Telephone Talk

by CLYDE WATTS
Your Telephone Manager

A LOT OF PEOPLE still think of telephone service in terms of just the one familiar home or office phone. Well, there are so many different kinds of equipment nowadays—all designed to add pleasure to your living— that I'd like to remind you of some of them.

There's the Speakerphone that lets you talk and hear without lifting the receiver. The Volume Control phone you can turn up or down like a radio. Spring cords. Extra phones in color—so handy throughout the house where you need them. Even a phone that answers itself when you're out. Let me suggest you drop by our Business Office and see all these new conveniences. We'll be glad to show you how to have a well-telephoned home at surprisingly low cost.

GUARANTEED FOREVER—Of all the useful things in your home, how many are guaranteed for life? Your telephone is, you know. If it should ever break or need replacing, why we'll get it working again fast without any service charge. This lifetime guarantee on your phone is, of course, included in what you pay for service.

NEXT BEST THING to being there in person is to visit with out-of-town friends and loved ones by Long Distance. Gives you a real lift to hear those familiar voices again. And it's so easy to call. Doesn't cost much, either, especially when you call station-to-station. As a matter of fact, you save up to ½ when you call station-to-station between points in Kentucky. And you get extra values when you call nights after 6 and all day Sundays. Then you can talk station-to-station for four minutes at the same two-minute daytime rate. For example, you can call station-to-station from Carlisle to Louisville for just 65¢, and from Carlisle to Frankfort for only 45¢. Mighty small prices to pay for a lot of pleasure!

Why Millions Call Him "HOLY FATHER"

Catholic loyalty to the Pope is the cause of never-ending amazement to many non-Catholics.

They wonder how an exclusively spiritual leader can command the devotion of nearly four hundred millions of people. They cannot explain why this vast religious family representing every race, color, language and political belief on the face of the earth lives and grows through the ages, while man-made empires have their day of glory and then disappear.

What is there about this one man that causes people to speak of him in a hundred tongues as "Holy Father"?

We find the answer, of course, not necessarily in the holiness of the man himself, but in his Christ-given office. The answer is found by tracing the history of the Catholic Church—the history of 262 successive Popes . . . back through nearly 2,000 years to Jesus Christ Himself.

We know as a matter of historical fact that Christ did establish His Church . . . that He commissioned the Apostle Peter as its first head . . . that He sent His Apostles forth to teach men to observe all things He had commanded.

We know from the New Testament that the Church was actually organized . . . that it was governed by the Apostles under the leadership of Peter . . . that it was teaching Christ's truth far and wide, long before the last book of the New Testament was written and the books of the Bible were collected into one volume.

Christ's purpose in organizing a Church was to make certain that the good news of Redemption would be preached to all men . . . even to the end of the world. To accomplish this with fallible men, required that He establish a Church—divinely protected from error in transmitting His teaching through the centuries.

The Catholic Church traces its unbroken history back to the Apostles—back to Christ. And Catholics today call Pope Pius XII "Holy Father" because he is the lawful and historical successor to Peter, the first Pope. He is in our time . . . as Peter was in the first century . . . the Vicar of Christ on earth.

Would you like to know more about the Pope . . . why the promises made by Christ to Peter and his successors make the Pope the most important man in the world? Then write today for a pamphlet which we shall send you free, in a plain wrapper. And nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-4.

In addition to its dramatic styling, the Edsel offers a wide range of exclusive engineering and convenience features including "Teletouch" push button automatic transmission controls located in the steering wheel hub.

MAN ON THE STREET

CUT DOWN SPEEDING; DRIVE MORE CAREFULLY; KEEP DRUNKEN DRIVERS OFF THE ROAD, AND ENFORCE THE LAW

By Kenneth Fink, Director, Princeton Research Service

Princeton, New Jersey—Forewarned that the auto accident toll in the nation over the coming three day holiday period will bring death to hundreds and injury to thousands, newspaper editors, safety engineers, public officials and many rank and file citizens are giving thought to what can be done to prevent this awful waste of human life.

To determine how adult citizens feel on this matter, a MAN ON THE STREET survey recently put this question to men and women in all walks of life:

"What one suggestion do you have for reducing auto accidents in this state?"

