Farm Coop Story Widely Misunderstood

Kentucky Farm Bureau is not in the farm supply cooperative business, but over the years, your organization has worked closely with various farm-owned cooperatives...

We all bear farmers, for example, who say that prices in some areas should be...

The soft ice cream industry, now sweeping the United States, offers countless people an ideal chance to experience a chance to become independent...

Another serious misconception is that coops don't pay taxes. Coops, however, pay the same taxes as any other business...

The annual fund raising appeal of the National Foundation will be known in January, 1960, as the "New March of Dimes..."

Final appeal for donations to library fund

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The statewide campaign to raise funds for the Eisenhower Presidential Library will end Nov. 15, but county chairman for the drive will have until Nov. 20 to complete their canvases and report donations to Fred R. Wachs, Kentucky Chairman for the Eisenhower Presidential Library Commission.

The state commission seeks contributions from 100 Kentuckians. Through Nov. 3, contributions had been received from only 34 residents of the state.

Many farm people are concerned that the rural electric cooperatives are a part of the public power system. This is not true...

Another serious misconception is that coops don't pay taxes. Coops, however, pay the same taxes as any other business...
