Christ Jesus' parable of the talents as related in Matthew (Chapter 25) is presented in the Scriptural passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares: "God is not separate from the wisdom He bestows. The talents He gives we must improve" (6:5-7).

The Golden Text is from Matthew (7:21): "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven."

Great health challenge, Wyrick says

The $65,000,000 March of Dimes campaign in 1959 against the major crippling diseases of arthritis, birth defects and polio is the greatest health challenge ever presented to the American people, Mr. Walter Wyrick, declared recently.

Returning from a Cincinnati, Ohio, meeting of March of Dimes county leaders from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, Mr. Walter Wyrick emphasized that the medical program for which the March of Dimes is campaigning in 1959 is the most comprehensive ever formulated by a voluntary health organization.

"If the public responds with the same overwhelming support it gave in the crucial days of the polio battle," he said, "there will be launched a successful crusade which could lead to even greater medical victories than the Salk vaccine." He pointed out that with proper public support, scientists backed by the March of Dimes could quickly follow up the promising research and remarkable leads uncovered in polio, thereby offering new hope in discovering the cause and prevention of arthritis and birth defects.

He cited the remarks of March of Dimes president, Basil O'Connor, who announced last July that in the future the organization would be an organized force in the health field, with initial goals, flexible enough to meet new problems as they arise. At that time Mr. O'Connor outlined a broad program which would first pit the successful polio-fighting group against arthritis and birth defects in a three-pronged assault on research, professional education and patient aid.

Care and rehabilitation of all polio victims is to be continued as in the past, and beginning in 1959, direct patient-aid will be offered to young people under 19 suffering from arthritis and certain types of birth defects.

"The entrance of the March of Dimes into the fight against these diseases which cripple hundreds of thousands of persons each year will give new hope to those who suffer from them just as the formation of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis gave new hope to polio victims in 1938," Mr. Walter Wyrick said.

"Summoning on the scope of these problems, he stated that arthritis and the other rheumatic diseases cripple Americans than any other chronic disease. Doctors estimate that there are more than 11,000,000 persons now affected. Birth defects, which afflict more than 250,000 children each year, are described by the American Academy of Pediatrics as the nation's greatest unmet childhood health problem.

At the same time, Mr. Walter Wyrick noted that polio will still require a major share of March of Dimes funds in 1959. Local National Foundation chapters will spend approximately $19,000,000 on direct aid to patients this year. There are still more than 50,000 patients on their rolls, most of them long-term cases. And since many areas, principally those where use of the Salk vaccine is least widespread, report more polio cases this year than in 1957, the polio needs in 1959 can still be expected to be substantial, he said.

The 1958 March of Dimes last January raised $35,000,000 in the last national appeal exclusively for polio. The 1959 appeal, to be held January 2-31, must virtually double last winter's effort, the campaign leader said.

"This means that all of us must double our efforts in the next four months. There must be twice as many volunteers at work, twice as many activities and events planned, twice as much effort devoted to public education. And it also means that the people of our area must contribute twice as much to the March of Dimes as in past years if this great program of service to the people is to be inaugurated in 1959."

Nicholas County Grade 4-H club

The Ellisville Teenage 4-H club met Thursday, October 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hamilton. The meeting was called to order by the president, Junie Mattox. There were 15 members, three leaders, and four guests present.

The purpose of the meeting was to hold the election of officers for the coming year. They are as follows: president, Tony Caswell; vice president, Bobby Curtsinger; secretary, Junie Mattox, treasurer, Charley Kaye Barton; reporter, Carol Faye Tincher; song leader, Martha Tincher; recreation leader, Patty McWhorter.

Mr. Whitaker talked to us about our projects. We filled our our enrollment cards.

Bonnie Mattox made a motion to adjourn the meeting. It was seconded by Janet Fryman.—Carol Faye Tincher, reporter.

Plant now for lovely garden

There is still time to make your plans for a beautiful spring garden, says James D. Kelley, assistant horticulturist at the University of Kentucky.

Although daffodils should have been planted by the middle of October, other spring flowering bulbs can be successfully planted as late as December.

Proper soil preparation and correct planting depth are necessary for success, Mr. Kelley says. Soil is best prepared by adding 5 pounds of superphosphate or bone meal to each 1,000 square feet, working it into the top 6 inches of soil. After growth starts in the spring, 1 to 2 pounds of complete fertilizer should be added to each 1,000 square feet.

Deep planting has several advantages over shallow planting, he says. It discourages multiplication of new bulbs, thus delaying the time when lifting and separating are necessary. It lessens the danger of disease; it makes it possible to plant annuals in the same location when the tops of the bulbs die in early summer, and they will not need a winter mulch.

Tulips and daffodils should be planted 5 to 7 inches deep and 7 to 8 inches apart. Smaller bulbs should be planted 4 inches deep.

Color is more effective if the bulbs are planted in groupings of 3 to 6, with one variety in a group.

Several from here visited the Evergreen Academy and an all day outing in the Mountains recently.

Mr and Mrs. Marion Roberts were hosts Thursday evening to the Couples Class at the school Cafeteria.

Mrs. Floyd Cleaver and Mrs. Robert Linville were guests Thursday of Mrs. Stanley Robinson.

Mrs. Gertrude Terrell visited her daughter, Mrs. Robert Marshall and family Friday night at Paris.

Quite a few attended the P.T.A. Conference Friday, in Georgetown.

The lovely weather of the past week was ideal for a stroll over the hills and familiar haunts of long ago. There is always something to see to make the viewer say "Do you remember?" It was so last week when Mrs. Blaine Brierly, Mrs. Will Brierly, Mrs. Luther Brierly and the writer spent the afternoon walking over the familiar scenes of childood days which are rich in memories, for many fine people made up the community and though it was remote from more glamorous conditions, the friendliness, simplicity, neighborliness and understanding were qualities which left an indelible stamp.

The old farm is situated near the old Wilson school of years ago and was over a part of the large grant of land to Lot Haden, who was one of the earliest settlers. The old residence that he built is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Will Brierly where we spent the day.

Where the new road leaves the famous old Somerset trail at the foot of the hill which led back on the dirt road of long ago we left the road and entered the field.

Suddenly it was not just a pasture but a picture of childhood memories where children played. We saw again the hillside across the line fence which was then a part of the Lambiel farm where the school children played.

The storms of many winters have made the hills steeper and the banks of the branch deeper while many trees we could not remember stand along thereby.

The leaves were falling and touched by the magic of autumn and late aftermaths of wild flowers were still in evidence, including the fairy Queen Anne's lace, golden rod purple violets and vines trailing here and there.

The main source of the sparkling little branch which wound around hills was a spring once walled up and always filled with clear water. Mud and leaves and sand filled most of it and the wall had partly fallen in.

Nothing remains of the orchard except a few pear trees which were set by our grandfather, Joseph Thompson, in the early ninties and which still bear fruit.

A pond was recently dug on top of that wind swept hill and the old well by the side of the road was covered with logs and abandoned.

It was only a hill once more where the view stretched far into the western sky and misty memories faded into shadows. Cars went by. We all picked up some souvenir stones and went back to the highway.
