COMMENT

With most of us still having difficulty getting our fall and winter wardrobe assembled, I hear the shoe manufacturers have already come out with their summer styles for 1958. If you wonder why I get off on shoe styles every year it's because I hear so much about them with two men in my family in the wholesale shoe business. You will be paying more for lots less shoe. The almost bare appearance is the latest thing. The most startling news manufacturers say flow ers will be worn on the feet instead of the head. Oh well, it will be something to look forward to while we go around in our galoshes Ah! Flowers on my feet.

With the second satellite launching by the Soviets, Tin Pan Alley has not been caught napping. Already copyrighted are such songs as "Satellite Baby," "Satellite for Two," and "Satellite Excursion with the Boogie Beat." Let's hope that the rest of us keep pace as well.

* * *

This week I ordered a pamphlet to help me understand the many questions that come to mind about the satellite program. What keeps the Soviet earth satellite in space? How did it get there? What will it do now that it is in an orbit? I only hope that it is written so I can understand it. The booklet is called Toward Outer Space and may be obtained for 25 cents from Home Education Council, Ghent, New York.—R.T.F.
