COMMENT

After just one week of school, I overheard a group of children discussing how long it would be before their first holiday rolled around.
We have come a long way since the days of walking to school. You were lucky if you only had to walk three or four miles. Now I see where several companies in Louisville have reformed 'rish pools.' Instead of a mother loading up the family car, she just calls the cab company.
The current inflation has been described as follows: Up and down the hills of inflation, like a pack of hounds after a fox. America's capacity to buy chases America's capacity to produce.
This could happen here and did happen in Kimberley South Africa. A goat bought itself at a stock sale. The auctioneer, Pete Moller, was selling a pen full of goats when he felt a tug at his jacket. He concluded that it was a buyer tugging at his coat to indicate that he was raising the bid.
As the other buyers increased their bids, the tugging continued and eventually the lot was sold.
When Mr. Moller turned around to seek the buyer, he found that it was a goat which had been chewing at his jacket.
