DIELDRIN WORKS WELL IN GRUBWORM CONTROL

Dieldrin insecticide applied 6 to 8 weeks ahead of burley tobacco bed planting time works "very well" in controlling the grubworm pest. February is one month this can be done.

Best of all, says the UK Agricultural Experiment Station, the material—when properly applied—apparently lasts 2 to 3 years in the soil. This persistency helps control "not only grubworms, but numerous other underground pests such as fleabeetle larvae.

Likewise, it is a mole-control factor, too, says Mallory Boush, entomologist. Moles feed on immature insects; when this food source is destroyed, the moles migrate.

Using an emulsion concentrate (as spray or Dieldrin in the granular form, he recommends. One half-pint actual Dieldrin in a gallon or more of water (as spray) will control the burley bed area. If granular Dieldrin is used it should be applied evenly on the contemplated bed area. These rates are based on 100 square feet of bed surface.

Both treatments rust about $1.25 per 100 foot bed. Boush said. The granular form is a little more expensive but no application equipment is needed.

Both materials can be applied to the undisturbed land where the bed is to be located; either before or after beds are burned. Burning does not seem to affect the material if Dieldrin applied (granular or sprayed) has been disked, dragged or raked under so that a thin over of earth protects it from the fires

Follow label directions closely when using either material, Boush said.

PTA banquet "Appreciation Week" honors Miss Fisher, presented TV set

By Mrs. Edna Keller

Miss Mary Frances Fisher was the incentive of a delightful banquet Friday night, sponsored by the Carlisle Parent Teachers Association, as an appreciation of her continuous service as a teacher in the city school for fifty years, at the end of this semester.

Miss Fisher has spent her entire life in Carlisle, a daughter of Mrs. Alice Remington Fisher, on Archdeacon avenue, and the late Dr. J. W. Fisher, a Carlisle dentist.

After her graduation in May, 1906 from the high school, she was given a position of experience for one year, and the next year a regular position. She has served in several of the grade rooms, but for many years has taught the second grade.

Being one of the city's musicians, she has assisted in many of the school plays and activities throughout the years, not only in the school but served as pipe-organist, accompanist, religious and civic leader in the happy home while caring for her aged, invalid mother

Miss Mary Frances, as she is affectionally called, has taken a number of summer courses and kept up with all the modern changes in the teaching profession. She hasn't announced her future plans, it depends on circumstances whether she will resign at the close of school, or teach the two more years alloted.

The delicious turkey dinner was served by Mrs. C. C. Shrout, head of the school cafeteria, assisted by competent help, with high school girls serving as waitresses, at the school gymnasium.

The long tables held beautiful bouquets of spring flowers and favors at the teachers' table were red apples, with a miniature slate on the side, giving the names.

Jap Frank Conley, Carlisle attorney, served most graciously as toastmaster, introducing Rev. Keith Tandy Hutchings, minister of a Louisville Christian church, who gave the invocation.

Supt. R. E. Davis and all faculty members were then introduced.

Ralph F. Shearer, accompanied by Mrs. Cleary Fightmaster, played and sang a parody of Sixteen-Ton, which was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Charles Cox presented Miss Fisher with a bouquet of red roses, buds, from the association. Mrs. Cox served as head of the program committee, Mrs. Tommy Johnson, president of the PTA, presented a Life Membership in the association, in a by will chosen speech, after which Miss Fisher responded in a most gracious manner.

Mr. Conley read resolutions from the Nicholas County Historial Association, signed by the president, the Rev. W. R. Sanders, commending the guest of honor from a religious standpoint. He also read a few of the letters received by her former students, located in many states, one from John Haislip, who is serving in the U. S. Navy in Chile. Other letters read were from Harry B. Tilton, Mrs. Tempest Lawrence Sanders, Calvin Darnall, Floyd Kerns, Henry Keller, James Stewart, Mrs. Dan (Frebach) Baldwin, Mrs. Bobby Potts Jeffries, Mrs. Anna Mae Conley Winton, Mrs. Charles B. Burton, Mrs. Eleanor Reynolds Verdery, and Frank Mathias.

Graduates of the school who had been in her room, were recognized, and the following visitors gave short toasts. Duke W. Young, now of Paris, who stated that it was most unusual that he went to school with her, and also to her and she was on of the faculty when he served as superintendent of the school for five years.

