Heart fund support

Heart research, which already has produced "amazing achievements" in curing diseased hearts and saving lives, promises even greater discoveries if public support of Heart Fund activities can be stepped up. This statement came from Jackson D. Guerrant, Danville, as the 1957 fund drive which he heads in Kentucky got into full swing. The campaign lasts through February.

Guerrant cited as research achievements the prevention of rheumatic fever, the forerunner of rheumatic heart disease; prevention of bacterial infection of the heart lining, formerly almost 100 per cent fatal; surgery to repair congenital heart defects and damage to heart valves; replacing sections of diseased blood vessels with artery grafts, and finding new drugs to lower blood pressure, thus helping many thousands.

"Continued Heart Fund support," he declared, "will make it possible to predict the discovery of the underlying causes of high blood pressure and coronary artery diseases —conditions which set the stage for heart attacks, "strokes" or heart failure; dramatic new gains in techniques for diagnosis, prevention, treatment and rehabilitation and even greater achievements in heart and blood vessel surgery."

Kentuckians already are benefitting from many of the findings through the work of the Kentucky Heart Association and its local and regional groups, Guerrant pointed out, but much money is needed.

He urged full backing of the 1957 Heart Fund and the topping of Kentucky's minimum goal of $250,000 by a "sizable sum." He noted that special gifts collections and door-to-door "Heart Sunday" marches on February 24 by volunteer workers will supplement the general campaign in most kentucky counties.—Contributed

Don't fall for this

An organization in Memphis, Tennessee, known right now as the Permanent Record Company, is clipping obituary notices from newspapers, pasting them on a blackedged card, printing the 23rd Psalm on the other side, placing the card in a plastic case, and sending same to the family of the deceased.

Accompanying letter states the card—the "Memorial Obituary"—may be kept if the receiver will send in $1.00.

Please don't fall for this old line of being fleeced. No person is obligated to pay for any merchandise he receives without solicitation. And don't worry about returning the stuff—you don't have to under existing laws and postal rules and regulations.—Union County Advocate.

MAN ON THE STREET

Public looking forward to good business and job conditions

By Kenneth Fink, Director
Princeton Research Service
Princeton, New Jersey—With the new year just beginning, confidence among American adult citizens in their own state's business and job prospects is high. A MAN ON THE STREET survey completed within the past ten days shows that more than three out of every five adult citizens questioned in the survey expect the same or more business and jobs for their state during the next few years than it had during the past year or two.

At the same time, one in four expect less business and fewer jobs.

In other words: those who see more or the same amount of business and jobs ahead for their state during the next few years outnumber by a margin of two and a half to one those who see less business and fewer jobs ahead.

In conducting today's Poll on business and job conditions, a continuing feature of MAN ON THE STREET, people in all walks of life were asked the following question:

"How do you feel about business conditions in your state for the next few years? Do you think there'll be more business and more jobs than during the past year or two or less business and fewer jobs?"

The results:

BUSINESS AND JOB PROSPECTS
More or the same	63%
More ... 25%
Same ... 38
Less	25
No opinion	12

Three months ago, 64% expected more or the same; 22% expected less business and fewer jobs, and 14% expressed no opinion, indicating that American people are a bit less optimistic about business and job prospects than they were three months ago.

American people, however, are somewhat more optimistic about business and job prospects than they were a year ago.

One year ago 60% expected more or the same amount of business and jobs; 34% expected less business and fewer jobs, and 6% expressed no opinion.

Today's findings thus represent 3% more optimism and 9% less pessimism that a year ago, thus indicating that American people are not expecting any serious recession in the near future.

Here is the trend over the past four years:

	More or same	Less	No opinion
Four years ago (1953)	71%	17	12
Three years ago (1954)	52%	43	5
Two years ago (1955)	59%	37	4
One year ago (1956)	60%	34	6
TODAY	63%	25	12

Since December, 1947, Princeton Research Service has been making periodic measurements on people's outlook on future business and job conditions in various parts of the nation and in the nation as a whole.

During that time, there has been a close correlation between the answers given and the actual business and job conditions in the areas measured.

Watch for these reports on Business and Job Conditions in this newspaper.

The Carlisle Mercury presents the reports of MAN ON THE STREET exclusively in this area.

Pumphrey suffers first degree burns; auto claims first victim in County

Thursday, February 18, 1937

Ben H. Pumphrey, local distributor for the Gulf Refining Co., suffered first degree burns about the hands in a fire which destroyed the company's distributing plant on the Moorefield road just outside the city limits Saturday morning. The fire started from a spark from an electric motor in the pump room.

