ANNOUNCEMENT

FROM W. R. KNIGHT, MGR.

CARLISLE MILL & SUPPLY CO.

Dear Friend and Customer:

Since it is impossible to write to each one of you personally—as I would like to do—I am using this space to announce reluctantly that I am retiring from active business and that the Company will be liquidated in the immediate future.

As you know, I have been in business for more than half a century—the last 30-odd years here in Carlisle. Naturally, it is with real and deep regret that, for reasons of health, I must steer a long and enjoyable business career to an end and close the business.

That I cherish the friendships made over the years goes without saying—and I certainly feel that my customers have been friends as well as customers. Your patronage and friendship have been appreciated more than I can say.

I hope to be able to spend a short time each day at the office, but whether I am there or not, you know you are always welcome to call. If I can be of any help with your feeding problems, or, next Spring, with your seeding or fertilizer problems, please feel free to call me at home or office.

Now, as you undoubtedly know, one of the big problems in closing out any business is collecting the accounts. We must get these all settled before the Mill can finally be liquidated.

So the next time you're in town, if you have an account with us that is still unpaid, I would appreciate it if you would drop by the Mill. If it is inconvenient for you to stop by, give us a call and we'll tell you the status of your account and you can mail us a check.

Incidentally, because of the move we are making, the Mill will have to operate on a strictly cash basis after January 15.

Many thanks for your valued friendship and patronage, and may God bless you and bring you every success and happiness in the New Year.

Sincerely,

W. R. KNIGHT

The mystery farm pictured last week has been identified by the farm owner R. W. Neal as his farm located on the Walnut Grove road.
