School trip to New York

one we stayed in and it was very nice. It was so big quite a few of the students got lost. Pittsburg is a nice city. The first night we walked around and returned to our hotel to watch television. The next morning the four junior girls went all out and had breakfast in bed. Leaving Pittsburg at eight-thirty for New York, we immediately got on the Pennsylvania turnpike. The turnpike had eight tunnels and fifty-two overpasses. The second day we ate at a Howard Johnson on the turnpike. As we neared New York we got on the New Jersey Turnpike.

Our first glimpse of New York wasn't so great. We were tied up in traffic for some time trying to get to the Holland Tunnel. The tunnel was about two miles long and under water. Half-way through we entered New York state. The next things we saw were ships and apartment houses. Then came the worst thing of all. We passed a fish market and it stunk so bad we could hardly breathe for some time. Our hotel in New York was located on 48th street. It was called the Shelton Towers. Compared to our last hotel it was a dump. The paint was half off the walls, the bathroom was dirty, and the beds were terrible. I had a cot which had a broken leg. When I got in it, it folded up. Immediately after we got settled it started raining. This ruined the whole night. The next morning we got on a bus at nine o'clock for an all day tour of New York. First we saw the St. John's Cathedral. It will be the largest in the world when it is completed and it is made of wood with no steel in its parts. Then we saw Central Park. We didn't stop too many times, but a lot of places were pointed out to us. Next we went to the U. N. building. There we had fifteen minutes to look around the building. There wasn't much to see except for the room where all the meetings take place. Hurrying back to the bus we traveled to a restaurant call Monty's on the East Side. The dinner was part of the tour and costs $1.70. After dinner we toured the main part of New York. We saw Macy's, apartments that rented for $40,000 a year, Time Square, Greenwich Village, and Wall Street. We didn't stop at any of these places, but just got a glance at them. The next main place we came to was the Bowery. Here drunks lived and slept on the streets. It was a very depressing sight. The next stop we made was China Town. We explored a shop and several people bought articles. The shop was scented with perfumes and was very small. This one was on a side street and not one of the best. After seeing China Town we returned to the bus and went to the dock to take the boat trip to the Statue of Liberty. It took fifteen minutes to get to the statue. Many climbed the statue all the way, but some gave out since the quarters were close and it was very stuffy. After a forty-five minute stay on the island we returned to the boat. Coming back to shore the sights were beautiful. The skyline was marvelous. The Empire State Building was in sight and it was our next stop. We returned to our bus when we got back to shore and journeyed to the Empire State Building. Almost everyone went to the top which was 102 stories. From the observation tower we could see all of New York. The view was beautiful and one that we couldn't forget. This ended our tour of New York so we returned to our hotel. After getting refreshed, some of us decided we wanted to see a play. It was too late; so we went to Radio City instead. There we saw the famous Rockettes. The feature for the night was several acts from Switzerland. They had dancers, singers, and skaters. While the show was going on the orchestra played. The scenery and costumes were beautiful and amazing. This was all of the live show. The movie was Count Your Blessings. Leaving before it was over, we got a cab easily and returned to our hotel. The next morning we left New York at eight-thirty. Leaving by the Lincoln Tunnell we got on the Jersey Turnpike and started south. We stopped in Delaware and ate dinner at a cafeteria. After we got down the road about six miles one of the students remembered she had left her coat at the cafeteria. Losing time we had to turn around and go back.

The next place we came to was Baltimore. Around it we saw the Chesapeake Bay, Harpers Ferry, and John Hopkins hospital in town. We arrived in Lexington, Virginia, Saturday night about eight. Since we ate supper at Howard Johnsons before we got there most of us went to the movie to see the Shaggy Dog. The hotel we stayed in was the Robert E. Lee and it was very nice after our New York hotel. We left Lexington at eight o'clock on Sunday morning. Traveling over some very rough mountains, a couple of girls got sick and we had to stop for a minute. We arrived in Charlestown, West Virginia at one-thirty. We stopped for forty-five minutes and ate lunch. This was the last stop of our trip before we got home. We pulled into Carlisle about fifteen minutes to seven. The town was full of parents and friends waiting to welcome us home. We had gone through nine states: Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia. Even though we had enjoyed our trip, Carlisle looked good to everyone.

Chevy pickup pulls through "bottomless" pastures to keep stock fed!

At the Hall Bros. Dairy Farm, Montgomery, Ala., they say this 4-wheel drive Chevy will go anywhere to keep stock well—even through hub-deep muck that makes it a fight all the way. And yet after a full year of it—no mechanical trouble of any kind!

That Chevy pickup may not win any beauty awards (till it's cleaned up). But it's sure walking off with the top prize for dependability. And that's standard Chevrolet procedure. Put a Chevy truck to work and it keeps on working until you say quit. Not before.

We aren't claiming that every Chevrolet truck is turning out to be a miracle-worker and averaging 100,000 miles before a valve job. (Even though some are going 150,000!) You're sure to find, however, that you can't buy more truck dependability at any price. And that's borne out by the fact that more truck owners put their faith, and their payloads, in Chevrolets than in any other make.

Take your load and schedule figures to your Chevrolet dealer. He'll specify the best way to handle both and save in the bargain.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck! CHEVROLET

Now's the time—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for a real truck buy!

Idle row width noted by ASC chairman

Farmers in Nicholas county who are considering leaving strips of idle or fallow land in an alternate row arrangement with tobacco rows were reminded by H. S. Vice, Chairman of the County ASC Committee, that the strips of idle or fallow land must be as wide as, or wider, than four normal rows of tobacco to be deducted from the tobacco acreage.

A "normal row" is described by Mr. Vice, as being at least 36 inches wide or the actual distance between the rows of tobacco on the farm whichever is wider. Mr. Vice said that anyone planning to leave idle or fallow strips of ground in the tobacco field should contact the County ASC officer before setting tobacco.

All-day festival at Paris May 30

On Memorial Day, Saturday, May 30, the Bourbon County Farm Bureau and the Paris Bourbon County Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring an all-day Festival at the Garrard Memorial Park in Paris.

The calendar of events includes over twenty activities during the day.

The festivities will be inaugurated at ten in the morning with a coon drag down the Main street of Paris and finishing in the Park. All coon dog men are urged to enter their hounds in this event to compete for three valuable prizes.

Among the other activities will be a base ball game pitting the County Little Leaguers against the City Little Leaguers. This event is scheduled at eleven in the morning.

From one thirty till five thirty in the afternoon will be the plug horse derby with para mutual betting and from five till seven thirty the feature event will be a playday.

Evening festivities will include a band concert, round and square dancing, singing and two County wide beauty contests.

One of the main features of the day will be an old fashioned Court Day swapping area, similar to the one held in Mt. Sterling. Traders from all over this area are invited to attend the Festival and bring their trading goods with them.

There will be no admission charge to the Festival and valuable door prizes will be given away every hour from eleven a.m. till eight p.m.

Among the other events continuing all day will be a dunking board, pony ride, a contest to count the beans in a large container, carnival rides for the children, a military display, a hole in one golf range, a contest to see who can most nearly identify twenty different types of seeds and a Memorial Retreat Ceremony at sun set.

This is an opportunity for a lot of fun, fellowship and excitement without having to drive too far on crowded holiday highways. Everyone within easy driving distance at Paris is cordially invited to attend.
