Provisions for

who has a small allotment or no allotment to increase his wheat production in 1958 and thereafter and not be liable for marketing quota penalties.

A number of limitations are places on the production and use of wheat under the new provision. Producers, to be eligible to grow up to 30 acres without penalty, for the 1958 crop, must sign an application prior to planting time on the farm, or October 15, 1957, whichever is later, and the application must be approved by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees. These applications will be available at ASC County offices soon.

The applications, which will set forth the conditions of the program, must show the intended disposition of the wheat. An application may be cancelled at any time at the producer's request but marketing quota provisions will then apply.

If the producer signs up for the feed wheat exemption provision, under the law the entire crop of wheat must be used on the farm where produced for seed, human food, or livestock and poultry feed. Not more than 30 acres of wheat may be grown on the farm, and none of the wheat may be sold, bartered, or exchanged, nor will it be eligible for price support.

The livestock or poultry fed must be owned by the producer, or subsequent owner or operator of the farm. It may not be removed to another farm for any purpose.

If the wheat is to be ground into feed or flour at a mill, all of the processed product and by-products must be returned to the farm. The produced may not pay for the service of grinding by giving the by-products or any of the grain to the mill.

The 30 acres limit does not apply to farms operated by and as a part of State or county institutions or religious or charitable institutions, provided an application has been signed. However, the use restrictions apply fully to these organizations.

No marketing card will be issued for farms covered by the feed wheat exemption provision since none of the wheat from such farms may be sold. If the conditions on which the exemption is granted are violated the exemption becomes null and void and the producer will be subject to penalties under wheat marketing quota regulations.

Producers who participate in this program must maintain adequate records of the disposition of the crop of wheat produced on the farm and of any other wheat acquired and used on the farm. A disposition report of the 1958 crop must be filed with the county ASC office not later than December 1, 1959.

Producers who participate in this program for the 1958 crop of wheat will not be eligible to vote in a referendum of 1959 wheat marketing quotas, if quotas are proclaimed.

The provision in effect under past programs permitting producers to market wheat without penalty where harvestings are 15 acres or less regardless of the size of the wheat allotment will still be available to producers on farms which are not participating in the feed wheat exemption provisions. However, any producer who elects to participate in the feed wheat exemption provision of the program will not be eligible to market any of his wheat and the 15-acre provision will not apply to the farm.

The exemption relating to the feed wheat provision is not automatic and only those producers who execute a proper application by the final signup date and such application is approved will be eligible to use this exemption.

A producer who participates in the 1958 wheat acreage reserve of the Soil Bank will not be eligible to use the provisions of the 30 acre feed wheat amendment. A producer who wishes to participate in the feed wheat provision will have to cancel his wheat acreage reserve agreement prior to the closing date for cancellation of wheat acreage reserve agreements.

A basic provision of the acreage reserve program requires that a producer must comply with all acreage allotments on the farm to receive a payment under the Soil Bank. However, under provisions of the feed wheat amendment, producers who sign an application and harvest not more than 30 acres of wheat for use on the farm will be eligible to participate in the acreage reserve program for other commodities, such as corn, cotton, rice, and tobacco, even though their wheat acreage allotment is exceeded.

NOTICE

In accordance with the Law of Kentucky I am required to order all land owners bordering on the public roads to have all brush, bushes, weeds overhanging limbs of trees and all other obstructions therefrom.

Any person failing to cut and clear the brush, bushes, weeds, overhanging limbs of trees and all other obstructions are subject to a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty dollars.

The great majority of people in the country have children who started to school on Monday morning, September 9. We know that you do not want to endanger the lives of your children on the school buses. Unless the weeds, brush, bushes, weeds, overhanging limbs of trees and other obstructions be cleared between the travel portion of the road and the fences, the lives of a great many children are being jeopardized daily.

Most of these entries will be made between 2:30 and 5:00 Thursday afternoon and all Home Economics exhibits to be judged must be entered not later than 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, because judging of the home economics exhibits begins at that time.

With most of the tobacco being cured, a large display of tobacco is expected this year.

First Features

The Sportsmans Dog Show will be held near the Armory on Thursday night at 8:00 p.m. on a special platform arranged for the purpose. This event is being sponsored jointly by the Fish and Game Club and the Fair Committee. The event should not be confused with the Pet Show which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:00 in front of the Armory.

Special arrangements have been made with the city council for blocking the street between the Armory and Dorsey avenue, Carlisle Armory, where the exhibits will be open to the public, and concessions will be in operation beginning at 12:00 noon on Friday and with exhibits remaining in place until 4:00 p.m. Saturday afternoon. New chemicals ready for plant bed control

Vapam and Allyl-alcohol are two relatively new chemicals available locally which may be used effectively to control weeds in tobacco plant beds, according to a release this week from the County Agent's office.

The directions of the manufacturer should be followed carefully when making application. Either fall or spring treatment is successful; however, if application is made in the spring, three weeks would elapse between treatment and seeding of beds.

Fall treatment is successful when the soil temperature is 50 degrees or higher. The beds should be prepared about a week before treatment. Soil should be in a moist condition but not overly wet. Drainage ditches should be prepared around the bed before the treatment, so as to prevent surface water from carrying weed seed. Material required for treating beds will cost from $10.00 to $12.00 per bed, or about 1¢ per square foot. No special equipment is necessary for application. The material to be used is mixed with water and can be applied with sprinkle cans, or tractor pump equipment. Following treatment, and before the beds are seeded, the surface should be raked only lightly, so as to prevent bringing weed seed to the top. Treatment is effective only to about a two inch depth.

Under ground insects, such as grub worms, may also be controlled by the application of 1 pound of 25% Aldrin Granules. This should be applied on the beds after plowing and before the ground is worked.
