Tid Bits Of Kentucky Folklore

By Dr. Gordon Wilson
THE GREEN
A few weeks ago I reviewed briefly for this column Felix Harkins' account of the "Green" about my home neighborhood, which he said was the site of the first annual fair of the village. Since that time, I have been endeavoring to collect the legends of the "Green" from the newspapers of the time, and I have been able to find several legends which have been preserved in the files of the University of Kentucky. The first of these is a legend which is believed to have originated in the early part of the 18th century. It is a legend which is believed to have originated in the early part of the 18th century. ## 'Basic Dress' Has Appeal For Women

A basic dress that is suitable for various occasions through the use of various accessories is a wise choice for every woman, says Miss Dorothy Threlkoff, clothing specialist at the University of Kentucky. Jacket-dress styles, so popular this year, are especially good for the purpose, says Miss Threlkoff. Work with a jacket, the costume looks tailored, while the dress can be given a more relaxed appearance by unbuttoning the jacket. A basic dress should be simple in line, yet flattering to the wearer, and should be made of a material which will wear well.

Investigate First

Here's one of the best pieces of advice anyone can be given: Investigate before you invest. No one can satisfactorily guarantee that the market value of any stock will rise. Stock values sometimes go up and sometimes go down—just as do the value of real estate and most other kinds of property. But you can protect yourself against "paper" loss.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
We were amazed to see Mercury when we live here in Madison, Ind. and don't get any more very often. It is nice to see you get the Mercury every Friday and read the items which were in the paper on the previous Friday. I hope that the paper will be published in every part of the State in the future.
