County hunters

ulations are steadily increasing and that this should be a banner hunting year on a statewide level.

There will be minor local area fluctuations of game, but Duncan said the overall picture is bright.

He pointed particularly to the upcoming gun deer season. The season opens on November 27 and runs through November 30 with a hunter's choice season bucks or does the last two days of the hunt. Biologists say herd sizes are up in all of the 31 open counties and that hunter success should be greater this year than last.

On the local level Duncan predicted GOOD hunting for rabbits and squirrel and FAIR hunting for quail, the state's most popular species.

"All in all, it adds up to a big year for hunters," he said, "following a continuing trend of better hunting each year in Kentucky."

"The reason for this," Duncan said, "is constant research and development being done by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources crops of well trained wildlife biologists working year round on a scientific basis to replenish depleted game supplies and generally improve hunting."

The supply is up now, "he concluded," and if possible, we'll keep it that way."

Duncan said hunters wishing full details on seasons and regulations should contact him or the County Clerk J. Berry Burnaw.

Public invited to East Union chili supper

by Mrs. Miranda Wilson

The public is cordially invited to attend a chili supper on Wednesday night, October 15, beginning at five o'clock. Through the effort of the Jr. Conservation Club we are to be favored by Jimmy Gilpin's playing the piano.

East Union school opened this year with probably the smallest enrollment in the school's history. The first grade 11, second grade four, third grade 11, fourth grade five, fifth grade 10, sixth grade 11, and seventh grade 11. In order to equalize the teacher load Mrs. Miranda Wilson is teaching first and third; Mrs. Marjorie Wilson second, fourth, and fifth; Miss Evelyn Brierly sixth and seventh.

Even though our school is small we feel it has average equipment such as: piano, electric sewing machine, iron, ironing board, ditto machine, adding machine, paper cutter, typewriter, several dictionaries, four sets of reference books, globe, maps, scissors, rulers, and other small items used by the children. Our playground equipment consists of a giant stride, slide, swings, see saw, balls, and bats.

Miss Brierly is in charge of the 4-H Club and the Junior Conservation Club both of these active and progressive clubs. In these the child is given how to conduct and participate in meetings as well as responsibilities in their projects. We have been fortunate to have the able leadership of Mrs. Marion Caswell in charge of our 4-H sewing for the past few years. We have had several State Fair entries from the 4-H members.

Special visits in the past have been chili suppers, a Christmas program and then an operatta in the spring in which all the children in the school take part and an educational school trip. We have visited Harrodsburg, Frankfort Lexington, and Henry Clay's Home.

We are proud of the former students that have earned scholarships during the past three years. Donnie Lynam and Charles Greene received the Highway Scholarship. Emerson Baker the Kentucky Utility and Mary Hazel Moore a scholarship to Transylvania. We hope that more honors will continue to be earned by the students.

Mrs. Shella Mae Barrett is not only well known for the delicious meals she cooks for the children, but has become equally as well known for the chili served at the chili suppers. These suppers help to establish a better relationship between the school and home.

We shall look forward to seeing the children's parents and our friends on Wednesday night.

A bushel of peaches will make 32 to 48 pints for canning or freezing.

Wonders of Ancient Egypt Recreated In DeMille's 'The Ten Commandments'

The incredible skill of the ancient Egyptians in building themselves cities, long a source of wonder to the modern world, is pictured in authentic detail and with a cast of tens of thousands in Cecil B. DeMille's mammoth production of "The Ten Commandments." Scenes showing the raising of a giant obelisk, the hauling and placement of huge granite blocks during the construction of the pharaoh's treasure city, and the life of the enslaved Hebrews in the brick pits of Goshen have been described as not only stupendous spectacle but a living illustration of history.

The Vista Vision-Technicolor dramatization of the Book of Exodus, which opened Wednesday at the Lyric Theatre, stars Charlton Heston as Moses and Yul Brynner as Rameses, both of whose lives are entangled during the city building.

Rivalry Brought to a Head

During the period when Moses and Rameses are both in line for the throne of Egypt, their rivalry is brought to a head when Moses shows more talent for handling the droves of slaves and he incurs the deadly enmity of Rameses. Here, too, he chooses slavery in the brick pits when he discovers he is a Hebrew and commits the slaying of the Egyptian that exiles him.
