Escapees of jail are taken easily

A tip from Robertson County Sheriff Claud Woodward last Thursday led to the capture of two men who escaped from the Nicholas County jail Tuesday.

Nicholas Sheriff J. Milton Fryman and Deputy Maurice Cain were said they found Willis Rainey, 28, and Joe Henson, 25, at a private home in Kenton-town, Robertson county. Both fugitives are natives of North Middletown, Bourbon county.

They said Rainey had suffered a broken foot in the escape. No difficulty was experienced in making the arrest, Fryman said.

Earlier, the jailer, who had been knocked down in the escape attempt, posted a $25 reward for information leading to the capture. John McCarty, Nicholas County jailer, suffered a bruised shoulder Tuesday when he was struck by Rainey.

McCarty had allowed the two men out of their cells to make a "phone call" when the incident occurred.

A report late Tuesday that the men had been seen running across a road turned out to be a false alarm. A passerby had seen two men near the Concord Church but investigating officers found nothing.

No description of the reward money has been announced.

Rainey was lodged in jail—County Judge Taylor and State Patrolman Kirk took him to the local hospital for first aid treatment of the double fracture of his foot. He was later moved to the Bourbon County hospital.

More police for better enforcement

OTIS M. WHITNEY
Commissioner, Massachusetts Department of Public Safety

It is quite evident that the people of the United States must be shocked into the realization that a terrible disease is sweeping this country. The toll in 1955 was 38,300 dead—a number that can be compared with the entire population of any one of these cities: Reno, Nevada; Waukegan, Illinois; Fort Lauderdale, Florida; Reverse, Massachusetts or Fargo, North Dakota. And when an additional 1,350,000 persons are injured, the disease certainly has reached epidemic proportions!

The disease can well be called "automobile."

I strongly feel that this epidemic could be checked to a great extent if there were enough police to guarantee sufficient traffic supervision in the same way that all of our bodily ills could be controlled if we had enough doctors administering enough preventive medicine. In 1954 one or more violations of the rules of the road were being committed in 83 per cent of the fatal automobile accidents, pointing to enforcement as a real need.

In the laboratories, startling discoveries are being made of new vaccines which will control killing and crippling viruses. But they are useless if there are not enough doctors to administer the vaccine.

The legislators, engineers, and educators have given, or can give, enforcement officers the antidote for preventing accidents but police forces are so small it's like giving an aspirin for an elephant's headache.

To illustrate what a large police force can do in the way of accident reduction, let us compare the country as a whole with my state where accidents prevention activities are coordinated by the chairman of the

Given Morehead scholarship

Miss Peggy Hubbard was notified last week by J. E. Duncan, Head Department of Music, Morehead State College that the Music Scholarship Committee had granted her a music scholarship for the first semester 1957-58 in the amount of $99.00 and upon successful completion of the first semester's work the scholarship will be continued during subsequent semesters.

Peggy received this scholarship due to her ability in the field of Music as determined by her past performances and by an audition conducted by the College Music Department in June of this year.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hubbard, Paris Route 5. She was a member of the 1957 Graduating Class of the Nicholas County high school. While in high school she was a member of the high school band for three years and served as student band director last year. William Sheidin, Carroll Hall, Joe Ireland and Audrey Cundy have been her high school band directors.

This is the fifth member of the 1957 Nicholas County high school graduating class to receive college scholarships. Others are: Ned Jennings, University of Kentucky, Donnie Hillock, Eastern State College, Charles Moore, University of Kentucky and Gertrude Mynear, Midway College.

Colleges are recognizing the importance of providing college training for high school graduates showing superior abilities and many scholarships are available. This should be an incentive for high school students to study harder and better prepare themselves so as to secure a college scholarship.
