CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Man's God-given dominion over sin and limitation will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Adam and Fallen Man" will include this verse from Genesis (1:27): "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (516:19): "Man, made in His Likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth. Man and woman as coexistent and eternal with God forever reflect, in glorified quality, the infinite Father-Mother God."

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (15:22): "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

Kentucky is sixth in total farm acreage in the southeastern section—but first in value of livestock; first in cash receipts from dairy products; and first in volume of beef marketed.

Dr. W. N. Cain

Dr. William Noel Cain, 60, of 333 Transylvania Park, Lexington, died at 6:57 p.m. Thursday at Good Samaritan hospital.

Coroner Chester Hager said the retired physician's death was caused by burns received Monday when a fire swept through two rooms of his home. Dr. Cain had been in critical condition at the hospital since the fire. About 30 percent of the skin area was covered with burns, hospital attendants said.

A fire department investigation showed that the fire apparently started when Dr. Cain went to sleep while smoking. Police said his wife told them the doctor was a diabetic and frequently watched television from a seat on the living room couch. The fire is believed to have started near the couch, firemen said.

Dr. Cain was born in Carlisle, and was a son of the late James and Mary Kenealy Cain. He attended the Carlisle schools, and was a graduate of the University of Louisville Medical College. He served his internship in Lexington, at St. Joseph's hospital.

Inside the walls of C.H.S.

by Harriett Clark

Hello there! I guess most of you survived Halloween. I wouldn't know, but from what I heard, most of the pranks were played on the teachers, C.H.S. students must really love halloween. It's the only time we get to pester the teachers (out side of school, that is).

Speaking of halloween, the Jrs. and Srs. made around $87.00 on our booths at the Carnival. We want to thank the P.T.A. for giving us the booths.

A double thank you goes to Mrs. Johnson for helping us set up our booths and furnish the supplies for them.

At the Soc-hop Saturday night 13 Seniors earned $35.00. We're really "on the ball" when it comes to making money for our school trip or annual.

Guess what? All right, I'll tell you if you won't guess. We're selling magazines again (from the Curtis Company). So if you want to get a good magazine and help us at the same time, contact a Jr. or Sr. and subscribe for a magazine. We get fifty percent of the money from these magazines. Ladies' Home Journal, The Saturday Evening Post, Holiday, Jack and Jill, and The American Home. So if we missed you last time, don't wait for us to see you, you see us. You don't know how happy every extra penny makes us.

Thursday morning, the students of C.H.S. will be entertained by Jimmy Gilpin. He's to show a film on soil conservation and maybe if we're lucky he'll give us some music from his sax.

You've never seen a more excited bunch of Seniors than we were when we got our Senior picture proofs back last Monday. Now the problem is to decide which ones are the best and then we wait once again until the big day arrives when we get those long-awaited pictures.

Another football season has passed. Our scoring record doesn't look too good but if we could get the team spirit of our boys, you'd agree that we had a winning team, not from the score but from sportsmanship and spirit, which is far more important.

Basketball practice began the day football practice ended. Our first game is to be played Nov. 21 against Paris. Mr. Bowen is head basketball coach this year and we've got hopes for a good team. I'll tell you more when I know more.

The Srs. are having another foodsale Saturday afternoon at 1:30 C.D.T. So if your mouth's watering for some good home made candy, cakes, and pies but you're just not in the mood to make them, come down to the drugstore and take your pick.

One final parting word and then I'll say so long for another week. Don't forget to get your C.H.S. license plate. That's all, so long, goodbye.

GOES TO PRISON

Sheriff John Anderson accompanied Willis Traminey to the Kentucky State Prison at LaGrange, where Rainey will serve a four year sentence for obtaining money under false pretense. He was captured in Paris last week by Paris officials, after a jail break a year ago at the county jail here, when he assaulted a former jailer, John McCarty, and escaped.

a chance to participate in physical activities of a lesser degree of perfection and competition. The activities engaged in are both team sports, such as softball, basketball, volleyball; kick ball, and individual sports such as tennis, ping pong, track and others.

