Weekly tobacco news report

Demand weakened for Burley tobacco during the third week of sales reports the Federal-State Market News Service. Prices on nearly 90 percent of the grades declined from the record levels set last week. Volume remained heavy at most markets with generally quality slightly lower.

Gross sales in the eight-state marketing area for the week ending December 12 amounted to 114,487,819 pounds and averaged $60.65 per hundred. The average was $2.59 more than the all-time high set the previous week. Volume was off 15.5 million pounds and ran extremely light at a few markets. Season gross sales were brought to 344,364,227 pounds for an average of $66.77. This is 23 million pounds under the comparable period last year with the average $4.13 higher.

Losses in grade averages ranged from $1 to $5 per hundred pounds. Most were down $1 to $2. Largest declines were in lower quality red and green offerings and nondescript. A few better grades were unchanged. The market began to trend lower on Monday. At the end of the week daily prices on some grades had declined as much as $9 from the peak level during the second week. A few were lower than opening day.

Growers placed more tobacco under Government loan than previously. Pool receipts for the week estimated at four percent of sales with the season's take at 2 percent. Delveries consisted principally of flyings and fair tan legs.

Quality was lower as a larger percentage of the sales consisted of low leaf and tips and nondescript. Predominant offerings were low to good leaf and low and fair lugs, flyings, and tips.

Auctions will recess after the sale of December 19 for the Christmas holidays.

To prevent the falling of mistletoe berries and shriveling of foliage, spray it with clear plastic, or dip the stem ends in melted wax or clear nail polish.

COMMENT

Kay T. Fisher

Why is it that so often it takes a tragedy like the Chicago school fire, to open our eyes to hazards around us. I see where twenty six schools have been closed in New York city since that tragedy. Here are some of the deficiencies listed: inadequate aisle space, unsealed boiler room, exposed wiring, no exit signs, inadequate fire alarm systems, blocked vents and inadequate sprinkler systems.

During the Christmas holiday season when fire hazards are really all around us do take every precaution. Check all Christmas tree lights—don't leave home with tree lights burning—beware when candles are alight. Don't decorate around a fire place just to have it go up in smoke. If you are not sure, change your decorating plans—Be safe—Be happy.

PERSONALS

Inside the walls of C.H.S.

by Harriet Clark

At last, that long awaited vacation has come! Just two more days and we can sleep late and lay lazily! What a laugh! More of the students of Carlisle will be working from dawn to dark and the ones who aren't probably won't have a spare moment.

We certainly have had no time for leisure what with concerts, decorating the school, ballgames, and parties this week.

The 3rd and 4th grade presented their annual Certified SANTA AND COMPANY. Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium.

Thursday, the Tri-Hi-Y will entertain some of the younger children in the recreation room. There'll be gifts, games, and goodies for all.

Besides all the Christmas festivities, the Boy's Basketball team will play Harrison County Friday night.

The basketball team will feel like sleeping the whole two weeks after Friday night. They played three games in one week. Monday we play Owingsville at home, Tuesday tomorrow night, Owingsville Friday, Tuesday night. See what I mean about tired.

The Student Council has been hustling here and there getting the Christmas decorations hung. The best part of Christmas at school is our huge Christmas tree loaded with icicles and lights. That is a very impressive sight.

The members of our football team, Stanley Wilson and Kelley Kinnett rated honorable mention on the All-State Football Team. That's quite an honor. Congratulations, boys, Carlisle's proud of you.

The band concerts are great and band and chorus members can breathe again. No one who came to the concert could miss our new trumpani. Aren't they fabulous? They really did a good them in a concert. Our Majorettes are going to the 6th grade to be Christmas. Certainly do a wonderful job. Carlisle is proud of its band section.

I hope you have a very merry Christmas. Until 1959, when I see you again, Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.