Her gift from the community was a television set, a complete surprise, and will be a great pleasure to her and her mother in the home. Many letters and gifts were also received from friends and relatives, too numerous to mention.

School Days was sung at the close of the program with Mrs. A. V. Allison, at the piano, followed by playing "Napoleon's Last Charge," which Miss Fisher has played as the school march for classes entering the chapel for, "Lo These Many Years."

Adult class meets tonight

"Using the Freezer to Help Serve Refreshments," is the topic for the third lesson in a series of lessons on "Foods for Special Occasion."

The class, to be held in the Home Economics room will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Children's pictures taken free and published in The Mercury

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world, our Nation, and Community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future World Builders.

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures . . . they must all be of uniform size and quality.

An expert children's photographer with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work, will be here Wednesday April 18.

Pictures will be taken at Bourbon Laundry and will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

No Charge to Parents

There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain a limited number by arrangement with the Studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

The More Pictures, the Better

The Mercury simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the more, the better. So the Mothers and Fathers of this community in which this paper circulates should remember the date April 18 at Bourbon Laundry and not fail to bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad, afterwards, if you did, and very, very sorry if you do not permit your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have much fun and both Mother and Dad—and the youngsters, too—will be very proud to see their pictures in print later.

Appointments may be made by calling Mrs. Milton Prysmus phone 11.

Ewell Clinkenbeard selected State's outstanding Utopia club member

Ewell Clinkenbeard, a young farmer in the Moorefield community, was selected as the outstanding Man Utopia Club member in Kentucky at the State Meeting held Saturday, March 30 on the University of Kentucky Campus, according to Bernie C. Milam, assistant county agent.

The award was presented by Boyd Wheeler, Acting State Leader of 4-H and Utopia Club Work, U of K, who explained that the award was on the basis of farm achievement and the effective leadership of candidates in connection with Rural Development.

Clinkenbeard began farming in 1947 in partnership with his father on an 118 acre farm. Since that time he and his wife, and three children, have remodeled their eight-room home and have installed bath and running water, built a 700 hen laying house, with modern automatic waterers, built a cistern to supply water for house and livestock needs, and have built over 400 rods of fence, according to land classification.

Mr. Wheeler also pointed out when he presented the award that early in his farming career, Ewell began cooperating with the local Soil Conservation District and has followed the practices recommended for the five year plan worked out in cooperation with the local soil conservationist. As a member of the Institutional On-Farm Training Program, Ewell was outstanding in his application of the improved practices, which he obtained in this program.

His leadership and managerial ability as a farmer has earned recognition by fellow Nicholas Countians to the extent that he has served consecutively for the past two years as vice president and president of the Nicholas County Youth Fair. He has been elected a member of the Extension Advisory Committee and is serving as chairman of the Nicholas County Poultry improvement Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinkenbeard and their three children are members of the Carlisle Christian church, where he serves as deacon and chairman of the ushering committee.

Mr. Clinkenbeard's achievements in community activities and his ability to manage a farming program earned him the Chamber of Commerce selection as the outstanding young farmer of Nicholas County for 1956.

Rare Volume Donated to Memorial Library

The Nicholas County Memorial Library is the recipient of a rare volume of Kentuckiana entitled "Biographical Encyclopedia of Kentucky" and was presented by Mrs. Innes B. Ross. The book was published in 1878 by J. M. Armstrong & Co., Cincinnati, and was originally in the library of Judge Wm. P. Ross, father of Innes and John M. Ross. It is a handsome, leather-bound volume, splendidly preserved, and contains biographies of some 1400 prominent Kentuckians, the suitable reading, 'of the dead and living men of the nineteenth Century."

This is a valuable addition to our library and should be of especial interest to people who are interested in genealogy.

In an amazingly short time the floor was cleared of tables, etc., and the broom-brigade made short work of cleaning the floors. At the same time window-washers had the windows shining. Then the whole group of young people pitched in with a will and washed down the walls which are ready for John Anderson to repair the plastering and then they will be painted.

On Tuesday evening of this week the Council met to organize and choose a name—etc. The Council is composed of 10 members, five from each of the high schools.