Results of the survey show that four ways for reducing auto accidents are uppermost on people's minds at the present time:

1. Cut down on speeding; curb speeding; drive more slowly; slow them up a bit; slow down and live; drive slow; obey the speed laws (Recent surveys show that roughly one out of every two drivers on the road today admits to driving over 60 miles an hour, some admitting to driving over 100 miles an hour on highways—not race-tracks.)

2. Drive more carefully; always keep cars under control; watch the other driver at all times; never take chances; cut out reckless driving; don't drive recklessly

3. Get drunken drivers off the road; police should concentrate on drunken drivers; don't drive when you have had some drinks; don't let drunken drivers operate cars; stiffer penalties for drunken drivers; don't let drunks drive at any time

4. Stricter law enforcement; crack down on offenders; stiffer penalties; better law enforcement

Next most popular suggestions for reducing auto accidents, judging from the frequency of mentions, are:

5. More traffic and highway police; put more police on the highways, police cars on the highway would do much to cut down accidents; not enough police on the roads

6. More control of "teen-age" drivers; keep cowboys off the road; watch younger drivers more carefully

7. Stricter license examinations; more thorough driving tests; weed out the unfit drivers; have physical examinations; have periodic driver check-ups

8. Need more courtesy on the road; give other driver a break; practice the golden rule

9. Don't drive too slow; don't see how slowly you can drive; don't tie up traffic by driving too slowly

10. Raise the age limits for drivers

During the year 1957, some 40,000 will be killed on the roads and highways across the U. S. A., and some 150,000 seriously injured.

President Eisenhower pointed up the enormity of the problem when he stated that more people had been killed in auto accidents during the past 50 years than have been killed in all the wars that the nation has engaged in since its founding.

Unquestionably, the reduction of auto accidents is one of the top problems facing the nation today.

The Carlisle Mercury presents the reports of MAN-ON-THE-STREET exclusively in this area.

KENTUCKIANS IN WASHINGTON

By Gil Kingsbury

GONE HOME:

By the time these words reach cold print, lawmakers may have gone home. There's been the usual griping about the pot, humid weather and many a congressional family has fled the boiling asphalt of Washington for the cool of the hinterland.

All of which reminds us that at one time, Washington in Mason County, and another Kentucky spot on the. Mississippi River, were mentioned as possible capitals. Today most of the talk about moving the capital city brings us the name of some mountain city like Denver.

RELIGION:

From time to time, as the nation faces grave problems, we get letters from Kentuckians urging our political leaders to turn to God for divine guidance. Someone made a list of church affiliations of the various members of the House and here are the results:

Methodists, 105; Roman Catholics, 96; Presbyterians, 66; Baptists, 67; Episcopalians, 60; Congregational-Christians, 29; Lutherans, 21; Protestants (not otherwise specified), 20; Disciples of Christ, 16; Jewish, 12; Mormons, 7; Unitarians, 5; Reformed, 4; Church of Christ, 4; Friends, 3; Universalists, 2; Christian Scientists, 2; Evangelical and Reformed, 2; Evangelical Free, 1; Sikh, 1; other, 6.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS:

Kentucky's Senator Thruston Morton took to the Senate floor the other day to chide his Democratic colleagues who, this Winter planned, then dropped, an investigation of our foreign policy, especially in the Middle East.

"Abuse and doubt," said the Blue Grass solon, "were heaped on the shoulders of those charged with making our foreign policy."

He then went on to charge his opposition with playing politics. Then, about 72 hours later, the Middle East erupted again and Syria moved into the Communist orbit.

PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS:

There was a great to-do the other day over the possibility that former Kentucky Senator Earle Clements becoming chairman of the Democratic National Committee in place of Paul Butler of Indiana. In fact, there has been considerable talk about who's going to be the next presidential candidates.

But here's something most folks have forgotten. President Eisenhower has served only eight months—that's right—eight months of his second term, and there's still a long way to go. So here's a tip: Don't get riled up so early in the game. It's only the first quarter.

Evergreen trees thrive by having their leaves or needles washed every 15 to 20 days, says N. R. Elliott, UK horticulturist. Don't neglect to water the roots thoroughly.
