Jackets lose in last seconds of play; Jennings on All-Tournament team

Local fisherman featured in angling magazine

Dorsey Watkins of Carlisle, president of the Nicholas County Fish and Game Club plays a prominent part in a article written by George Laycock and featured in True Fishing Yearbook volume number 8.

Laycock has recorded many of Watkins humorous tales of tickling, hawging, grabbling, rockfishing or grabbing—terms by which the sport of it can be called such is known "As man became more civilized he added a new element of sport to rockfishing by passing laws against it. The laws simply stimulated the sport

One of the tales recorded by Laycock struck our fancy, because we enjoy catfishing in Licking River by the hand pole method: "Dorsey has been rockfishing so long he knows every good rock and log up and down miles of surrounding streams. There's one log in Licking that has become something of a catfish bank for Dorsey . It was the second fish Dorsey took out of this log that gave him a scare. He was down in water that came up just below his nostrils and he was feeling around for the hole in the log When he found it he started to run his hand back in the hole where there's a fish . . . I started to work this fish out and realized right away that here was a fish that could drown me. I whisked him right back in that log and held the hole shut with my feet' ."

Dorsey got his fish, but maybe you'd better get your own copy and find out how.

Jennings Stars

All-Tournament Team

By Bill Woodall

Thursday afternoon more than 800 local basketball fans were on hand at Freedom Hall, State Fair Grounds, Louisville, to witness the first appearance of a local hardwood team in a Kentucky State high school basketball tournament.

Even though the Nicholas County Blue Jackets of Coach Charles Russell dropped a heart breaking 56-55 decision to Dixie Heights in the last thirty seconds of play, every fan was just as proud of the tenth regional champions as though it had been a victory.

Led by their big center Ned Jennings, who collected 17 points, the Blue Jackets held a 13-10 first period advantage and finished the first 16 minutes of the encounter trailing 28-26.

Two points, 40-38 separated the Blue Jackets and their opponents at the close of the third period, with the Nicholas County team on the short end.

With about 4.30 remaining to play, Jennings who made the all-tournament team, pulled his squad into the lead with a one hander and little Donnie Hilcok added a gratis shot for a three point spread 49-46. John Hickman of Dixie Heights dropped in a two pointer 49-48, then Nicholas County's Jack Guy retaliated with a bucket 51-48. Howard Stacey, the Dixie Heights jump-shot artist, hit two from the side to send the team from Northern Kentucky out front 52-51 at approximately two minutes.

At 1:40 Donnie Hillock fouled Eveleth of Dixie Heights, who marched to the free throw line and dropped in two to give the Colonels a 54-51 advantage. Jack Guy, who played an outstanding game, hit a follow-up to move the Jackets back within one. With less than 30 seconds to go, Dixie Heights Stacey fouled Stanley Rose, who, probably with as much pressure on him as any player in the tournament was in no pressure, walked calmly to the charity strip and hit two, sending the Jackets out front by a single point 55-54.

Try To Beat The Clock

It looked at this point as though the Jackets might move into the quarter-finals by a single point on a scramble for the ball after a shot by Stacey. Jennings fouled Heckman, sending the big boy to the bench with his final foul. With eight seconds to go the Dixie Heights forward dropped in both shots giving the victors a 56-55 margin. In a rush to beat the clock a Nicholas County player threw the ball into the hands of Eveleth, who dropped it in for what 58-55 winning margin.

The Jackets, completing their season with a 24-9 record, hit 30% from the field while Coach Lew Phillip's Dixie Heights squad was hitting 36 per cent.

The scoring went Rose 12, Guy 16, Scott and Lynam 2, Jennings 17, Hillock 8.

Howard Stacey carried the scoring chores for Dixie Heights with 19, while Joe Mark Turner M.M.I. player picked up 13.

Article presents Engineers View of 100-mile Suez Canal for landlubbers

Passage through the almost straight, 100-mile-long Suez Canal looks easy to landlubbers.

Actually, moving traffic along this strategic waterway between the Mediterranean and Red Seas is a difficult job. How difficult it can be was hinted by the delicate maneuvers used recently to free ships marooned between Port Said and the blocked southern entrance.