The main reason for playing so many different kinds of activities as possible, is to give the students enough knowledge of each activity so that they will be able to participate in the activities after they have left our school and become part of the millions of working people of this country who have no way of participating in physical activities other than what they learned in high school.

Our activities are to a degree determined by the wealth we try to get as much outside activity as possible, but when we have sneinement weather we move inside to our beautiful gymnasium.

At present, our Physical Education program is for the requirements of the Minimum Foundation Law, a law set up in Frankfort to insure that the schools teach to the maximum benefit of the students. However, we hope to keep improving our department until it meets every physical need of our students completely.

Timber Market directory at county agent office

A new publication available at the county agents' office may help Kentuckians find markets for their timber.

The publication, NOT published in sufficient quantity for general distribution but in sufficient numbers to put one in each county agent's office, lists the following, says James Newman, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service forester.

Major types of forest products, specifications for such products, quality and kinds of trees used for veneer, cooperage, saw timber, mine timber, cedar, pulpwood, handle stock and posts.

One section of the directory deals with out-of-state woodusing industries which buy products in Kentucky. They are principally in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia and Tennessee.

Newman said the directory was published by the Kentucky Department of Economic Development in cooperation with the Extension service forestry department, the U. S. Forest Service and the State Division of Forestry.

Tobacco stripping care, comfort

Stripping tobacco requires care—and care is best taken by stripper who has a satisfactory place for working, and who is comfortable, say Russell Hunt and Ira Massie, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service tobacco specialists.

First: Have a stripping room with a bench giving four to six feet for each worker; adequate heat, and, most important, good lighting.

Uniform light throughout the day is needed for proper separation of tobacco into natural groups, colors and qualities; most efficient lights for stripping rooms are fluorescents, preferably the cool white tubes which provide uniform light all day, something not possible under a natural daylight.

Second: A crew of three or four persons makes an efficient team. One is the worker removing the flyings, the second the lugs and the third, leaf and tip grades. If a fourth worker is available, he may remove the lips and assist the others by keeping the bench filled with stalk tobacco from the bulk. Efficient strippers should know characteristics of the groups, colors and qualities.

Third: Tobacco should be tied in hands about the size of a milk bottle cap, and 12 to 14 hands of tobacco placed on the stick as they are removed from the bulk.

Fourth: When sticks are filled they should be pressed lightly to smooth out the tobacco; this improves appearance, makes it bulk easier and load better for hauling. Early-stripped tobacco should be bulked in an open bulk, as it is likely to be high in moisture. After it remains in an open bulk two to three weeks, it may be placed in a solid bulk and kept until hauled to market. Early-bulked tobacco should be covered to protect it from foreign matter but not weighted. Tobacco definitely improves if bulked a few weeks prior to sales.

Fresh cranberries can be had all year round by freezing them. Just put the unopened package in your freezer, and they will keep for 12 months, recommends cranberry associations.

Telephone Talk

by CHARLES A. HARRIS
Your Telephone Manager

THERE'LL BE SOME CHANGES MADE—This is very true in the telephone business just as it is in any business. We are constantly improving every phase of our business and will make needed changes and improvements from time to time. As for Carlisle and Nicholas County, we are at present planning to move our business office to Paris November 29 so that we may better serve you. On and after December 1 you may pay your telephone bills at the Production Credit Association on Locust Street here in Carlisle But Mrs. Gilvin, your service representative in the business office, will still be as close to you as your telephone. And, of course, your calls to the business office in Paris will be free of charge.

"Then what did he say?"

Are these familiar words at your house? If you have a teen-ager, you can't help overhearing just such remarks. It seems that endless telephone visits are a part of growing up. No need to make them a family affair, though. With an extension phone of her own, Suzy can talk in complete privacy. You'll really "tickle her pink," too, with a pretty pink phone, or one of the other lovely pastel colors, and her own listing in the telephone directory. For just a few cents extra a day it's so easy to give the whole family the wonderful convenience of extension phones in favorite "talking spots" throughout your home. Our Business Office will be glad to answer any questions you have, so just call us any time.
