

Drought Damages Grasses And Hay

The annual report of the Kentucky Green Pasture Commission indicates the great damage which two years of drought have done to grasses and hay in the state. Reports of county agents show that probably three million acres of old pastures have been damaged and 75 to 80 percent of the 1933 seedling hay was killed. Nearly a third of a million acres of the 1933 pasture seedling and half-million acres of old established pastures are being reestablishing pastures.

Dairymen Did You Know?

Your profits can increase. With a shortage of feed the cost of keeping a bull with any milk is even greater profit to you. It costs about $200 to keep a bull a year.

Rebuilding your cows artificially costs a saving in the cost of keeping a bull, and makes it possible for all dairymen, large or small, to breed to the "cream of the crop," K. A. A. Bulls are selected for high milk production and good type from high bloodlines.

Tests Soil To Grow Alfalfa And Tobacco

Charles Spragg, Grant county farmer, told UK County Agent Robert Hume how he tested his soil and then fertilized to grow alfalfa, even in its early year of 1933.

After March 1 motorists who do not have 1934 plates on their vehicles will be subject to arrest and fine.

Tests of soil also helped Spragg grow top-quality alfalfa, one of his hanks bringing 20 cents a pound.

CROPS ARE IMPROVED
UK County Agent R.H. King says increased alfalfa returns to Carter county were due to planting under cover crops, using fertilizer according to soil tests, growing improved varieties and better management.

Miner, Jack, grows beans and nut cane, corn, hays and pineapple salad, hucans, butter and peaches—down make.
