An investment in boyhood

Most business and professional men today look back with pleasure on their own boyhood days when camping or some other form of outdoor life represented some of the high lights of the period. Some, through circumstances, may have been forced to forsake certain amount of work in this program, others may have had the opportunity of attending a well-organized property boy's camp.

ANNUAL GAME OF HIDE AND SEEK

QUIETLY, the members of the Blue Grass Council through a mimeographed letter to the Council are sponsoring this campaign in the hope that the entire amount can be subscribed promptly. Detailed plans and pictures of the proposed camp facilities will be presented from time to time so that all may understand how the money will be spent.

A single family will be made to build more than a camp of this kind. It will reach your younger children, how to play and work with other boys. It will give them an opportunity to vie with others in all kinds of games and contests. It will provide properly supervised entertainment during the months when time hangs heavy on the hands of most growing boys.

The long range plan for this camp is to be located in Montgomery and Pottsville Counties on about 100 acres of land. The Blue Grass Council, which will constitute the largest single effort ever undertaken for the youth of Central Kentucky. Their elders must not let the campaign fail.
