CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How prayer and watchfulness brings freshness and newness into human experience will be a topic presented at a Christian Science services Sunday.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Passages to be read from the Bible include the following from Psalms (51:10): "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (4:17-22): "Simply asking that we may love God will never make us love Him, but the longing to be better and holier, expressed in daily watchfulness and in striving to assimilate more of the divine character, will mould and fashion us anew, until we awake in His likeness."

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (12:14): "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

Housing problems on Farm-Home agenda

Kentucky families today are "more interested than ever before in improving their homes," says Mrs. Gladys Lickert, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service home management specialist.

So, one of the sessions of the 47th annual Farm and Home Week—at Lexington, January 27-30 — will deal exclusively with rural housing.

Mrs. Lickert, chairman of the session, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, January 28, will discuss Kentucky's rural housing problems. Keith Hinch cliff, University of Illinois Agricultural Engineer in housing, will discuss "Remodeling and Building."

"Owning a Beautiful Home" will be covered by Marian Bartlett, home furnishings specialist, and N. R. Elliott, landscape specialist, both of the Extension Service. Programs to plan and finance building will be discussed by Vinnie Browning and George Turner, both of the Extension Service.

A feature of the session will be a talk by George Degard, manager of Utilities Relations, Appliance and T. V. Division, General Electric Co., Louisville, on "What Houses Might Be Like in 29 Years." He will show a film on trends in houses of the future.

Tractor safety course offered 4-H leaders

Four-H leaders in about 60 Kentucky counties will get training in tractor safety, maintenance and care at two special schools scheduled this January.

The schools: Jan. 7-9 inclusive at the Agricultural Engineering building on the University of Kentucky campus in Lexington; and Jan. 14-16 in the Extension Service engineer. Armory in Madisonville. Each school will start at 9 a.m. local time.

Conrad Feltner, state 4-H club district agent, and E. S. Cline, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service engineer, will conduct the two schools.

Purpose is to train volunteer 4-H leaders in the various counties where tractor-maintenance projects are conducted. Feltner said emphasis this year is on tractor safety, maintenance and care. The leaders then will train county 4-H youngsters.

The leaders will be trained by special instructors from the various tractor companies, including Allis-Chalmers, John Deere, Case, Ford, International Harvester, Massey-Ferguson and the Oliver Corp. The courses are sponsored jointly by the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky and the 4-H organization.

Mineral feeding needed for cattle

Mineral feeding of cattle when rations are short of needed minerals can best be handled by putting out the well-known "mineral box," says George Pendergrass, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service beef specialist.

This box contains three compartments, each of which holds a mixture of phosphorus, bonemeal and salt. The box should be put where it will be dry, and easily accessible to cattle; it should be moved into fresh animals more than the barn during winter.

Cattle rations composed of high amounts of roughage are usually low in phosphorus; fattening rations of grain, protein supplement and roughage usually are deficient in calcium but borderline on phosphorus adequacy.

Sixty cents of the food dollar goes for the marketing services; benefits from marketing research include better quality, greater selection, and lower costs.

Recent tests show that yellow is the most easily seen color in the woods. Red, the traditional color, ranked next to last in seeability of the six or seven colors tested.

COMMENT

Kay T. Fisher

Are you looking for a new project for this new year? Have you said you wanted to do something new and different? If you own a dog, preferably a long haired dog, you might try this. Making yarn from dog hair! It can be done. Then you might knit a pair of socks or mittens. If your pet is large enough you can even make a full size sweater. Anyway you'll have a conversation piece that is a real novelty. This may sound fantastic but Mrs. Barbara Frobery of Acton, Mass., can tell you just how to do it. She has used hair from her pet collie to make herself a pair of gloves. Mrs. Frobery spins the yarn from shed dogs so their owners can wear a sweater from the champion while they are being shown. She gives generously of her time and shares her hobby with schools, clubs, hobby shows and country fairs. If this doesn't appeal to you perhaps you can think of something just a novel. If so, let me know.

Inside the walls of C.H.S.

by Harriet Clark

Well, hello, all you wonderful people!

From what I hear, everyone at Carlisle high had a wonderful Christmas. There was only one complaint and that was a—Why did we have to come back so soon?" Really, we were lucky. Not many schools got the vacation we had.

The football players and cheerleaders certainly had a super-duper surprise awaiting them. Our jackets were in and were we excited! The teachers decided to rush things a little and gave them to us Monday instead of waiting until activity period on Thursday. There are times when teachers can be just plain wonderful. Anyway, we've got the jackets, which are just about the prettiest things ever created, and everyone's happy except those students that didn't get on] of course other players and cheerleaders besides Srs. got letters. Charles Vice got his jacket also but he was the only Sr. basketball player to get one.

Thursday, the Jrs. and Srs. are meeting to discuss plans for the trip. We've been so busy with the annual, we haven't had time to plan our trip. From what I've heard, New York or Canada seems to be the choice most made.

Friday night we travel to Cynthiana to meet those hot dogs again. As most of you know, we lost by only one-point when we played them the first time and that was only by a little luck on their part. We're planning to give them a game they won't easily forget.

We've got another celebrity in our midst — Emma Lou George has been place on the McCall's Fashion Board. She received her certificate and pin just before the Christmas holidays. As I understand it, McCall's sends her patterns and fashions. She decides which ones she likes and sends them back to McCall's. So you see, that's very important. We've added another star to our crown.

Which reminds me, we had three winners in the soil conservation essay contest. Maudie Fisher, won 25 dollars for first place, Kelley Kennet won 10 dollars for third place and Ruth Shrout, 5th place winner of 2 dollars I think we'll have to buy a new crown. This one's running over with so many stars.

That seems to be about all the news for this week. Don't forget our home ballgame with Mt. Olivet next Tuesday night. The "A" team game begins at 6:30 and "A" team game begins around 8:00. See you at the game!

Our community extends sympathy to Mrs. Brierly and family at the death of Mrs. Brierly's husband, Mr. Press Thompson, who died in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Monday morning. He was formerly from our community.

Several cases of flu are reported in our community.

The Glenn Clays spent the Christmas holidays in King's Mt., North Carolina, where they visited Mrs. Clay's mother, Misses Ruth Randle, sister of Mrs. Clay from Pacific Grove, California, accompanied them home for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burns Brierly and son of Covington, were guests of Mrs. Margaret Brierly and Alpha during the holidays.

Miss Peggy Toy of Bethel, and Carlton Ockerman attended the wedding of Miss Barbara Warner and Billy Horseman at the Sharpsburg Christian Church December 25.

On Xmas Day Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Brumagen and family and Albert Mathews of Sharpsburg, along with many others, enjoyed a delightful dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Clark and family on Cane Run.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Will Brierly who observed their Golden Wedding anniversary on Xmas Day. Our community is so grateful to have loved ones like those. Visitors were Mrs. Lola Vice and family of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brierly, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Vice all of Little Rock.

On Xmas Day the members of the Taylor family gathered at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor King of Jacksonville and Owensboro started December 15. The towners at Beech Grove, Madisonville and Princeton would begin January 3. The tower at Grand Rivers will be started January 17 and the one at Paducah, January 31.

The contract for the construction of the radio relay buildings has been awarded to the Guy Johnson Lumber and Supply Company of Steubenville, Ohio.

Although all the buildings will be constructed simultaneously, the starting dates will vary slightly. The first work started November 10.

Radio relay tower contract awarded

The contract for the construction of the towers on the Louisville-Frederick radio relay system has been awarded to the Flint Steel Corp. of Tulsa, Oklahoma, C. A. Harris, Southern Bell Manager said today.
