Time to fight Cancer

This is Cancer Control Month, the annual occasion for the American Cancer Society's Cancer Crusade. That great public service organization is the only national voluntary health agency fighting cancer on three fronts —through research designed to find new methods of cure for this disease and eventually to conquer it, professional and public education, and service to cancer patients.

Momentous strides are being made in the attack on man's cruelest enemy. In the last 20 years more progress has been made in understanding cancer than in all the previous history of mankind. This is largely due to the fine assistance volunteers in the April Crusade both men and women, have given to the ACS. There are nearly two million Cancer Crusaders.

More people die of cancer each year, but more are being saved from it. Until the spring of 1956, statisticians estimated that one in four Americans who had cancer was being cured. In June, 1956, it was disclosed that one in three was being saved. From one-in-four to one-in-three means that some 38,000 lives are being saved annually which would have been lost to cancer a decade ago. In all, about 150,000 are saved in this country each year. That is heartening, but physicians agree that one in two—half of those who develop cancer, or 225,000—could be saved today by earlier diagnosis and prompt treatment.

The Society has led the way in the greatest research attack ever launched against a single disease, and has devoted nearly $60,000,000 to research since World War II. Its spokesmen have been leaders in persuading Congress to appropriate large sums for this work.

The American Cancer Society is not a permanent organization. It is working hard to put itself out of business. It will last only until cancer is conquered. Public contributions to enable the Society to carry on its attack have mounted from less than a million dollars in 1944 to more than $29,000,000 in 1957. To continue this accelerating attack, the Society relies on its independent fund-raising and educational Crusade. The 1958 goal, $30,000,000.

Certainly the ACS is seeking that goal, deserves all possible support from the public

Students win first in music contest; new business incorporated at Sprout

Thursday, April 14, 1938

Students of the Carlisle high school won four first places in the district music contests held at Maysville Tuesday. Charles Shrout, first on tenor solo; Mildred Murray, first on soprano solo, and Alberta Hostetler, first on both mezzo-soprano solo and alto solo. The contestants were trained and directed by Mrs. M. C. Shearer.

Jurors are selected to serve during the May term of circuit court. Court will convene here May 2.

Approximately 30 home-baked cakes were delivered to Masonic and church homes in the state this morning.

Commencement exercises of the Carlisle high school will be held on May 19, when 27 members graduate. Bart N. Peak will be the speaker.

Several fine stallions were exhibited here court day. For several years the horse industry was almost abandoned in this County but there has been a revival of the business during the past two or three years, due to the scarcity and high prices of horses and mules.

Cold rainy weather of the past two weeks has retarded farmers in their spring plowing and other work, they report.

G. K. Stone has sold his transfer business, Stone's Transfer, to Allen Calhoun of Harrison county.

Farmers report that fruit has been considerably damaged by the cold weather of the past ten days.

C. L. Mathias has leased the old Conley hotel building to Mrs. Bertha Cameron of Myers, who will operate a restaurant and rooming house.

MARRIED—A marriage license was issued to Miss Nancy Steen Gates and Roy Eugene Gaunce, both of the County—; Miss Lena Leslie Green and William Moore Kendall, both of Carlisle at Lexington, Saturday.

Miss Virginia Bangus and Ronald Huff at Maysville April 9th.

DIED—Mrs. C. W. Howard, 72, at her home in Millersburg, Sunday—Charleston B. Pryor at his home in Bourbon county April 6.

From The Vista Press, Vista, Calif.: That old political pot is a-brewin' faster and faster day by day, and the season where the best of friends become the bitterest of enemies is fast approaching.

That inexplicable something which allows people to get along in every day life much in and week out in spite of religious beliefs has no bearing on these same citizens when it comes to political opinions. All sense of tolerance is lost, and all regard for the other's opinion goes by the board. It happens every election time here in these United States.

Should that good friend be registered in an opposing party he becomes a dirty dog and it is not fit to sleep with the pigs, or wipe up the floor with. But just a few short weeks after election he regains his character and again becomes one of the finest persons in the world, whether his party won the election or not.

Then there is the fence straddler. He is the man who has the courage of his convictions and votes for the man—not the party. To ardent party members he is not above a snake—in the open—not in the grass. The so-called fence straddler is the man most always found on the "not to be associated with" list, for several months before an election and for a few weeks after because he is the man who let the party down.

In other words—as the party thinks so should the voter—but life can't be that sweet for some people. They take the attitude that there is a party in Russia that does most of the thinking for the people and therefore they just do not care to become entangled in the good old USA.

We, all of us, will admit that the party with which we are not affiliated is composed of a bunch of skunks and grafters. We've never been able to figure out just what kind of a world this is since both of the major parties have this same idea.

Then there's another thing that bothers us somewhat about these candidates. The mere fact that John Doe belongs to the Plebian Party and has done an excellent job in his office as a dog catcher and as a side line is a crocodile wrestler of great note is no concern of the Commonwealth Party. They have no consideration for the man who is doing fine work. Willie Jones who is registered in the Commonwealth Party can do so much better, not because he happens to have the background but because he is registered in the Commonwealth Party.

KENTUCKIANS IN WASHINGTON

By Gil Kingsbury

HIGHWAY REPORT:

The Bureau of Federal Roads has made its progress report on inter-state highway construction Kentucky now ranks in 40th place in total road building programmed.

In other words, the Commonwealth has plans for 24.1 miles of that big road program. Tops on the list is Texas with way over 600 miles and North Carolina with almost 400.

It'll take some work to catch up.

JOBLESS PAY:

How much does an unemployed Kentuckian receive in unemployment compensation"

Naturally, it varies with the individual. But the average weekly benefit in the Blue Grass State is $24 a week.