County Judge D. M. Curry last week received notice from the State Tax Commission that the assessment of Nicholas County would be increased five percent on farm lands, five percent on town lots and improvements and five percent on livestock.

Thomas M. Hardin sold his farm of 16 acres on the Maysville and Lexington road to Thomas McCowan and Jack Shannon at a private price.

According to reports, tobacco land is in great demand this year and a record acreage will be produced in Nicholas unless Nature interferes.

Approximately 120 members of the Carlisle CCC camp returned to the camp Friday after two weeks duty at Maysville in which they assisted in cleaning the city's streets after the flood.

Up until noon Wednesday County Clerk John F. Sugg had issued 578 automobile licenses and 54 truck licenses.

MARRIED—Miss Mabel Collins of Flemingsburg and Frank Browning of Maysville at Morehead Jan. 26th.—Miss Aileen Kenton and William Fryman of Paris Feb. 10th.—Miss Anna Laura Dotson of Milford, Ohio and Harold Small of Blanchester, Ohio, Thursday at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. J. J. Whitehouse.

DIED—Robert S. Abnee, 62 Monday at his home near Blue Licks.— Mrs. Etta Frances Hughes, 56, Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jesse Lawrence in Dorseyville.—Mrs. Rebecca Ward Brierly, 89, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will Askins, near Ellisville, Friday. —Mrs. Minnie Craig at her home on the Mt. Moriah road Thursday.

Thursday, February 15, 1917.

James W. Norton qualifies as county road engineer.

J. A. Day resigns as police judge after serving for almost two years.

Mrs. D. W. Boyte sells her millinery store to Mrs. Joe Chaney and Mrs. Joe Spratt.

Perry McClanahan purchases motor truck to be used in delivery of gasoline and oil.

L. S. Hughes appointed deputy circuit clerk and is filling the office during the illness of Clerk Solemon Robertson.

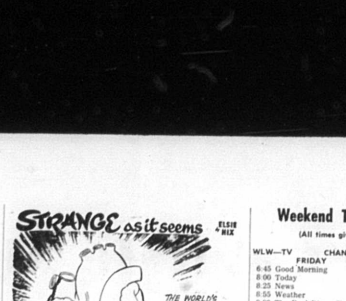
William Bowen resigns as bookkeeper at First National Bank and leaves for Lexington to take position with Kentucky Traction and Terminal Company.

M. L. Dotson, farmer of the Hurtsville section, fatally injured Thursday morning when his automobile overturns at the foot of the Brayfield hill, the first victim of an automobile accident in Nicholas County.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Russell of Carlisle, on the 11th, a daughter.—To Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fisher, on the 8th, a son.—To Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler of the County, on the 9th, a son.

MARRIED—Miss Nancy McGirdey and Harry Rogers, both of the County, to be married today.—Miss Bessie Fryman and Herbert Fryman, both of the County, on the 12th.—Miss Carrie Booth and Walter Buckler, both of the County, on the 7th.

DIED—Rev. J. O. A. Vaught, former pastor of the Carlisle Methodist church at Los Angeles, Calif.—James Alexander, 78, at his home near Flora on the 7th.—Mrs. Effie James Sexton, 36, at her home near Jackstown on the 7th.— Mr. Fannie Hughes, 36, at her home near Carlisle, on the 8th.—Mrs. Nancy Mitchell, 85, at her home near Pleasant Valley.



Phone company adopts new call method

A new method of handling incompleted long distance telephone calls has been adopted by Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Clyde Watts, manager, in Carlisle, said the new procedure is this: If the called party is not reached when the call is placed then the calling party is given the choice of having the operator continue trying to call or of placing it himself later.

Mr Watts said this new method was put into practice as an added convenience for telephone users.

"Some people prefer to initiate each attempt on their calls," he said. "Others do not want interruptions by an operator calling to give reports on an incompleted call. Some have to leave their telephone for several hours after placing a call that has not been completed. We think this new calling method is the answer."

He added, however, if the caller wants to talk to the called party as soon as he can be reached, the operator will leave word to be called. She then will notify the caller when the called party reports he is ready to talk.

Long distance service is designed to complete the customer's call when he wants it, as he wants it, and with the greatest possible speed," Mr. Watts said. "The new way of handling incompleted calls helps Southern Bell in that objective."

A LITTLE YAPPIN'

By Nellie Crump

...as in the days of yore.

This is Valentine Day! A fragile little folder, yellow with age, smiles from between the pages of an old Montgomery history, it's border of red hearts entwined in a wreath of forget-men-nots as sweet on this anniversary as in the days of yore. The message:

It's such a pleasant custom
To send a Valentine
To one so deeply cherished
As you, dear love of mine
The wishes that I have for you
Are happy as can be
And tell in some small measure
How much you mean to me

—yap—

...and we got thunder!

