"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved By Atomic Force" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science services Sunday.

Matthew's account of Christ Jesus' stilling of the tempest (8; 23-26) will be included in the Scriptural readings.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (134: 26): "Jesus said: 'I knew that Thou hearest me always,' and he raised Lazarus from the dead, stilled the tempest, healed the sick, and healed on the water. There is divine authority for believing in the superiority of spiritual power over material resistance."

The Golden Text is from Psalm (45: 5, 12): "I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: . . . I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded."

Festivals, Concerts

On the way back we stopped at a cafe which had a wonderful beach—and they let us go swimming. The Corunthian Canal was a sight to behold. It connects the Gulf of Patrai with the Sea of Crete and is very deep. It must have impressed me very much for I note that I have as many color slides of it as I have of anything else in Greece.

We drove up a great mountain that was crowned with a fortress that has been held by five successive civilizations. It was interesting to observe the people making raisins. We stopped by one farm and met the workers and they gave us large bunches of grapes to take along with us and eat.

That evening there was a symphony concert in the old amphitheater on the Acropolis or the Odeon of Herodes Atticus. It was the Athens State Orchestra and conducted by a visiting Yugoslavian conductor. It was an all Beethoven concert and a Mrs. M Hercegotzys was soloist in the piano concerto. She was very good, but not so good as the loyal natives indicated by their applause.

Another event of the Festival was a production of Aristophanes' The Birds by the Art Theatre of Charles Koon. While I was attending these wonderful events I remembered the production of "Il Trovatore" at the Baths of Caracalla in Rome which I saw when I was there and thought it the finest production I had ever seen. These compared favorably with it.

A visit to the University of Athens reassured me as to the respect that Greece has for its philosophers. There on a beautiful campus are statues of all of them. Enjoyed seeing the changing of the guard at the royal palace. The uniform of the soldiers is more like a ballet costume than that of a fighting man. We need make no mistake though, the Greek soldier ranks with the best.

There were many other wonderful things to see in Greece, and I saw a lot of them. The time came, as it always does for me to check out of my hotel, and leave for the airport to take a plane for Cairo.
