CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How spiritual understanding of God, divine Mind, gives man dominion over fear, sorrow, and bondage of every kind, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

Selections to be read from the Bible include the following from I Chronicles (29:11): "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (103:25): "The truths of immortal Mind sustain man, and they annihilate the fables of mortal mind, whose flimsy and gaudy pretensions, like silly moths, singe their own wings and fall into dust."

Recipe of the week

One of the pleasures of having a Thanksgiving turkey at home is enjoyment of it on succeeding days,remembering to keep it covered and well chilled. Sliced cold turkey is, for many, as choice and flavorful as when it is served hot from the oven.

The small fats must be removed from the bones and served in a variety of ways with vegetables in a casserole dish with a cornbread topping; combined in gravy or a cream sauce with pimento and a small can of drained mushrooms, and served in, or to the creamed turkey add well-drained shredded pineapple and one-fourth cup of slivered almonds; serve on steamed rice.

Miss Elizabeth Helton, UK foods specialist in the Extension Service, suggests also, a combination of turkey with cranberries.

Turkey and Cranberry Roll

- 2 c flour
- 2 t baking powder
- 1 t salt
- 6 T shortening
- 2 3 c milk
- 2 c diced cooked turkey

1 1/2 c cold cranberry sauce

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut shortening in to flour mixture; stir in milk to make a soft dough. Roll dough so that it is not more than ½-inch thick. Line a 1½-quart oval casserole or loaf pan with the dough, letting it fall over the sides, then place the diced turkey and broken-up cranberry sauce in the doughlined pan. Fold the dough over the filling and pinch dough edges together. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes, or until a golden brown. Serve with leftover turkey gravy if desired.

Menu: Turkey-cranberry roll, lima beans, mixed vegetable salad, and chilled fruit cup and cookies.

Pole type barn helps in wintering beeves

While many beef-cow herds are wintered with only hills and wooded areas to protect them from winter weather, weanling calves and fattening cattle usually are given some shelter, says George Pendergrass, Kentucky Extension Service beef specialist.

An inexpensive, three-sided shelter open to the south can provide a dry bed and protection from rain, snow and wind, he notes. Sometimes this shed type cattle barn may have space for hay storage through the middle, with sheds on each side. this is what Kentuckians know as the pole-type barn.

Equip shelters with racks and troughs for hay and grain, prevent crowding, avoid narrow entrances, and exposure to cross winds.

Buy fertilizers, save time, money

Save time and money by buying fertilizer NOW, says George Corder Kentucky Extension Service soil fertility specialist, Lexington.

In some cases, he says fertilizers can be bought at reduced prices prior to Jan. 1, but in all cases, he adds, farmers get a cured material that spreads easily; he gets the materials his soil tests show are needed; and he will not have been rushed into purchases at the last minute.

Cranberries may be frozen in the original box or wrapper if the packages are tightly sealed.

COMMENT

To me the following is not only amusing and timely but so very true It comes from the Vance Sanders & Co publication, Brevits

A man lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs

He was a hard of hearing so he had no radio

He had trouble with his eyes so he read no newspapers

But he sold good hot dogs

He put up a sign on the highway telling how good they were.

He stood by the side of the road and cried "Buy a hot dog, Mister

And people bought

He increased his meat and roll orders

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade

He got his son home from college to help him

But then something happened

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio?

If money stays 'tight,' we are bound to have bad business

There may be a big recession coming on

You had better prepare for poor trade

Whereupon the father thought. Well my son has been to college

He reads the papers, and he listens to the radio and he ought to know

So the father cut down on his meat and roll orders

Took down his advertising signs

And no longer bothered to stand on the highway to sell hot dogs

And his hot dog sales fell at a mod overnight

You're right, son," the father said to the boy

"We are certainly headed for a recession"—K T F
