Phone Company celebrates 80th anniversary

A business which was considered by many to be selling a novelty when it first opened its doors, recently celebrated its 80th anniversary

The business is Southern Bell Telephone Company and the "novelty" it began selling was the telephone

It was just three years after Alexander Graham Bell had invented the telephone when Southern Bell was organized on Dec. 20, 1879, with 1,246 telephones in 11 Southern cities. These included Wilmington and Raleigh, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Augusta and Savannah, Ga., and Mobile, Ala. The other five were in Virginia, not now served by Southern Bell.

Today, Southern Bell serves more than 518,000 telephones in 176 exchanges in Kentucky. Also, there are 48 independent and non-Bell companies and 174 independent exchanges which operate more than 163,600 telephones in Kentucky.

C. A. Harris, Southern Bell manager here said the Carlisle exchange was first put in service in 1926 Prior to that it was a part of the Cumberland Telephone Co., Southern Bell acquiring all Cumberland properties in 1926. At that time G. E. Duncan was the local manager

Today, there are 1478 telephones in the Carlisle exchange, the manager revealed, with the company's greatest growth having come since World War II.

It took 67 years to reach the first two million Southern Bell telephones, but only 13 years to gain nearly five million more telephones.

Here in the Carlisle exchange, 583 telephones have been added since 1949. Harris stated, reflecting the economic strides in the area in post-war years.

"On this our company's 80th anniversary, we are proud to have had a part in the economic progress of the Carlisle area," Harris said "From all indications, the future will bring even greater progress and prosperity and we are prepared to meet the demands for telephone service that will come"

NEW OFFICERS of the Nicholas County Utopia club. Charles Watkins, president, Mrs. Shelley Gaunce, secretary and treasurer, and Ewell Clinkenbeard, vice president, look over notes taken at the Jan. 8 meeting when they were installed. They were elected at the annual News Years meeting held at Rock Haven on Jan. 2.

Finally

As someone said, 'finally Ted Inskeep has gotten most of the Christmas decorations down.' T. L. spent about two hours Tuesday night swaying in mid-air atop a ladder cutting hog rings in an effort to clear the city's streets of forlorn floral reging. His help, two landbound creatures, who profess dizziness at most any height.

ACP sign up time again

It's time to sign up again in the Agricultural Conservation Program, says H. S. Vice, Chairman of the Nicholas County ASC Committee. Farmers of Nicholas County have an opportunity again to cooperate with the farmers of other counties and states in strengthening the Nation by improving the country's ability to produce food and fiber

He said that the following conservation practices have been approved for Nicholas County for 1960.

Practices Primarily for Establishment of Permanent Protective Cover

A-2 Establishing permanent grass-legume seeding for soil protection

A-4 Applying liming material on farmland for soil improvement

A-5 Establishing a strip cropping system

A-7 & A-8 Planting trees or shrubs for forestry, or erosion control

Practices Primarily for Protection of Established Cover

B-1 Improving cover on permanent pasture or hay fields

B-5 Constructing wells

B-6 Developing springs

B-7 Constructing ponds

B-8 Installing pipe lines and water storage facilities

B-10 Improving a stand of forest trees

Practices Primarily for Conservation and Disposal of Water

C-1 Establishing sod waterways

C-2 Seeding gullies, dams, and field borders

C-4 Constructing diversion ditches

C-10 Installing tile drainage systems

C-14 Constructing ponds for irrigation

E-2 Establishing contour farming of row crops on sloping land

Part or all of the Federal cost-sharing for an approved practice may be advanced in the form of materials or services furnished through the program. CM: available through the p. gram include lime, fertilizers, earth moving services for constructing ponds.

Soil tests will be required to determine the need of lime and fertilizer in Practices A-2, A-4 and B-1.

The 1960 Program is open to all farmers and any farmer of Nicholas County who would like to use the ACP to help him conserve the soil on his farm and improve the productivity of his land should call at the County ASC office located in the basement of the court house.

Farmers who cooperate in the 1960 ACP will be helping to build up the Nation's soil reserves, says Mr. Vice. Not only will they be protecting the Nation's soil and water resources against erosion and waste, but they will be building into the soil a resistance to erosion as well as storing up production potential in the land.

With the Nation's farm plant now geared to produce ample supplies of most major foods there is no need for any increase in the acreages of the important grains and cultivated field crops.

Annual C of C dinner January 21; C. H. Enix elected president

The annual Carlisle-Nicholas County Chamber of Commerce dinner will be held for members and their wives Thursday night, Jan. 21 at 6:30 o'clock at the Masonic Hall. Members of the Eastern Star will serve the meal.

