New Kentucky Industrial Guide To Be Published This Year

A new edition of the Kentucky Industrial Directory is being prepared by the University of Kentucky. It will be published this year and will contain information on the state's industries, including agriculture, manufacturing, and services.

Spends 30 Years in Industry, Then Moves To Farm

W. M. Deane, who spent 30 years in the chemical industry, has moved to a farm in Nicholas County. He has been a prominent figure in the industry and is now dedicating his time to agriculture.

Electric Lamps Save Young Pigs

The use of electric lamps during the winter months has been found to be beneficial for young pigs. It helps them stay warm and healthy, reducing the risk of disease and death.

Frozen Sausages May Be Kept Year

Recent research has shown that frozen sausages can be stored for up to a year without losing their quality or flavor. This is a significant finding for food preservation.

Flora's To Return

Flora's, the famous horse, is expected to return to the track soon. She has been recovering from a recent injury and is now in good health.
