

SO HELP US WASHINGTON WE CANNOT TELL A LIE!

We have invoiced some of this stuff two or three times and for the life of us, how could our "sharp buyers" make such horrible mistakes. Well they did and they are still with us. It sure looked good when we bought it, we hoped. But it didn't sell. Anyway we have an accumulation of mistakes and being inspired by Washington's traditional honesty, we're going to break down the hard way—with crazy low prices that will boot the stuff out Friday and Saturday.

Birthington's WASHDAY SALE

Once upon a time, Young George Washington chopped down a cherry tree. When he was questioned by his father, George said, "I can not tell a lie, I chopped down the tree." Living in the same neck of the woods was a fellow by the name of Birthington Soveback. Now, Birthington was the kind of guy who liked to save a buck, so he hauled the cherry tree home and used it for kindling.

HAD IT NOT BEEN FOR BIRTHINGTON, THAT TREE MIGHT STILL BE LAYING AROUND AND DRAWING TERMITES! IF YOU LIKE TO SAVE BUCKS CHECK THESE BUYS...
