. The band is slated to give a marching and formation program during the half-time intermission.

Start Same Lineup

In shooting for his second win, Coach Carroll Holmes is expected to start virtually the same lineups as he has in the past two contests. It includes Billy Gilley and Milt Moreland at ends; Jack Conley and Billy Logan, tackles; Bobby Ferbeck and Kenneth Booth at guards and David Hardin at center. In the backfield Billy Clark will be at quarterback; Larry Cameron and Bobby McFarland at halfbacks and Donnie Dampier at fullback. David Ferbeck will continue to play safetyman on defense, with Jack Conley coming out of the line.

Muskies Nervous

In losing to Stanford in a CKC game Friday night, the Musketeers developed a bad case of "jitters" in the first few minutes. The Wildcats capitalized on this nervousness on the part of the local lads and punched over two quick touchdowns. They added two more in the final quarter to wind up the scoring.

Stanford kicked off to Carlisle and it was returned to the Carlisle 40. After a running play, a pass by Clark was deflected by a Stanford player and intercepted. After the Musketeers held the Wildcats for downs a Stanford punt was dropped by Larry Cameron and recovered by Stanford on the Carlisle 20. On the following play a pass from Wright to Spoonamore was good for the initial touchdown. A pass play by the same combination was good for the extra point and put Stanford in the lead 7-0.

Recover Kickoff

Stanford then pulled an onside kick which they recovered on the Carlisle 35. They moved quickly to a first down on the Carlisle 15 and then "Monk" Lawson, Stanford fullback, took it over for the score. The extra point try failed, leaving the score 13-0.

Onside Kick Successful

Stanford again pulled an onside kick and recovered on the Carlisle 40. A pass from Wright to Spoonamore covered 25 yards and gave the Wildcats another scoring opportunity on the Musketeer 15. However, Carlisle contained this scoring threat and took over the ball on downs on their own five-yard-line.

Carlisle Rolls

Carlisle moved to a first down on their 15 as the quarter ended. The Musketeers racked up two more first downs as the second canto opened and were able to move the ball to the Stanford 45. However, an intercepted pass by Stanford cut this drive short at this point.

The rest of the second quarter and the entire third quarter resulted in each team fighting for ground with neither being able to get in a scoring position.

As the fourth quarter opened Stanford intercepted another Carlisle pass and-returned it to the Musketeer 43. From here Lawson went off tackle for 43 yards and the Wildcats' third touchdown. A pass from Wright to Spoonamore was good for the extra point.

Stanford's final score came late in the quarter and was set up by a 40-yard Wright to Spoonamore pass which put the ball on the Carlisle three-yard-line. Spoonamore bulled over for the touchdown. A pass try for the PAT failed and the game ended a few minutes later with Stanford the victor by 26-0.

Three In Race For Police Judge

A three-cornered race for police judge of Carlisle developed last week as Incumbent Hersly Myers and Mr. Will J. Greene of Sycamore street entered the race.

Joe Clay, veteran city superintendent of water works, had previously filed for the office.

The incumbent mayor-council team is running for re-election under the "Citizen's Ticket" and is headed by veteran mayor, W. C. Talbert. Councilmen seeking re-election are William Harper, Thomas Johnson, George Gaffin, Joe Scott, Shelman Hamm and Charles Hopkins.

The opposing mayor-council ticket is headed by Bill Power who is running for mayor. Those seeking council seats on this ticket include H. G. Colbrath, Charles C. Shrout, Eugene Neal, Woodie Wilson, William Frey and Lee Roundtree. They are running on the "Progressive Ticket."

The final filing for city offices, subject to the November general election, was last Friday.

Skating Rink Sold; Leaves Town Monday

The portable skating rink, which was located about a half mile from Carlisle on the Moorefield road, left Monday. The owner's office reported that a fight between some Mt. Sterling and Carlisle boys had taken place outside the rink Friday night, although none of the participants in the brawl were seriously hurt. However two of the local boys were sent to the hospital where they were treated for cuts and released.

The fight Friday night had nothing to do with the rink leaving town, as the business had been sold and the former owners were planning to leave on Monday anyway.

Your Blood Program

Blood is still in demand as much, or more than before. We must still furnish our Armed Forces in Korea and elsewhere many pints of blood and plasma. Donations of blood are essential for gamma globulin to aid in prevention of polio and for use in your local hospital, where the next life saved may be your own."—Dr. J. T. Morford.
