DOES SCIENCE PROVE THE BIBLE WRONG?

Some people are convinced that it does. They read in the Bible, for example, that the sun was made in the "roof" of the world like later-day suns, which is the way they appear to do in scientific literature. They also read in the Bible that man was an unevolved being arising in time.

Although willing to acknowledge that God created the universe, scientific-minded folk refuse to believe the biblical account in which apparently all took place in six days. Also, they contend that the scientific evidence of evolution contradicts the Bible in this instance.

As far as Catholics are concerned, there can be no real conflict between scientific truth and religious truth. From the dawn of time down to the present day, science has opened the doors to the human mind's physical powers—mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology, and geology. The scientific method of discovery, even more revolutionary discoveries, has yet to produce any evidence that contradicts the basic truths of Holy Scripture.

The Bible, so long with, as a book of religion—not a scientific work—should be regarded, therefore, not as a scientific explanation of the heavens and the earth, but as an exposition of certain divine truths. These include such matters as the creation of all things, the creation of man as the object of God's special providence, the story of the human race, the loss of man's original state of blessedness through original sin, God's promise and plan of redemption. In writing of these things, the authors of the Old Testament were divinely protected against error. God did not, however, stand over them and dictate what they wrote. Their writings, therefore, while recording basic truths, are clothed in language and concepts to their primitive time and are influenced by cultural and scientific concepts far less advanced than our own.

A correct appraisal of the Book of Genesis, and the history of Creation, requires an understanding of the meanings which the Old Testament authors intended to convey, and an appreciation of the language forms, philosophy and mores of their times. An interesting pamphlet explaining these things and detailing the discovery of the agricultural Catholic Church concerning Creation, will be sent free, in a plain wrapper, on your request. Nobody will call on you. Write today for Pamphlet "66".
