ENFORCEMENT SEEN FOR CONSTITUTION

A well-known Kentucky newsman, Allan Trout of the Louisville Courier-Journal, has ventured an opinion that the Kentucky Court of Appeals will begin strict enforcement of the state's constitution. A referendum to call a convention for revising the 70-year-old document was defeated in the last election. Trout indicated that enforcement of all the constitution's "archaic" provisions will cause residents to see that it should be up-dated. He ventured his opinion in a talk before junior history students at the University of Kentucky.

High school textbooks provided free by State

High school students are finding the costs of attending classes are a little cheaper this year—at least in terms of the money usually spent on books.

This fall, for the first time Kentucky's Department of Education initiated a free textbook service for public high school students. This program, operated on a budget of $540,000 appropriated by the Kentucky Legislature out of sales tax funds provides free books this year at a savings of about $7 to $8 for each student. By the time classes begin in 1964-6 it is hoped that students will receive all their books free.

The amount of money given to buy books in each school is determined by the number of students enrolled. High schools are allotted $4.10 per student this year Then Nicholas County, with a high school population of about 300, will receive a total of $1200 to buy books. This includes Carlisle independent school district.

The high school's free textbook program was initiated by Gov. Combs, as a part of his total efforts toward improving Kentucky's educational status. He termed the launching of the program this year as "one of our most satisfying steps forward."

The Governor recommended a total allotment of nearly $3 million for both the public high school and elementary school textbook programs, and this was adopted in the last meeting of the General Assembly. While Kentucky's elementary schools have been on a free textbook plan since 1934, there was never quite enough money to provide all the books needed. This is the first year that high school students have had the benefit of the program.

Mail early postal plea

In a news release to the Carlisle Mercury, Postmaster E. E. Pfanstiel is complimentary of the cooperation extended the postoffice by local patrons last year, he says:

"Many thanks for your splendid cooperation during the busy Christmas season last year. In spite of unforseen handicaps, all letters and parcels were prepared for dispatch on the day they were mailed.

"We hope of you who would like to help this year we offer the following suggestions:

"Please be sure to buy your stamps in advance and place them on your cards and letters before putting them in the box for collection.

"You can further assist by separating your cards for local (Carlisle and routes) and out of town delivery. When they are ready to be mailed, with stamps affixed in the upper right corner, be them in bundles with all addresses faced the same way Labels 14-A and 14-B are supplied without charge for your convenience in labeling the bundles. Do you may use slips of paper on which you have written, "All for Local Delivery" or "All for Out of Delivery"

"Secure a sturdy container and wrap your packages in good heavy paper and tie with cord or strong twine so that they will reach their destination in good condition. Write the name and address on one side only and place your return address in the upper left hand corner. Avoid the use of oiled or waxed paper for the outside wrapper. A card may be placed inside the package containing the name and address. A letter may be enclosed in a package if you mark on the outside "First class mail enclosed" and pay the rate for the letter plus the parcel post charge. Valuable packages should be insured.

"Any further questions regarding the proper preparation of Christmas mail should be taken up with any of the postal employees. Our aim is to give the very best postal service we can. We strive to live up to the time honored tradition of "Service with a Smile." Suggestions for the improvement of our service will be appreciated.

"Please bring your flashlights to use in case of light failure.

"Parents should come home at the hour agreed upon, or telephone if unavoidably delayed. Make suitable arrangements for seeing the sitter home."

Car, two trucks collide in Bourbon

A car and two trucks were damaged Saturday in an accident at 11 a.m. two miles from Paris on the Millersburg road.

Deputy Sheriffs Fred Boling and Reuben Armspurger said a car-driven by Mackie Hollar, 50, Carlisle, stopped to pick up a passenger and that a pickup truck passed the car and struck in the rear by a tractor-trailer truck.

The pickup was driven by William B. Graves, 24, Millersburg and the tractor-trailer driven by Dewey Gamble, 37, Lexington.

Your baby sitter should know rules of fire safety

Baby sitters have become an American institution, and if you're having one in during the coming Christmas holiday period be sure the sitter is competent. The National Board of Fire Underwriters offers these suggestions to help you keep your Christmas merry.

Know the sitter

Be sure the sitter is adequately trained, and has a sense of responsibility and likes children.

Be sure the sitter has met the children and any pets, especially the watch dog.

Be sure the sitter understands that in case of fire the children are to be taken out of the house, call the fire department and notify the parents, IN THAT ORDER.

Show the sitter all exits, and give instructions as to how to get the children out of the house in case of fire.

