1945.

Like many pioneers, Dr. Goddard walked a lonely road, often ignored, often looking for financial aid to continue his work. He was born in Worcester, Massachusetts. He spent much of his professional life there, first as an instructor at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, then as physics professor at Clark University. Local alarm at his experiments finally drove him to the wastes of New Mexico—not far from "today's White Sands Proving Grounds.

Exploration of the Atmosphere

Dr. Goddard was chiefly interested in finding a way to explore the upper atmosphere. In a letter to the National Geographic Society in 1916, he wrote of the "vast amount of information that is to be gained by the sending of apparatus into the region that lies above 100 or 200 miles from the surface of the earth."

In a classic, slim monograph, published by the Smithsonian Institution in 1919, Dr. Goddard explained, "A search for methods of raising recording apparatus beyond the range for sounding balloons (about 20 miles) led the writer to develop a theory of rocket action."

Dr. Goddard in 1919 set forth the principle of multi-stage rockets, which the Russians have so successfully demonstrated in October and November, 1957. He theorized that with the employment of more than one stage, a rocket could be sent up specifically to 500 miles—roughly the point at which the first Russian satellite went into orbit—and ultimately could reach the moon.

Farm house loans are availabe now

The construction and repair of farm houses and other farm buildings may be financed by Farmers Home Administration loans, Rob Roy Norton, the agency's local county supervisor, said this week.

He said the same kind of farm housing loan program is available at last year rates to owners of farm owners borrowed $21,000,000 to construct, improve, or repair farm houses and other essential farm buildings, or to provide water for farmsteed or household use.

Farmers Home Administration loans are provided only when a bank or other lender cannot adequately serve the farm owner's credit needs, at the present time. The agency does not compete with conventional or cooperative lenders, Mr. Norton said, but does supplement the credit services supplied by other sources. Borrowers agree to repay the housing loans within the shortest time consistent with their repayment abilities.

Scoutmasters meet set for Jan. 2

Plans were made last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Cherokee Boy Scout District Committee to invite Scoutmasters from throughout the three-county district to attend the various district meetings that they might gain an insight into the inner workings of the district committee and its function in the Scouting program. Such an insight, it was felt, would lend itself to a closer cooperation between the district committee and the Scoutmasters and give them a broader understanding of the Scouting program as a whole. Two Scoutmasters will be invited to each meeting.

A preliminary plan was given on the progress of the special selection committee which was appointed for the purpose of choosing an outstanding Boy Scout from each district and nominations to compete with the winners of the seven districts in the Council for the privilege of representing the Blue Grass Council at special Boy Scout Week ceremonies to be held in the Governor's office in Frankfort on Feb. 11.

Elwood Carr was elected chairman of a committee to investigate and fix location in the Scouting program. Such an insight, it was felt, would lend itself to a closer cooperation between the district committee and the Scoutmasters and give them a broader understanding of the Scouting program as a whole. Two Scoutmasters will be invited to each meeting.

Local livestock market to hold first sale Jan. 7, managers say

Tuesday, January 7 is all set to be a big day for Nicholas Countains and for Carlisle too, for once again the local livestock market begins to function.

The operation will be under the capable handling of Lester Green, Earl Finch and Keller Hughes, three well known Nicholas Countains, who have, to say the least, an excellent working knowledge of livestock marketing.

In a recent survey conducted by the Nicholas County Farm Bureau the results showed that 66 per cent of the bureau's membership favored the patronage of a home market.

According to Mr. Hughes, the new yard will be known as the Carlisle Stock Yards. Top buyers for the leading packing houses will be on hand each Tuesday, though the success of the market will depend largely upon the quantity of livestock the people of Nicholas wish to sell at home.

Clerical work and bookkeeping will be in charge of Mrs. Franklin Caswell; Earl Hamm will serve as auctioneer and George Gaffin as weigher.

The Carlisle-Nicholas County Chamber of Commerce is purchasing an electric sign for the stockyards and is assisting in having the electrical wiring of the yards done.

The city council has pledged itself to help the yards regain its prominence in Carlisle's business circle by enthusiastically supporting a motion offered by Councilman H. C. Galbraith and seconded by Councilman W. H. Frey to give the yards six months free supply of water not to exceed 10,000 gallons per month.

The yards are owned by N. H. Lyle of North Middletown and are leased by the managers.

Jackets meet Thoroughbreds Friday night

The Nicholas County high school "Blue Jackets" will meet Harrison County high school "Thoroughbreds" on the local floor Friday night, Dec. 13.

This is the first meeting of the schools this year and it should be a very interesting, exciting, and a well matched game, as both schools were hurt by graduation last year and both teams show improvement with each game played.

Muskies lose to Mayslick

by Butch Saunders

The Carlisle Muskeeters were edged out by Mayslick here last Tuesday, Dec. 3. Going into the second half Carlisle was enjoying a 10 point margin but at the end of the game they found themselves on the short end by two buckets. This puts the season record thus far at one win and four losses.

For about the first time this year Carlisle was up against a team which didn't have a height them. Both teams were fairly well matched as far as height is concerned. The opening tip went to Carlisle but they failed to tally on the first few shots. Both teams seemed to have a little trouble in finding the range, however, Carlisle zeroed in first to give them a nine point edge at the end of the first quarter. This lead was increased by one point by the half, but disaster took over in the third quarter. Bad breaks in the form of foul shots awarded to Mayslick knotted the score up at 41 all going into the fourth quarter. It was pretty well nip and tuck up until the final minutes of the fourth quarter when once again Mayslick gained a slight two point edge when Orme hit two foul shots in the closing second. Mayslick also hit for a field goal which put the gameon ice. The final score was: Carlisle 48-Mayslick 52.

Bill Straw was high point man for Carlisle with 17 points. He also scored more points than Mayslick's high point man who was Warner with 16. The rest of Carlisle's scoring was: Vice 10, Kennett and Smart 6 each, Hensley 5, and McGuffy and S. Wilson with 2 each.

The scoring for Mayslick was: Warner 16, Fulton 14, Whaley 12, Orme 5, Williams 4, Smith 1, and Sapp didn't connect.

Scoring at the Quarters: 1st qt. Carlisle 17-Mayslick 8; 2nd qt. Carlisle 31-Mayslick 21; 3rd qt. Carlisle 41-Mayslick 41, final Carlisle 48-Mayslick 52.

Jackets miss Jennings; win 1 out of 5

Leading cheers for the Blue Jackets are Kay Irvin, Ramona Hollar, Rebecca Gaunce, Anne Smith, Barbara White and Thomas Anderson. Miss Jewell Deene Ellis is serving as cheerleading sponsor.

The Blue Jackets of Coach Charles Powell's grid present have lost five and won one. In comparing statistics and scores it is shown that the losses were lost in the fourth quarter, They have been outscored in the final period by 2-1.

Ned Jennings, member of last years 10th Regional Championship Team, made his initial appearance as member of the University of Kentucky Freshman Team, in a game played Saturday, Dec. 7 at Memorial Coliseum. Big Ned collected 18 points and grabbed 12 rebouds to aid the cause. It has been reported from reliable sources that the U.K. Freshmen Squad has defeated the Varsity on two occasions and that Ned is outstanding in these games.

Members of this years NCHS Blue Jackets Team are: Jack Gay, Leo Lynam, Steve Pumphrey, Charles Marshall, Marion Campbell, Larry Frost, R. S. Wills, and Jimmie Sandidge. Larry and Charles are seniors, Steve is a sophomore, and the rest are juniors.
