Abraham Lincoln National Historical Park is located on 110-acre Sinking Spring Farm. Once owned by the parents of Abraham Lincoln, the park is located three miles from Hodgenville on U. S. Highway 31-E.

The small cabin in which Lincoln was born is housed in a classic structure of pink granite and marble fronted by six huge doric columns. The monument is approached by 56 steps, one for each year of the Civil War

President's life.

The Kentucky Tourist and Travel Commission has been informed, that five presidents have visited the park since it was deeded to the Federal government in 1916.

Kentucky has five year 'round state parks: They are Kentucky Dam and Kentucky Lake State Park's in the western section. Lake Cumberland State Park near Jamestown, Cumberland Falls State Park near Corbin and Jennie Wiley State Park near Prestonsburg.

Clay Elected Democratic chairman

Luther Clay, prominent Nicholas County farmer, has been chosen chairman of the Nicholas County Democratic Party at a meeting of the committeemen and committeewomen of the county precincts which took place here Saturday. Miss Beulah Hughes, Nicholas circuit clerk, was re-elected secretary.

Mr. Clay has stated that he appreciates the honor, which he did not seek, of being elected to this position. He believes that one of the primary duties of the chairman of the Democratic party in Nicholas County is the building and unification of the different elements of the party and presenting a united front to the opposition. Consistent with this thinking, Mr. Clay has said that he will take no active part in the party primaries, preferring to avoid factional strife and any statements that would reflect on his impartiality.

CHS concert tonight 7:30

The next few days before the Christmas holidays will be busy ones at the city school.

On Thursday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m., the high school band and choir will present their annual Christmas concert. On Friday, December 16, at 1:30 p.m., the annual Christmas party Christmas program will be presented this year by the fifth and sixth grades under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Snelling and Miss Judy Banks with Mr. Trivette assisting. This program as always one of the season's high lights for the entire school the Carlisle city school. Friday night, the Musketeers will battle St. Agatha in a basketball game in the Carlisle Gym.

Tuesday, December 20, a Christmas movie will be shown in the student body this film is brought to the schools by the Southern Fuel Company through Charlie Harris, district manager, from Paris.

Wednesday, December 21, will be the big day for the students. An assembly program will be given in the auditorium for the entire school. After the program, the students from the elementary school will go back to their rooms for Christmas programs and exchange of gifts. The high school will hold its exchange under the direction of the Student Council Commission by Governor Bert T. Combs.

Gov. Combs told the committee which met in the House of Representatives Chamber that no other state has ever spent so much at one time to develop a parks system, adding that Kentucky's immediate goal is to be the finest in the nation.

"This is a program made with the people of Kentucky uppermost in mind. We are going to build, not just Kentucky parks, but parks for Kentuckians," the Governor said.

Committee members heard Henry Ward, Commissioner of Highways, Ed Fox, Commissioner of Parks and Charles E. Adams, Executive Director of the Forest and Travel Commission present brief addresses. Introductions were given John Ed Pierce, Louisville, and Herndon Evans, Lexington, members of the Parks Board Commission, who made brief appearances at the speaker's stand.

Five newly created parks are Dough River Dam in Grayson and Breckinridge counties, Buckhorn Lake in Perry County, Greenbo Lake in Greenup and Boyd Counties, Falmouth Lake in Pendleton County and the Big Bone Lick in Boone County. Governor Combs pointed out that parks development
