Southern Bell Files For Rehearing

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company announced today that it has filed a petition with the Public Service Commission at Frankfort for a rehearing on its rate case.

As announced last week, the rehearing is for the purpose of explaining to the Commission that the amount of revenue granted by its order of September 1, will not provide the rate of return which the Commission said in its opinion would result.

At that time, Homer G. Barter, Southern Bell General Manager said, "Analysis of the Order shows that the new schedule of rates cannot be made to produce earnings of 6% as intended by the Commission. In fact, the new rates will produce earnings of only about 5½% at the present time making no allowance for the factors which the Commission recognized will depress earnings even further in the very near future."

Carlisle Enters KCC Community Contest

One hundred and six communities including Carlisle are entered in the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Community Development Contest, according to a joint report released Friday by R. M. Watt, chairman of the State Chamber's Industrial Development Committee which is sponsoring the contest, and Barney A. Tucker, chairman of the 1954-55 Community Development Contest Committee. Deadline for entering the contest was September 14.

"We are encouraged by the large number of participating communities in this year's contest which indicates a desire on the part of Kentucky towns to work on improvement projects that will create more wealth and improve the standard of living of Kentucky's citizens," Watt said.

The 106 communities represent 90 counties and are located in every section of the State. Local organizations sponsoring these communities as entrants include chambers of commerce, junior chambers of commerce, development associations, business and professional women's clubs, soroptimist clubs, garden clubs, parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, federated women's clubs, Lions, Kiwanis, and other civic organizations.

Designed to encourage and reward improvement on all phases of community life, the contest offers prizes totaling $4,200 which must be spent on civic, economic, or social improvements. The contest period is from March 1, 1954 to February 28, 1955.

Contesting communities will submit scrapbook presentations and judging will be based on six major phases of development: civic improvement, rural development, education, main street modernization, economic opportunity, industrial development, and organization.

Contestants will be divided into two groups. Competing in Group one will be communities with less than 3,500 population. Communities of 3,500 and over will compete in Group Two.

First prize of $1,000 in Group One is sponsored by Ashland Oil & Refining Co. second prize of $500 by Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. and third prize of $300 by Kentucky Home Mutual Life Insurance Co. Two honorable mention awards of $50 each are sponsored by Time Finance Co. Group Two awards and sponsors are First prize $1,000, Kentucky Utilities Co., second prize, $700, Western Kentucky Gas Co., third prize, $300, Handmacher-Vogel, Inc., two honorable mentions, $50 each, Knoxville Fertilizer Co.

Edward Sexton, first-day night for advisement and selection of individual instruments. Four members of the University of Kentucky band demonstrated the woodwind, the high brass, the low brass and percussion instruments. After the individual demonstrations, a six piece band rendered Yesterday, demonstrating the effects of the various instruments when combined in a band. Several parents and children made selection of the instruments desired and orders were placed for instruments not available at the Tuesday night session.

Steiden stated after the meeting of the interest shown by both the pupils and their parents were more than gratifying.

Food For School Lunch

The Nicholas County schools received more foods last week and early this week for the school lunch program. Additional foods that have been received recently are honey, cheese, lima beans and peas. The value of the foods received this far for this school year is $2,354.57.

The reimbursement from the state, on pupil lunches has been reduced one cent, however, the donations of the surplus foods helps to a large extent to offset the loss of the cent per lunch reimbursement.

Service To Farmers Added By FHA

Recently Soil and Water Conservation loans (SW) have been added to the Farmers Home Administration loan program, according to John L. Zachary, County Supervisor for Nicholas and Fleming Counties.

The basic objectives of the SW loans are to encourage and facilitate the improvement, protection, and proper use of farm land by providing adequate financing for soil conservation; water development, conservation, and use; farm station, drainage of farm land, and the establishment and improvement of permanent pastures.

The SW loan may be used for terraces, reservoirs, ponds, cisterns, wells, pumping and irrigation equipment, pasture development, brush removal, and so forth. The interest rate is 4½% with the repayment period not to exceed 40 years. The FHA loans are not made in competition with banks or cooperative lending agencies.

Mr. Zachary will be in the Farmers Home Administration office located in the Postoffice building every Tuesday morning.

Eden Hills Belt Experimental Farm Idea Subject For Oct. Farm Bureau Meet

An Experimental Farm in the Eden Hills area will be discussed at the forthcoming meeting of the Nicholas County Farm Bureau, John Hamilton president stated Tuesday night.

Most of Nicholas county is located in the Eden Hill Soil Belt along with 31 other counties and this proposal should have wide pronounced effect on future farming methods, president Hamilton said.

The Annual Farm Bureau meeting will be held at the Carlisle high school auditorium Thursday night, October 7 at 7:00 p.m.

The Eden Hill Soil District is one of 13 district soil types of Kentucky. More than 90% of the land in Nicholas county belongs to this type John Hamilton, president of the Nicholas County Farm Bureau and John E. Soper, Jr. who have been a special committee from the county farm bureau tell us that most of the soil types in Kentucky farming setup. However, the Eden Hill section has no such type problem as exists in this section. It has been advocated by a committee representing the 31 counties that an experimental farm be established.

The local committee points out that while a great many experiments conducted at the Kentucky Experiment Station are of high value to Nicholas county, experiments on soils and soil care are of limited value as they apply in the Eden Hill Section because the soil types are different. Eden Hill soil is described by Agronomy authorities as being the only soil type of its kind in the world. Hamilton and Soper have been attending regular meetings of the Eden Hill committee and they believe Nicholas county will benefit in an important way from the establishment of an experimental farm in this area.

