FARM BUREAU in Action
by Clifford Kentucky Farm Bureau Fed.

Open Letter To Both Political Parties

To Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon:
Like everyone else, we farmers love to be wooed. As a matter of fact, every four years we sort of look forward to a rematch of that old American game, "Wooing The Farm Vote."

As we can see by watching television and reading the papers, this year will be no different than any other election year. We have read the farm planks of both the Democratic and Republican conventions, and don't see much new in either one, when it comes to the so-called farm problem. We do see some mention of some programs we don't want, such as direct payment plans, food stamp plans, and so forth.

Now we don't take too much of this carrying-on very seriously, because we have lost a lot of faith in any farm program that is hatched in a political brooder house. With just a few simple steps which could be taken by the Congress, we could get our own house in order and leave you free to deal with the Castros and Khrushchevs and other important matters.

One thing does disturb us. Why do you find it necessary to appoint farm committees to advise you on farm programs? Why is it necessary to hold special conferences of "farm experts" to find out what farmers want in the way of a farm program?

Farm Bureau does have to considerable trouble to write a farm program, and it does come from our rank-and file membership. Some three-fourths of every four organized farmers belong to our organization, and we think all you need to do is sit down and read our official policies. They are fairly clear and concise, and will tell you exactly what role we think the Government should play in getting farmers back on the right road.

By the way, what makes you think that Midwest governors are farm experts? Farmers aren't too much interested in placing blame for past mistakes. After all, Democratic-controlled sessions of Congress, and, the Republican Administration have been equally responsible for farm programs of the past. What we are interested in now is a calm and considered look at the economic facts with sensible solutions based on these facts.

Get someone to care for your plants when you go on vacation. Two or three weeks of neglect at this time of year may mean the loss of many good flowers.

Snake root blood pressure treatment

A drug by the imposing name of Rauwolfia, and the homey nickname of "Indian snake root," is one of the major weapons with which doctors are fighting high blood pressure these days.

But it is only one of the many drugs being so employed. Actually the fact that there is now in use an array of medicines to treat this ailment, which physicians call "hypertension," is considered one of the greatest advances in medical science in the past 10 years.

According to the Kentucky Heart Association, whose annual Heart Fund drive helps finance ever-further research into all kinds of heart and blood vessel diseases, drugs now give physicians the means to bring almost all cases of high blood pressure under control. That is, of course, if the patient co-operates fully.

High blood pressure is estimated to affect at least five million and maybe as many as 15 million Americans. In most cases its cause isn't known. Basically it adds to the work of the arteries, causing the heart to pump with increased force. Over the years this can result in heart strain. The heart may enlarge and its efficiency may thus be lessened. The blood pressure may also become so high that it may weaken the arteries or hasten the onset of "atherosclerosis" —hardening of the arteries.

By such means as lessening nervous tension, dilating (enlarging) the blood vessels to help ease the flow of blood, lessening the tendency of the blood vessels to constrict (narrow), and in other ways, drugs now being used help to lower elevated pressure. Since people respond to medicines in very individual ways, the physician may start at once find the drug or combination that works best in each case. Only he, however, can tell you if you have high blood pressure.

YOU NAME IT—This bird is a cross between a peacock and a game chicken which was hatched on the N. H. McKinney farm not long ago. There is another such bird on the farm, the same type as the one pictured here, but is several years younger, very wild and is the only bird hatched out of 14 eggs. The one pictured here, hatched one out of one, and came within arms reach of the cameraman which shows how tame they are while still young. The Mc-Kinney farm is on the Cynthiana, Millersburg road.

Lt. Kendall sets rifle record at Camp Perry

CAMP PERRY, OHIO—Army First Lieutenant Wesley W. Kendall of Myers, Ky., a member of the U. S. Army International Rifle Team, set a new national record here Saturday when he fired a 400 out of a possible 400 points in the prone phase of the smallbore International Free Rifle (Olympic) Match. Lt. Kendall, who placed second in the overall three-position match standing, four points behind teammate Captain T. W. W. Atwood, was one of eleven Army riflemen who won awards in the meet.

Lt. Kendall, a member of the U.S. Shooting Team in the 1960 Pan American Games, also won honors in the Hercules Trophy 50 yard team match as he and three teammates swept to victory with an impressive of 1523.

Son of Walter W. Kendall of Myers, Lt. Kendall is a 1958 graduate of the University of Tennessee and is currently assigned to the Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Babe Ruth League play ends today, community help sought

One more of the community service programs ends today with the concluding games of the Babe Ruth League regular schedule — being played this afternoon at Jackson Park.

The true story of the start of the Babe Ruth Baseball League, which has been highly successful for boys in the 13-15 age group, will probably never be known. But the people who have had children playing; all of those who acted as coaches; the men who were chosen to serve as officers; the many good people who just plain volunteered for anything they might do to help, including the man who owns the playing field, will tell you that Carlisle and Nicholas County have proved once again the meaning of cooperation and service above self.

Naturally, this is the rough year with all sorts of problems having been faced and obstacles conquered. However, there is one major difficulty still to be overcome. That is, to raise funds to pay several existing bills, all of which were accumulated in preparing the grounds for play; in buying needed items used in playing games; and in putting the ground back in its original condition as we found it. The Babe Ruth League owes about $650 with about $40 in its bank account.

So the many folks who could not for many reasons give of their time, we would like to call on them for their financial assistance. This first year of solicitors for funds is always the one that costs drive is to be completed by more because of the numerous noon Friday. When someone items that must be bought. It is hoped that now we have launched both Little League and the 8-12 yr. old boys, and the Babe Ruth League for the 13-15 yr. old boys, we can combine their operations hereafter, at least for financing, and these worthy projects will be with us on a permanent basis.

To do the job at hand, letters have been mailed to all of the following people to urge them to meet in the Court House yard Friday, August 19, at nine o'clock in the morning, where they will meet with the Babe Ruth League teams who will be to completely dressed in uniform prepared to go with each team leaders tomorrow — let's go over the top once more for the ideals we hold so dearly—let's show everyone what we can do together.

Co-Operative holds meet

Approximately 1,000 persons attended the Southern States Co-Operative's annual membership meeting and fish fry at the Nicholas County high school Friday night. Donald Holland, Lexington area representative was the speaker. Holland stated that the future of farming as a business is tied tightly to the growth of the counties. He predicted that by 1975 there will be a population of 230 million, needing 35 per cent more poultry, 63 per cent more red meat, 28 per cent more milk, 31 per cent more eggs and 57 per cent more fruit and vegetables.

Elected to the local board were Jimmie Judge and George Caffin. John Cleaver and Eugene Booth are the retiring directors. Mrs. John Cleaver and Mrs. Sam Day were elected to the local Farm Home Advisory Committee replacing Mrs. Emmett Darrell and Mrs. James Lowe. Glenn Grear, manager of the Carlisle Co-Op. reported that the local co-operative had increased net savings and more refunds would be paid to the membership than ever before.

Other highlights of the meeting included A report by Charles K. Watkins on his

Truck wrecks on U.S. 68

A truck driven by an Automobile Engine Re-Manufacturing Co employee of Columbus, Ohio, wrecked early Monday morning on U. S. 68 in the Lundgrin tract below the old Lodge house. The driver of the truck, who was not injured, was on his way to Jordan Auto Parts Co. Lexington, with a load of 29 engines weighing approximately 600 lbs each.

He stated that either a fox or coon ran across the road in front of him as he was making the curve and in an attempt not to mass the animal he ran into the embankment, damaging the cab and bed of the truck.

The truck was taken to Woody's Auto Repair and Body Shop where temporary repairs were made and the driver continued on his way.
