South 21. A week later. Easter Seals will be mailed to 400 000 Kentuckians with letters asking for contributions to expand the work of the Kentucky Society.

Easter Seal funds last year financed medical and hospital care, special schooling, therapy, equipment such as braces and crutches, and hearing services for 2,600 children. The 1956 program cost the Kentucky Society $267,787—of which $217,402 was raised by the Easter Seal sale.

McElroy said there are an estimated 18,000 children in the state with physical handicaps caused by diseases, accidents, birth injuries, deformities, and serious hearing loss. More are born crippled, and are disabled by disease and accidents, each year.

"If we had more funds to work with, we could aid many more of these youngsters," Mc Elroy commented, "because we have an extremely broad program."

He said no other state-wide voluntary health agency has such a varied program of care and training, and no other works with children crippled by so many causes.

President Tucker will appoint a secretary-treasurer at a later date It was announced.

Soil conservation practices outlined by Lovell Hollar, local SD chairman

"Water, water, water! Nicholas County usually has too much or too little," said Lovell Hollar, chairman of the Nicholas County Soil Conservation District board of supervisors. Financial and technical help is available to harness water, or for providing for storage of surplus water for use during periods of scarcity, is available to farmers. Through the Agricultural Conservation Program, up to 80% of the cost may be paid for constructing ponds, seeding dams, installing trickle tubes, water pipes leading to water tanks, water tank installation and for the fencing of ponds. All ponds do not need these features, but many do.

Tile drainage installation is on the list of cost-sharing practices. Interest in this phase of conservation is increasing as more farmers realize the great value it has when installed in poorly drained soils.

Terracing and diversion channels may be constructed and up to 80% of the cost cost-shared through ACP. Last year Maxwell Burden, near Headquarters, installed more than a mile of terraces. Reuben and John Cleaver built several hundred feet of terraces Throughout the county more than three miles of diversion channels were constructed last year to keep hill water from highly productive bottom land.

Farmers who fail to participate in the 80% cost-sharing when establishing pastures are missing a golden opportunity to get what they need at little cost to themselves," said Hollar. Under the program up to 80% of the cost of removing trees, bushes, and rocks may be paid, not to exceed $15 per acre; $4 per acre for seed bed preparation; $2.50 per ton for lime, approximately $7.60 for using 50 lbs. of 4-12-8 fertilizer; 64¢ per lb. for Ky. Bluegrass; 20¢ per lb. for Orchard Grass; 16¢ per lb for Fescue; 26¢ per lb. for Alfalfa and Red Clover. These are but a few of the grasses and legumes that are useable. There are minimums and maximums that may be used. The importance of a good seed bed, adequate and proper fertilization, good quality and proper quantity of seed, and proper seeding can not be overemphasized.

Soil tests are not required, but are urged so as to determine soil needs. Farmers applying only those elements needed and in the right amounts of land pasture establishment seldom fails if the seed bed is properly prepared adequate fertilizer and seed used, and the seed properly sowed.

There are many cost-sharing practices available through the ACP which is administered here by the Nicholas County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, H. S. Vice chairman.

W. P. Threlkeld of the USDA Soil Conservation Service, assisted by Lucian Robinson and Stanley Alexander, provide the technical assistance needed by farmers in their soil and water conservation work. Their services are available to all farmers, at no direct cost, regardless of whether their work is a cost-sharing project under the ACP or done by the farmer without benefit of the program.

Farmers are urged to contact the ACP office in the court house or the office of the Soil Conservation Service and utilize the assistance available.

Farmers have through April 15 to place crop land in reserve

Through April 15, farmers of Nicholas County have an opportunity to sign contracts to put part of their cropland in the Conservation Reserve program, H. S. Vice, chairman of the Nicholas County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee states.

Essential points in the program which farmers should have in mind, according to the chairman, are; Land put in the Conservation Reserve must be land which otherwise would be in crops, the same acres may not be put in both the Acreage Reserve and the Conservation Reserve programs, the total acreage in crops on the farm must be reduced by the number of acres put in the Conservation Reserve, and a farmer is eligible to participate in the Conservation Reserve only if he does not exceed any acreage allotment established for his farm.

He reminds farmers, too, that to participate in the Conservation Reserve the farmer must sign a contract to keep the designated acreage in an approved conservation practice for the required period of years. Approved practices include protective vegetative cover, water storage facilities, or other soil—water—wildlife—or forest-conserving use.

No crop may be harvested from the land put in the Conservation Reserve. The only exception is timber from trees thinned out as required by sound forestry management, and wildlife.

Contracts run from 3 to 5 years if the land already is in approved cover, 5 to 10 years if approved cover must be established and 10 years if trees are to be planted. For participating in the program the farmer may earn an initial payment representing up to 20 percent of the cost of the practice and an annual payment for the period of the contract, which in Nicholas County averages about $12 per year.

Latest theft results in $60 loss

A theft of approximately $60 was reported to the sheriff's office by Hamm & Gaunce Service Station. Entrance to the building, near the western city limits, was gained by forcing a window on the side nearest the Nicholas County school.

It was reported that $30 in pennies, $3 from the cash register, $10 to $12 from the cigarette machine and $8 in spark plugs was taken. The theft was discovered Sunday morning.

Cash amounting to $54.43 was stolen from Rex & Paul's Shell Station on Feb. 9. Thieves entered by breaking a window pane and releasing the catch on the east side of the building, according to Gene Purvis, police chief.

The dread disease can be licked and everyone must do his part. Tuberculosis is preventable and all should be familiar with the following facts of this dread disease:

1. Tuberculosis is caused by a germ, and is catching It is not inherited. "Every, case of Tuberculosis comes from another case."

2. The early stages of Tuberculosis may have no symptoms, so that a patient may be suffering from the disease long before he has any idea that he is infected.

3. Chest x-ray finds tuberculosis in the early stages, when it is most easily cured.

In view of the above facts, Dr. B. F. Reynolds, Health Officer urges all Nicholas Countians to take advantage of the Mobile X-Ray Unit when it visits the county during March 6, 7 and 8. This service is offered to all citizens over 14 years of age and children under that age if they have been in direct contact with persons known to have been or now have Tuberculosis.