Instruct the sitter to keep the children out of the kitchen, if possible, and be sure that she knows that matches, electric cords, and appliances are not for children.

Provide sitter with flashlights to use in case of light failure.

Parents should come home at the hour agreed upon, or telephone if unavoidably delayed. Make suitable arrangements for seeing the sitter home.

Carlisle Church holds services in new home

The congregation of the First Christian Church held its first services Sunday in its property purchased some time ago on Locust street W. R. Buntin Jr., chairman of the church board said that most of the construction will be completed by next Sunday

Extensive repairs have been made on the building to convert it into an auditorium and educational plant. Walls of several rooms were removed to provide an auditorium with a seating capacity of approximately 175. The first floor also contains Sunday school rooms, a nursery and a fully-equipped kitchen, and the basement has three rooms for Sunday school with outside entrance

The second floor is occupied by the pastor, the Rev. Ashley Lovett, Mrs. Lovett and two daughters. Formal dedication will be held some time after the first of the year. The congregation has been meeting at Old Concord Church since it was formed last May 10.

Special session of Nicholas Court opens

The special term of Nicholas Circuit Court convened at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 6, Judge A. H. Barker, presiding.

Mrs. Warren Fisher appointed to State Committee by Gov.

Mrs. Warren Fisher, wife of Warren Fisher, editor and publisher of the Carlisle Mercury, has been appointed as a member of the Tourist and Travel Advisory Committee by Governor Bert Combs.

Mrs. Fisher succeeds Mrs. Fisher, Gov. Combs stated: "I am sure she will serve in this capacity with distinction. Your commission will be mailed later.

One of the principal aims of this administration is to place Kentucky in a leading position in the competition for tourist and travel trade. "It is vital that Kentuckians gain the additional income that a stronger tourist business can bring, and I know you are interested- in seeing that everything possible be done in this direction."

Mrs. Fisher attended a meeting at the Capitalat the House of Representatives on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss specific plans in connection with development of Kentucky's tourist facilities.

Council rejects tractor bids; to seek truck bids

At the regular December meeting of the city council, the following Councilmen were in attendance: Teddy Poe, Rector Smoot, Emory Hollar, Robert Coutney and William Harper. Minutes of the Nov. 7 meeting were read and approved without change.

Tractor Bids

Bids from five firms including two local dealers were opened by City Attorney Roger Womack and read to council members. Lowest bid was submitted by Buntin's Garage for an International tractor, tractor number 246 with loader. Next lowest bid was Harper's Garage, Ford 641 tractor with loader. Other bids ranged from a low of $3,370.77 to a high of $4,729.23. After much questioning of the merits of the bids submitted, council on the motion of Poe, seconded by Coutney, rejected all bids, shelving the purchase of a tractor until a later date.

To Ask For Truck Bids

A motion by Hollar, seconded by Smoot and carried by the council instructed a committee to write specifications for a truck to be used by the city to haul trash. Bids to be opened at the January, 1961 regular meeting.

Equipment Installed

Water Works Superintendent Oliver Vice reported to council that automatic pumping equipment required by the state fire insurance board was in operation Mr. Vice, who is also fire chief, read a letter from the state office to council complimenting them on their purchases of needed fire fighting equipment and saying that a siren alarm switches should be installed at the location of the five fire department phones.

Light Poles

Councilman Hollar reported to council that Kentucky Utilities manager, Morris Whiteley had asked him where the city wanted the aluminum light pole on Main street placed around the court house. The matter of the pole placement was shelved.

Gas Odor

Councilman Hollar also brought to the attention of members that it had been reported to him that natural gas in the city's system had no odor. A chemically induced odor is put into the system as a safety measure. Brooks Henson was instructed by council to check the chemical tank and find out why no odor was present.

Council noted a bid on an advertising system for use by the city clerk. The bid of $376 was considered high and the matter tabled.

Purchase of an air compressor scheduled for discussion was tabled.

Letter Aired

The answer to a letter purportedly written by the city on Sept. 20th to the Department of Revenue questioning the reporting of free water on an individual basis by Combs was aired by Mayor William Power. The reply from the Department of Revenue quoted section 646.01 as follows: "Where services are paid for in property, the fair market value is includible in gross income." According to Mayor Power, no one in the city's employe wrote the letter of Sept. 20th.

All bills were ordered paid with the exception of a bill for the electrical wiring installation of the automatic pumping equipment by Allen-Hinkle Co. of Lexington. The city clerk was instructed to seek an itemized statement of time and materials from the company.