The weatherman threw in plenty of thunder for Groundhog Day pleasure Saturday night, so, if the old saying is true, we will have frost Thursday night, May 9. There was a repeat performance Sunday night, so expect it again on May 10. Better jot 'em down.

Are you in cahoots?

Have you met Robot, the mechanical brain at Neal's Square Deal? This new cash register is all it claims to be and more too. Punch it one place and it adds up your purchases. Punch in another place and it shows the amount of change due the customer—right before your eyes—when in cahoots with the operator.

Yes, we have no bananas today.

Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell of the county returned Friday from a month's stay at Mt. Dora, Fla. James hurried to town Monday with a sack full of fruit he found in the warm climate. The sack contained but two articles however—one a banana bloom, the other a lemon. The bloom is as large as a sunflower and looked for the world like a giant calycanthus bloom, color and all. I do not know if it grows up, down, or on the side, or how big it might get, but under the first two leaves (that resemble elephant ears) on the stem end are bunches of baby bananas—13 on one side, 14 on the other. They are pale yellow, about two inches in length and not more than half as large as a lead pencil, and quite a sight for one who has never seen the like.

Now that lemon is a sight for everyone to see (just take a look for yourself in Hopkins Drug window). Well, we measured that 3½ pound, smooth-as-right here in The Mercury office and it was 21 inches around one way and 25½ inches the other way. "I had to borrow a 26" foot ladder to reach that baby," said Campbell. "They are not good to eat," he confided, "but elsie is pithy but they have lots of juice that is used for refreshment and there is about a dollar bottle in that there one."

Were You There?

Do you remember the Nicholas County Christian Bible School Convention at Concord on Aug. 10, 1906? One of the programs found by Harvey Hardwick when moving to town has come to this department. T. A. Minyard was president and A. W. Stamper, secretary. Others on the program include the following well-known Carlisle Christian church leaders of the half century ago: Rev. E. J. Willis, L. T. Potts, W. A. Crowley, Coleman Templeman, James Berry, R. M. Hopkins, R. R. Templeman, W. R. Mains, John G. Powell, J. A. Blair and W. O. Howe. How many do you remember?

FRIEND AND FOE, KENTUCKY RIVER

During my service as your Congressman, I have been urging Federal agencies to recognize that the Kentucky River is potentially a tremendous asset to the people of central Kentucky, but in its undeveloped state is a liability. That it is a liability was brought home to many people throughout the basin in the past few days. Though it is little consolation for flood victims now, there is hope for future effective action. Congress, last session and the session before, cut the time for completing the Kentucky River Survey from seven to eight years down to three years by providing more funds than the Administration put in its budget for this work.

PLAN TO MEET ALL NEEDS

Funds recommended in the coming fiscal year will wind up the Engineering Study, which it is hoped will determine, at last, a feasible plan for the development of the water resources of the Kentucky and its tributaries. This plan does not solely pertain to flood control but other water uses as well. It is difficult for us who have so recently scanned the waste and destruction of a flood to think of river development other than in terms of flood control. But at the same time, I think that it is essential that we do so. Flood protective works are indispensable to vulnerable communities and agricultural lands but flood protection alone fails to recognize the benefits that can accrue to communities because of the prosperity of a large supply of water. Many Kentuckians are not satisfied that the present navigational facilities on the river are adequate for the commercial needs of the Kentucky River Community. Others who recognize that water storage is not adequate in dry seasons realize that many modern industrial processes require large supplies of water. Still more people in Kentucky have seen the tremendous recreational value that can come from a comprehensive river development program. The conservation and enhancement of fish and wildlife populations can result from the sound development of a river and its tributaries.

WATER RESOURCES OF RED RIVER

Interest on the part of many Sixth District organizations has been limited solely to the Kentucky River Development Association, which, I am sure, will provide assistance in the economic study of this important tributary to the Kentucky River. Such organizations perform great service in awakening interest in river development and in collecting and providing information to encourage a development which will best serve and meet the long range economic needs of the community.

TODAY'S meditation
from
The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read John 8:12-20.

That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world (John 1:9.)

While I was passing Singapore one night, the water was calm. There were several lighthouses. As I stood on our ship, I was fascinated by the fact that regardless of the direction from which they came, the beams of light from each lighthouse made a path of light to my feet.

It seemed as if the beams were for me only, until I realized they were for anyone who cared to see them.

If it were possible for all persons in the world to be directed in the light of Christ, the beams would reach all persons.

So it is with God's love; it is like a beam shining in every direction providing a two-way communication channel between God and us. God extends His love to every believer in the world and to the universe alike. so Christ has said: "All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."