The annual meeting of the Nicholas Farm Bureau will be October 7 at 7:00 p.m. at the Carlisle high school auditorium. O. D. Hawkins, Owen County farmer and president of the Eden Hill Soil District will be present and will discuss the possibilities of establishing an experimental farm to serve the Eden Hills area.

John Hamilton, president of the county farm bureau announces that a special feature of the annual meeting will be the appearance of Lt. Lee A. Estes of the Kentucky State Police, who will present a safety program. Lt. Estes has a clever and entertaining program.

Approximately $75 in merchandise will be given away, as gate prizes for the annual meeting, Hamilton says. The gate prize committee is John Barrett, W. O. Doyle and Chester Ockerman.

An important matter of business will be the election of new officers and one half the board of directors of the Nicholas County Farm Bureau. All farmers in Carlisle are urged to attend this board

In a recent issue of this paper, it was announced that the Kentucky legislature had provided an appropriation of $50,000 to help staff and maintain an experimental farm in the Eden Hill section. When the experimental farm is set up it is understood that the Kentucky Experiment Station will staff the farm similar to other farms that they now operate in other soil types of Kentucky.

Because of the steepness of the soil in the Eden Hill section, it is proposed that the emphasis on a research program will be mainly on a Better Crop Type of Farming including more adaptable seeding mixtures. Because of the steepness of the land Kentucky-Ladino mixture markets some research work would be proposed on vegetables and improvement of rotation of land.

Considering the importance of tobacco to the county, resistant varieties of tobacco and their reflected importance on the economic welfare of our county, we know that a well applied research program will pay a big dividend in the future years ahead in Nicholas county.

Youth Fair Opens At Armory Friday

The Youth Fair will be scheduled Friday and Saturday, of this week, October 1 and 2, James Lowe, president has announced.

An important change in the schedule is that all Home Economics Exhibits must be entered on Thursday afternoon or Thursday night, because they will be judged Thursday night. This represents the change from previous years, Lowe said.

Another change is that anyone entering crops exhibits or other agricultural displays may enter entries on Thursday afternoon or Thursday night or again Friday morning between 7:00 and 9:00 a.m., and these exhibits will be judged beginning at 9:00 a.m. on Friday.

The Flower show which is being sponsored for the second consecutive year by the Garden Club will receive entries on Friday morning only up until 10:00 a.m. when the judging begins.

The flower show has added much to the attractiveness of the Youth Fair and it is hoped that this exhibit will be larger and better than last year.

The Fair program for Friday includes judging exhibits at 9:00 a.m. with the Armory being open for observation of the guests at 12:00 noon. The Athletic Contest will get under way at 1:00 and will be held Friday morning at 9:30 a.m. The livestock show will be staged at 2:00 p.m. Motion pictures will be shown from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. at the Armory Friday night. The Armory will be open until 9:30 p.m. Friday night. The Saturday program includes the opening of the Armory at 9:00, Tractor driving contest at 10:00 and the drop-out at 1:30 p.m.

Last year more than 600 entries were made at the Youth Fair and contestants competed for $500 premiums. The premium list of this year is about equal to that of last year.

The Nicholas County Youth Fair is described as one of Nicholas County's best show windows of progress and it is believed that this year's exhibits will maintain the high standards of the past few years president Lowe said.

Upcoming CKC Action "Loaded"

Upcoming action in the Central Kentucky Conference Friday night is loaded with four top games on the top and four traditional battles slated.

Highlighting the action will be the Carlisle-Lancaster scrap at Lancaster, the Irvine-Madison Southern battle at Irvine, the Georgetown-Nicholasville encounter at Nicholasville and the Cynthiana-Shelbyville battle at Cynthiana and Henry Clay on Centre College Field.

The Carlisle-Lancaster tussle may see a new face on top of the conference, a position the once coachless Musketeers have held for the past two weeks.

The Green Devils battled powerful Nicholasville to a 27-27 tie their opener and then came back last week to band Anderson their first defeat 14-13. Head running Shirley Price added both of Lancaster's extra points against the re-surging Bearcats Friday night.

Carlisle, the team that came from behind to score victories over Paris and Stanford, almost fell victim to a non-conference battle with Elkhorn Friday night.

Trailing 7-0 in the second half, the Muskies recovered a fumble on the Elk 14 and Donnie Dampier went over a few plays later and then plunged for the extra point to keep the Carlisle eleven unbeaten with a27-7 tie. The Muskies drove down to the Elkhorn 15 later in the game but couldn't score.

It was the first time this year Carlisle has had an official coach Ex-Danville gridder Louis Walters took over last week succeeding Carrol Holmes, former Centre College star, who failed to return at the start of school.

Pleaty of Fireworks

The Harrodsburg-Nicholasville play should provide plenty of fireworks Friday when Harrodsburg-Nicholasville encounter at Nicholasville and the Yellow Jackets battle Henry Clay on Centre College Field.

Versailles-Winchester

Versailles travels to Winchester, who lost their third straight to Shelbyville, 32-6. Friday night, while Georgetown entertains improving Frankfort.

The Shelbyville Red Devils should pick up their third conference win at the expense of MMI while Henry Clay steps outside the loop to play Morgan County while Paris and Stanford will battle at Paris to see which can climb out of the cellar.

Another top battle will see Cynthiana traveling to Lawrenceburg for a crack at the Anderson Bearcats. Led by triple-threat Darl Fein the Bulldogs have won two and tied one while Anderson has been surprising the experts with two wins and a one-point loss.
