CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The supreme power of God will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.
Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" is the Golden text from Psalms (68: 8, 9): "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved."
Selections to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include this statement of the supremacy of God, Soul: "God is infinite, the only Life, substance, Spirit, or Soul, the only intelligence of the universe, including man." (320:11-12).
From the King James Version of the Bible, the following will be read: "Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty" (Psalm 104: 1).

FARM BUREAU in Action

By CH Fields
Kentucky Farm Bureau Fed.

Farm Bureau Gets Ready For Legislative Year

With our 40th convention now history, your Farm Bureau turns its attention now to 1960. And 1960 promises to be a most active year for the organization.

During their annual business session, the delegates from the county Farm Bureaus voted to hold a special session sometime early in 1960 to give full consideration to the report of the State Study Committee, which recently made a series of recommendations for improving and expanding Farm Bureau's program, structure, and finances. This promises to be one of the most crucial Farm Bureau meetings in recent years, and could largely determine the future course of the organization at the county and state level.

With the adoption of resolutions on state issues, and recommendations on national issues, the county delegates determined Farm Bureau's legislative program in Frankfort during the 1960 session of the General Assembly. In addition, county leaders attended a special legislative breakfast at the convention, in which detailed plans were outlined for increasing the effectiveness of Farm Bureau's legislative action in the year ahead.

This legislative action will include a number of goals, and a great many of them will be of public interest and benefit, as well as to farm people. Two examples of this type of Farm Bureau legislative goal will be support of a three percent sales tax to provide additional money for public schools; and action to investigate the administration of welfare funds in the state, plus the removal of secrecy from these lists at the local level.

Undoubtedly a major goal of Farm Bureau this coming year will be legislative authority for the construction and financing of a proposed Agricultural Science Center at the University of Kentucky. This project already has the support of practically every agricultural group in the state as well as a number of business and professional organizations. In addition, Farm Bureau has secured a pledge from newly-elected Commissioner of Agriculture Beauchamp that the fight will continue at full speed to eradicate brucellosis—the number one threat to our growing livestock and dairy industry.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, November 19
Read John 6:19
There is a lad here, who hath five barley loaves and two fishes. (John 6:9, ASV.)

With the multitude a lad had come to hear Jesus. After a while he became hungry and began to think how enjoyable the lunch he had brought with him would be.

But Jesus had need of the lad's five barley cakes and two fishes. He would use them to feed the great multitude that had come to listen to Him. The boy gave his willingly to Jesus, believing that the Master had need of it. Small as it was, the lad had brought something Jesus could use.

Each of us has something Jesus can use. Do we give it willingly? As meager as we may feel our gifts and talents to be, Jesus has need of them. It may seem very small at the time, but the gift given willingly and with Christ's blessing may go on and on. We may never know how far-reaching it will be. Before it has finished its mission on earth, it may help five thousand!

Are we still receiving of the little boy's gifts of the loaves and the fishes?

PRAYER: Dead Father, help us to overcome our feeling of inadequacy for Thy service. Help us willing to bring to Christ and give to Him all that we are able to bring. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Our Lord has need of us and our gifts. — Bessie Saunders Spencer (Arizona)

Ohio River dam to give state better fishing

Frankfort, Nov. 18—Three dams being constructed by the federal government to improve navigation on the Ohio River also will improve fishing and waterfowl hunting in Kentucky, says the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The agency reports that these high dams, to be completed in a few years, will back up water 252 miles from the Markland Dam, under construction near Warsaw, to the present Gallipolis Dam, near Ashland.

The department explains: The Markland Dam will impound 95 miles of water to the tailwaters of the New Richmond Dam, which in turn will back up the water 85 miles to the tailwaters of the Greenup Dam. The Greenup Dam will back the water up 62 miles to the Gallipolis structure.

Also, says the department, several tributaries on the Kentucky and Ohio sides of the river will be made deeper by the impoundments. For instance, the Licking River will get higher waters for several miles. The Big Sandy will be backed up about 22 miles and new waters will be added to the Little Sandy. Many other streams will be swelled and hundreds of acres of flatlands will be inundated.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers is buying land to be covered and the Kentucky agency is working with the engineers in making plans for fish and wildlife improvements to be initiated.

The department predicts: "With the completion of the high level Ohio River dams and the Kentucky, Barkley, Buckhorn and Nolin Reservoirs, Kentucky can truly be called 'the land of the new waters.'"

UK MED SCHOOL HAS 1,200 APPLICATIONS

More than 200 persons have applied thus far for admission to the University of Kentucky's College of Medicine and applications are still coming in at the rate of about 20 per week.

Dr. Robert Straus, chairman of the department of behavioral science and head of the College's admissions committee, said thus far 15 applicants, all from Kentucky, have been formally recommended to the school. Other applications are pending.

Qualified Kentucky residents are being given preference in compliance with the College's policy, Dr. Straus added. However, some well-qualified out-of-state residents will be admitted to each class as a means of attracting additional physicians to Kentucky.

What Can You Do When Parents Say 'No'?

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS
By C. D. Smith

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I am a girl 14, going on 15. My mother lets me go with this one boy and I don't like him much because he doesn't call or come to see me like he used to. He said he still liked me and there is a boy that likes me and he calls me a lot and wants a date. But I have to turn him down because mother won't let me go with him. She said that he was not sure and that I had to go with this other boy. What should a girl do when her mother is like that?"

ANSWER: Respect your mother's wishes, and, more important, let Dr. Smith's parents insist on you choosing their dates or friends for them.

As we have said before, we don't think it is possible to set an age say 15, and say that a teenager is "old enough" to date. Too many things have to be considered where individual cases are concerned.

Perhaps some parents try to "choose" their children's dates and their friends. The majority, however, don't because they merely insist that their children select friends and dates who are of good character and reputation. When they turn thumbs down on a particular boy or girl they usually have an excellent reason for doing so.

ADDITIONAL SUGGESTION: Young lady don't let any boy "bowl you over" by constant attention and telephone calls. It's flattering, sure—that's why he operates that way. Only by keeping a level head can you determine if he is the type of boy you want to "date" and to have for a friend.

If you have a teenage problem you want Mr. Smith to answer, write to him, address your letter to him in care of this paper, and mail it to P.O. BOX 75, CINCINNATI 1, OHIO. NO STAMPED SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE NEED BE ENCLOSED. TRANSPORT.

COMMENT

Kay T. Fisher

Seems Commerce has become a now you see it, now you don't item. Last week we made it but with it's position changed Anyway it filled a space and I'm not sensitive

Apparently I am ten years behind. Usually money goes through my hands so quickly I don't notice a change in the sign. However today I noticed two fifty cent pieces One with the eagle on one side and Liberty sunrise, woman and date 1947 on the other The other coin had Benjamin Franklin's profile and date, 1960 on one side and on the other the Liberty Bell etc The question is what year did they change

On Tuesday the temperature was a cold 16 degrees at 7 a.m at our house As I came to work I noticed most of the men had donned overcoats for the first time this season On Nov 17 1950 the temperature rose to an all time high of 84 degrees