Way up in Alaska the jobless man or woman gets an average of $37 but the benefits in the South go down, down, down. For example, the out-of-work man in North Carolina draws $18.

NEW FEDERAL JUDGES:

Every time Congress convenes there is talk about naming additional federal judges But there is no such talk this year about Kentucky which now has five such august officials

Greatest agitation for more help comes from Pennsylvania and New York where combined they need a total of eleven more men.

Incidentally, each Kentucky judge serves about 600,000, which is a few thousand below the national average.

THIS AND THAT:

Mrs. Barkley's book, I Married the Veep, is due for summer publication . . . Kentucky sugh, sugh- ranks fourth in the production of—guess what?—blue grass seed South Dakota ought to first Mrs. Mattie Pfeiffer, superintendent of Breathitt County schools told congressmen something should be done about scholarships for the poor A thought for the cold-nose set. And, finally, Kentucky lawmakers are going home, several of them busy campaigning for the May primary.

Carlisle teacher is honored

Mrs. Allen Rawlings, the former Miss Lucy Nell Henry, who has taught second grade in the North Middletown school for the past three years, presented a solar system exhibit, made by 7-year old students at a Science Fair held during the week at the school Students in both the elementary and high school division took part in the day-long event, which was started only a year ago in this school. A picture of four of the children was in the Courier-Journal last Wednesday, they were Mr. Chael Chambers, Sammy Ishmel, Brenda Riggs and Bill Evans. Models of a well kept farm, and also a device for demonstration benefits of lightning rods, were displayed by the high school students.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Friends,

Am sending money order for the Mercury another year. We think we couldn't do with out the Mercury. We read it every line, and then pass it on to others.

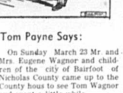
Tom Payne Says:



Cherry Blossom Time In Washington

Generally this time of year is the most beautiful that Washington experiences. While all the pageantry and festivities have been held—and officially the celebration is over—the Cherry Blossoms have not actually blossomed. The hard winter and continued cold weather has deterred their growth and budding As this letter is written, the weather has broken and we are enjoying continuous sun shine for the first time in twenty days The temperature has risen considerably and is expected to go to around 60 degrees If this keeps up, the full flowering of Spring should be just around the corner.

Farmer And Consumer Benefit

With the Presidential Veto of the "Support-price freeze" action of the Congress and because of the feeling that it will not be overridden, attention is being focused upon the effect that Secretary Benson's up and down" support-price plans will have on the Farmer and the Consumer Especially in many consumer areas, the Secretary has directed reductions in price supports for dairy products Theoretically, this is supposed to be passed on to the Consumer in the way of reduction in retail prices thus increasing the demand for the farm product—the farmer and the folks in-between benefitting from the increased volume of sales Theoretically, that is!

Substantial Difference Between Ideal And Real

We shall await with interest the actual results Experience has been a pretty rough teacher in proving that there's quite a difference between theoretical assumptions and actuality. To idolize the ideal is far afield from realizing the real.

Congressional Recess

Last Thursday, the Congress, in conformity with custom and tradition, recessed for the Easter Holiday Slowly convening in January, the legislative calendar has moved rapidly along; many measures of substantial importance have been enacted; many have been passed by each of the Houses and are in Conference; many have been reported by the Committees on all of these measures in Conference and reported will be ready for prompt consideration upon the return of Congress on April 14th.

The breathing spell provided by the Recess is most timely and I believe will be beneficial not only to Congress but to the Nation. It will afford time for leveling off and a better perspective of the situation. Each Member will be refreshed and will be currently informed of the thinking of his constituency, all of which tends toward making us better prepared to discharge our Congressional duties in a manner commensurate with the responsibilities of our office

Chickweed, Henbit weed control given

Two materials are recommended this year by the U.K. Agricultural Experiment Station's weed-control section for control of chickweed and henbit. Two particularly troublesome weeds.

They are ammonium sulfate and potassium cyanate, says James Herron botanist Both act on the weeds as burning agents killing the above-ground portions and preventing this year's plants from producing seed

Ammonium sulfate is used at the rate of 10 to 2 pounds material per 100 square feet It is applied as a dry material, broadcast by hand Potassium cyanate is applied according to directions on labels of the various commercial preparations containing the material

Apply the materials in early morning when dew is still on the

U. OF K. NEWSPAPER TO BE CAMPUS DAILY

A new name will be added to the state's family of daily newspapers this fall when The Kentucky Kernel, 43-year-old student newspaper at the University of Kentucky, begins four-times-per-week publication.

Increase in publication frequency of the Kernel, a weekly during most of its history, was authorized by the University's Board of Trustees.

The change is expected to greatly increase the opportunity for journalism students to receive practical experience in the field and will increase by about 10 the number of part-time positions

THURSDAY, APRIL 10

Read John 14:1-7.

"And when I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also" (John 14:3 RSV.)

A Minister friend was conducting a revival far from home when he received this brief telegram: "Daddy with Christ. 10 30 A.M. Thursday." There beloved father had left them for another world, but there was no feeling or regret or doubt only the affirmation of victory.

This simple message expresses features of the Christian belief in the immortality of the soul. It affirms that those who live in Christ never really die, but live on after this present life We have this promise from Jesus own lips Whoever lives and believes in me shall never die"

The message contained in the telegram affirms also that when we leave this world we do not go to some strange foreign place We go to be with Christ. Did not the resurrected and living Lord say He would go to prepare a place that where He is there we may be also

PRAYER

Our Father, we humble ourselves in prayer before Thee. By Thy grace, enable us, we beseech Thee, so to live in Christ here that we will find ourselves at home with Him in the life to come. Help us ask of Thee, our Father almighty, through Jesus Christ, Thy Son and our Redeemer. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

To be alive forever is to be with Christ
