A Health Problem

Kentucky's greatest health problem lies in what its people regard only as the "common cold." This is the common cold which is the cause of the 1933 Kentucky Rural Health Conference program committee. The program which will be given to attention problems and conditions which are a part of the common cold will be held at the Kentucky Hotel at Louisville from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Thursday, January 20.

Relief in the form of diet, dietetics, artificial and perhaps even surgery can be achieved through the national program of "overlays."

Proper attention is continued. All steps are considered in carrying such important health work.