C. H. Enix, newly elected president of the organization, asks that all members return reservation cards sent them earlier this week so that the proper number of meals may be prepared.

Mr. Enix stressed attendance of directors to monthly meetings as a point he would enforce during his tenure. If at all possible he would make the organization better during 1960, and to do this it is imperative that directors and members attend all meetings, he said.

The last Thursday of each month was selected as the meeting date, time 7:45 p.m. in the basement of the post-office.

Membership during 1959 fell to 47 in number. Mr. Enix appointed the following to a membership committee to solicit potential members: Jack Morrison, chairman, James Gill, Julian Green, Elmer Dansier, Wayne Gaunce and Warren Fisher.

Committee for arrangements for the annual dinner were Morris Whiteley, chairman, Jack Morrison and Dan Rich.

Food Sale

On Saturday, Jan 16, at the Kentucky Utilities office at 8:30 a.m. the Mothers will workers, participating in the Mothers' March will hold a food sale for the March of Dimes. Each worker is expected to contribute food to this sale.

Fish & Game club to meet

The Club will hold its regular monthly meeting this Friday night at the Club house on the Hickory Ridge Road. All members are urged to attend as oyster stew will be served.

The Directors of the Nicholas County Fish & Game Club met last week and outlined plans for this year.

The following committees were named:

Quail—Paul Smoot, W. J. Clark, James H. Williams, Berry Wilson.

Coon — Richard Grimes, Junior Herrington, Adrain Anderson, Floyd Ham.

Fish — Maurice Cameron, James Buckler, James Anderson, James Whirles.

Dairy meeting to be held Thursday

A dairy meeting for producers of whole milk will be held in the County Court House on Thursday afternoon, January 14 at 1:00 p.m., slow time, County Agent, Wm. T. Straw, announces.

Ed Troutman, Field Agent in Dairying from the University of Kentucky, will attend and discuss problems affecting whole milk producers. A simple method for determining production records for herd and individual cows will be explained. Pasture and hay development, especially for dairy production, will be discussed.

A visit to the wailing-wall on to modern farms of Israil

by W. R. Raborn

I kept putting off the leaving of the old city of Jerusalem. Each day I would ask Mr. Rose, the superintendent of the St. George Hostel, if I could stay on another day, and he would check and hedel (tell) me "I think that will be possible". There is something about Jerusalem that made me want to stay on and on. However, the day finally came and I started out for the Mandelbaum Gate. It was only about three blocks from the hostel and I walked. The way led past the American Consulate so I stopped there to check and see that everything had been arranged for my passage through the Gate, as I had asked them to do the day before. The hostility between Jordan and Israel makes one wonder about going at all.

They told me that everything was in order—so off I went and found the men in the customs house very courteous and helpful. Walking across no-man's land gives one an eerie feeling. The buildings are in ruins. You know that at any other spot on this strip of land you would be shot from both sides. The walk is not more than a block or two—but it seems a rather long way.

At the customs house on the side the men came out and helped me carry my luggage, stamped my passport, called a taxi for me and called the tourist office and told the driver where to meet me at the door and pay my fare until I could get some Israeli money for my American dollars. One is not allowed to take any Israeli money into the country or to bring any out.

At the tourist office in the New city of Jerusalem, the man there got my money changed—showed me how to get to Mt. Zion and David's tomb, King David's Hotel, Hebrew University, St. Andrew's Church and hostel (that is Scotland) and other things of interest in the new city.

I climbed Mt. Zion and have a certificate in Hebrew and English to prove it. I had to buy a skull cap to wear up to David's tomb as a man is not allowed to go there with his head uncovered. There are a lot of cashless burning around the tomb, on the walls outside and inside. There were many people having picnics, around the place. I went on up to the observation tower and looked back into the old city from where I had come that morning. An elderly Jewess was almost crying as she kept asking everyone. "Where is the wailing wall?" I was glad that I was able to show her where it was—although you could not actually see it for the buildings around it (it is part of the foundations of the Dome of the Rock and was a part of the foundation of the Herodian Temple). When I told her that I had been at the wall the day before she looked at me oddly and asked, "Are you a Christian?" When I told her yes and that I had prayed for the Jews while I was standing by the wall she gave me a wonderful smile and went off down the steps, happy.

Israeli Jerusalem is a modern, bustling city. One sees up-to-date books, magazines, and
