... It's Over

As this is being written Tuesday morning, the dust of the recent election has not yet settled. It is apparent that H. "Happy" Chandler has been chosen again by Kentucky Democrats as their standard bearer with Harry W. Warfield, of Clinton, as candidate for lieutenant governor.

Reading The Hat
Here you see that new "goat" Harry Chase has recently acquired a new hat. It is a black one with a white band. It has all the trimmings of a hat. It has a white band. It has a white band. It has a white band.

What He Is In For!
The hat is a black one with a white band. It has all the trimmings of a hat. It has a white band. It has a white band. It has a white band.

Just Kidding Around, Eh?
The hat is a black one with a white band. It has all the trimmings of a hat. It has a white band. It has a white band. It has a white band.

Today's results were secured through the use of the new methods that enabled the United States Poll to produce the results of the 1954 Congressional election with accuracy.

Highlights of today's results:
Eisenhower received 50.1 percent of the nation's vote.

The Old Road
When I am going somewhere and have not much time, I prefer to head down a modern highway and stop on a country road when an oncoming truck is about to pass me. I usually find a good place to stop on a country road when an oncoming truck is about to pass me.

KENTUCKIANS

IN WASHINGTON

By Ed Kinginger
The Senate has ended its session here today for home. The Kentucky delegation has been in a hurry, rushing home to work on Saturday's primary election. They are leaving for home today.