PRAYER

Dear heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy faithfulness to us. Give us the willingness to see Thy Light and incline our hearts to walk in it. In the name of Jesus Christ, our Light, we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Before God and among my fellow men I will walk in the light of Christ. — Harry R. Blount (New York)

Carlos Bromagen

The Nicholas County Blue Jackets defeated a scrappy Bourbon county five Tuesday night 62-57 before a large home crowd. Ned Jennings led his teammates with 22 points while Wagoner led Bourbon with 18. The game was a hard fought game clear through as neither team could pull away with a very good margin. It was the Bluejackets 16th win against 6 defeats. Our next home game will be Friday night with Montgomery county while on Tuesday night we play host to Winchester in what should be one of our best games of the season. The only remaining game on the schedule is with Lee county February 22.

Jack Guy, A sophomore, will play his first game before the home crowd this week. Jack, who stands at 6' 4" tall transfered to NCHS from Paris high.

The Dilce Combs game was postponed due to the floods in Eastern Kentucky. The Dilce Combs gym was one of the places clothing and food and other things were being stored for the people of the flood stricken area.

All schools in Nicholas County are bringing clothing to be sent to the flood stricken areas of Eastern Kentucky.

Senior News: The Senior Basketball team has won all of their 18 games they have played this year. The Senior Class had concessions at the ballgame Tuesday, February 5. The money from the concession will go toward our Senior trip to New York and Washington. Ned Jennings has received a four year scholarship from the University of Kentucky. Congratulations Ned. The chairman of the magazine drive from the Senior Class is Eva Lee Lyman.

Mr. Chaky, our band director and Mr. Dave Parry of the "Dave Parry Band" of Lexington presented a very interesting assembly program Friday. Mr. Chaky, accompanied by Mr. Parry on the piano played fifteen different woodwind instruments. He played the clarinet, flute, oboe, alto saxophone, alto clarinet, alto flute, English horn, tenor saxophone, bass clarinet, baritone Saxophone, Contrabass Clarinet, Bassoon, Soprona Saxophone, E Flat Clarinet and the Picolo. It was one of the most interesting and entertaining programs ever presented at Nicholas County high.

The Blue Jackets traveled to Paintsville last Saturday night only to be beaten 100-79. Paintsville, ranked seventh in the state ran up the highest score in recent years against the Bluejackets. Jennings led the scoring parade for Nicholas County with 30 points followed by Hillock with 22 points, Lyman had 14, Rose 12 and Scott 11. The leading scorer for Paintsville was Daniels with 30 points. This was the first game between these two schools.

Don't forget the games tomorrow night with Montgomery county and the Tuesday night game with Winchester.

The Magazine Drive really got off with a bang! A total of $261.45 has been turned into J. T. Hammonds and Charles Judge, chairmen of the drive. Our quota is $1,200 to pay for the band uniforms. If a student turns in $10 worth of magazine sales he or she is presented with a "Privilege" card which gives the right to break the lunch line and if a student sells $5 worth he is presented with a "lollypop" and can eat it in class. Beside helping the band you will be getting into your home interesting and educational magazines.

Nicholas County high school would like to welcome two new student teachers from the University of Kentucky. The attractive young ladies are Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan and Miss Angela Youmans. In an interview with them they told me the following.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan:

I am from Letcher county in the eastern part of the state. I attended school at Fleming-Neon at Fleming, Kentucky which has around 250 students. From there I went to the University of Kentucky and majored in Home Economics. I will graduate in June, 1957. Some of the activities I participated in are: Phi Upsilon Omicron—a Home Economics Honorary, Aurens, Alpha Lambda Delta. Lings, (all womens honorarys). Kappa Kappa Gamma (Social Sorority), League of Womens Voters, Music Club.

On August 13, 1955 I was married to William R. Jordan—a student of the College of Law at The University of Kentucky.

P.S. Angie and I are looking forward to our 8 weeks at Nicholas County high.

Miss Angela Youmans:

I am from Lexington, Kentucky. I graduated from Lafayette high school. Lafayette has over 1,000 students.

Now, I am a senior at the University of Kentucky majoring in Home Economics. I am a member of the Home Economics honorary, Phi Upsilon Omicron and I am very active in Wesley Foundation, the Methodist organization at the University. Last summer I went to St. Louis and a youth camp in Michigan on a Danforth Fellowship.

I am going to be married in June to Tommy Swetnam. Tommy attended Winchester high school—so I am looking forward to the Winchester-Nicholas County basketball game next week. I love sports. Basketball is my favorite. I like to play bridge, tennis, and swim.
