Many Counties Join Farm, Home Program
 That there is incentive in working where one associates are doing something similar is seen among farm families in 51 counties in Kentucky enrolled in the Farm and Home Development program. Although each family works independently to improve its farm and home, the members in a county look forward to seeing what others have done, or hearing of programs. At a recent meeting in Washington county, for example, some of the home improvements included book cases, kitchen cabinets, clothes closet and yard fences. Mercury classifieds get results

While the first spring hats will be small and decorative, those for late spring and early summer will be larger and more simple. Miss Lutzke said.
