Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include (571:15): "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Mrs. J. S. Wilson will receive her A.B. degree in Elementary Education. She began teaching in 1946 when there was such an extreme shortage of teachers. Here first two years were spent at Moorefield and since 1953 she has been teaching at East Union School. Her grades have included the 3, 4, and 5 until this past year when she taught the second instead of the third.

To her students there is no one like "Miss Marjorie." She is to be commended upon her interest in her work and her students. Congratulations to her for completion of all the hard work that goes into getting a college degree.

She began her teaching profession in 1929 after completion of one year and then two summer terms at Bowling Green. After a period of being at home to rear her daughter, Mrs. Feeback returned to substitute teaching and finished out the school year 1958 at Nicholas County High. For the past three years she has been the first grade teacher at Nicholas County Grade. Her students call her "Miss Lucille" and with her, they get off to a good start in school work.

Mrs. Feeback also has the unique distinction of having her daughter, Martha Sue, graduating with a B.S. degree in Home Economics from Morehead State Teachers College.

The U. S. Army has learned what women have known all along That it costs more to clothe a woman than a man

The initial clothing allowance for an enlisted man is $106.20 but for a Wac it is $232.36. Now that the United States Army admits it costs more and has been recorded into the records of the House Appropriations Committee for all to see, a poor husband must except it without question

We have been getting some information on the forthcoming Census You know 1960 is the year You might be interested to know that you will just be a magnetic dot on a piece of tape somewhere in the Census Bureau In 1950 you were a hole in a punched card But that's horse-and-buggy times compared to the gleaming new electronic machine on which the entire population of the United States can pass in review at a rate of about 2,000 persons per minute and come out tabulated by sex, race and age

VOICE FROM OUTER SPACE. Rocketing through outer space, a satellite "goes on the air." Though you and I can't pick up this "voice," scientists at receiving stations are eagerly waiting to hear the messages. This communication from far beyond the earth is made possible by a remarkable invention—the transistor—developed through research by telephone people. It's the same tiny amplifier now being used in such everyday items as radios and hearing aids. They're also used in more and more new telephone equipment, and will play a big part in tomorrow's better telephone service.