Originally southbound, the trapped vessels faced unusual problems in turning around and avoiding obstructions caused by the late hostilities. But even in normal times, skippers turn gray

Waters Play Tricks

"Suez waters play tricks all their own," writes Maj. Gen. Glen E. Edgerton in "An Engineer's View of the Suez Canal," published in the January National Geographic Magazine The retired army afficer is the only American on the Suez Canel Company's international board of engineering advisers.

Ships Seem Insane

"From the standpoint of the master accustomed to straight steaming, the canal route is most unnerving thing about a Suez transit is the sudden seeming insanity of his ship," observes the author.

"The reason is the peculiar action of the water confined between narrow banks . . . There are not only the ordinary currents to be reckoned with, but also the strange pressures built up by the ship herself.

"To explain As she moves, she pushes water away . . . This creates a depression . . . and the ship squats while the waves of the displaced water hit the banks and bounce back . . . The effects are often surprising."

An unchecked swerve from the current may mean trouble. If the ship is lucky, she will only

Easter Seals varieties described

Two kinds of Easter Seals in a new type of sheet will be folded into letters delivered to 400,000 Kentuckians the last week in March.

The "new look" Seals are part of the annual appeal for funds to finance programs of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children. The appeal opened March 21 and continues through April 21—Easter Sunday.

State chairman, O. L. McElroy, Eminence, said the new red and blue Seals come in two sizes and two designs. In the center of each sheet is a small poster carrying the words "We Have Given" for contributors to type in their windows.

McElroy said the Society hopes the new Seals, designed for use on both packages and letters, will help raise additional funds to finance new programs this year.

"We are in the growing state, and need additional contributions in order to expand therapy, special camping, and new services for Kentucky's many thousands of hard-of-hearing children," McElroy said.

The Kentucky Society, which raised $217,400 in the 1956 campaign, provides medical and hospital care, special schooling, speech and hearing programs, and special camping for children crippled by disease, injury and deformity.

Services are given to children in each county in the state.

The Society currently is planning a new hearing center in Louisville to provide specialized testing and training for children with severe hearing problems.

The Youth Center is a project of the Carlisle-Nicholas County Chamber of Commerce. Pictured are W. R. Buntin Jr., Dr. J. T. Morford, C of C president and Mr. Galbraith following inspection Monday night of the new location. Mr. Waugh is to be complimented for his generosity in helping provide Nicholas County teenagers with a recreation center. Red Cross—A great volunteer partnership

The work of the Red Cross is overwhelmingly the work of devoted volunteers who serve their fellow citizens in the community and the nation without thought of glory or financial recompense, Rev. Robert Raborn, chairman of the local Red Cross, stated Tuesday.

They provide the mainspring and momentum of every service and activity performed by the American Red Cross.

They contribute leadership through serving on Red Cross boards and committees; they provide a multitude of helping hands in disasters and fund campaigns; they serve as teacher sponsors in Junior Red Cross; they serve in the blood program as they give time and skill as instructors in first aid, water safety and home nursing.

Last year, serving in the traditional Red Cross programs and in special projects of assistance, "an average of 98,100 volunteers each month gave 14,000,000 hours to help their neighbors," reported the Rev. Raborn.

Store, Postoffice at Moorefield robbed by thieves

The general merchandise store belonging to Frank Weaver and the postoffice at Moorefield were robbed last Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, according to information received by The Mercury.

Thieves entered the establishment by breaking two locks on the front door. A new safe containing approximately $300 belonging to Weaver and about $80 in postal receipts was taken from its location to the front porch where, presumably, it was found to be unlocked. Checks and personal papers were found near the Moorefield Christian church.

The cash register containing Wednesday's receipts was not robbed and nothing else was taken from the store, it was stated.

Weaver called postal inspectors who arrived from Cincinnati Thursday morning. So far no clues have been found to lead to the identity of the robbers.

A few years ago a similar robbery was committed at this same store in which the locked safe was completely demolished and had been replaced by the new one recently.
