PUBLIC SALE

on

Sat., Jan. 31 at 10:30 fast time

on the premises

We have been authorized by Mrs. Edward Parsons Jr. to offer her farm of 59 acres for sale, located about 6 miles north east of Carlisle on the Locust Grove road, and near the Locust Grove Church Improvements consist of a two story 7-room home, with large closed-in back porch, good cistern on the porch, a good 3-bent combination tobacco and good tobacco barn, with plenty of tobacco sticks, meat house, garage, brooder house, corn crib, stripping room, hen house and other out buildings. Electricity in both house and barn. All buildings in good state of repair.

The farm is practically all in grass, good strong limestone land, extra good tobacco and grazing farm, plenty of water and good fence. Tobacco base is 1½ acres.

Anyone desiring a nice home, with good land, don't overlook this opportunity. Be there on day of sale.

Immediately after the sale of the Parsons farm, we will sell for Clay Clinkenbeard, 44 acres of land joining the land of Mrs. Parsons. This farm has a 2-room home, a 3-bent tobacco barn. All in grass, but tobacco base, which is ½ acre. This is good strong land with plenty of water. Anyone wanting more land—this farm would work in ideally with the Parsons farm and both places would give a 2 acre tobacco base with an extra set of buildings.

Following the sale of the farm land, we will sell the following personal property for Mrs. Parsons 4 or5 bbl. corn, 1 John Deere Mowing Machine, 1 harrow, sled, plows, steel barrels, oil barrel, lawn mower, lots of other items too numerous to mention.

Anyone wishing to look the property over before day of sale, will be shown by the owners or selling agents.

Terms reasonable and will be made known on day of sale

Emma Lou George attends meeting

Emma Lou George, State Secretary of Kentucky Future Homemakers of America, attended an Executive Council meeting of the organization at Mammoth Cave Hotel from Jan. 22 through the 24.

The purpose of the meeting was to plan the 1959 State Meeting of the Kentucky Future Homemakers of America, to be held in Lexington June 8-10.

She was accompanied by the advisor of Carlisle Chapter of Future Homemakers of America, Mrs. William F. Threlkeld.

Mrs. Letton named Easter Seal chairman

Mrs. Harold R. Letton of Carlisle will serve as chairman of the 1959 Easter Seal appeal for crippled children in Nicholas County, according to an announcement by George B. Kavanaugh, Lexington, state chairman.

The 1959 appeal will open on March 9 and continue through March 29. Easter Sunday. Contributions received in answer to Easter Seal letters will be used to finance the statewide program for physically handicapped children carried on by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children. This year Easter Seals will be mailed to approximately 480,000 Kentuckians.

During 1958 the Society provided direct services for 3,877 children and adults, plus indirect services for an additional 3,375 persons. This statewide program cost the Society $273,696, of which $234,856 was raised through Easter Seals.

The money was used to provide hospital and medical care, therapy, special schooling and hearing and speech services for children throughout Kentucky

School caretakers have important place too

Each of us may be prone to take some things for granted. We accept the fact that our schools are good and that we are ever striving to make them better But where do we begin praising those who are responsible for the good schools? The conscientious, well-informed teacher is essential and there must also be the pupils, but neither will sit in a cold, unlighted school room. It would endanger the health of both pupils and teacher. Therefore, at the very foundation of a good school system is the person or persons who keeps the building clean, orderly, repaired, heated, sees that the electricity is on and that there is water.

Let's meet the persons who look after our school buildings and equipment. Mrs. Malinda
