I'm Much Obliged to You.

Friends, please do not bring me any more reading material until you hear "All's clear, go ahead." With so much interesting reading, really I'm neglecting quite a number of 1959 Christmas letters. I appreciate the your thoughtfulness so very much and thank you sincerely for stocking my "library" for some gasoline and the gasoline months to come.

Anything Can Happen.

I have a Nicholas County friend who has a sister living in Lorain, Ohio. A short while before Christmas the second J. child, a baby girl, came to bless the Ohio family and, don't you know, the little buggar brought but they are extremely rare, so use in case of emergency. Such things have happened before the records say.

Jerry Went and Left.

Mort, if not all, Shopworth Nicholas county are sorry to note the absence of Jerry, their courtlier, suitable delivery boy, these past two weeks. Only a boy, in a married man, he got tired delivering groceries so signed up to Serve His Country, leaving Carlisle more than a week ago. I do not know yet just who will take over the delivery job —Wayne, one of the bosses himself, came this way last weekend, doing a mighty good job. His efficient helper was young Jeffrey Tyrer (Bessie introduced us), a fine young gentleman, but he is far too busy with readin', writin' and 'rithmetic to bother with such things as groceries, only on Saturdays. Ah, shucks, anyway, I do not know where Jerry went. He is just gone and that's that, so here is wishing him the best of luck. However, we shall miss him terribly.

Rev. Moore, of the College of the Bible, Lexington, showed slides and talked of his work in Puerto Rico Sunday evening at the Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Jones attended the funeral and burial of their old neighbor and life-long friend, Horace (Doc) Bell at the Mathers funeral home Saturday afternoon. The Bells lived in the old Jones homestead in Bourbon county. It was a familiar sight to see the Bells coming to spend a day or evening with the Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gilvin, Harrodsburg, spent the past week with Mrs. J. H. Bronaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Reid and daughter, Mrs. Nancye Reid, Miss Sallye Reid, Mt. Sterling, were guests of Mrs. Addie Reid Sunday afternoon. Mrs. James Judge also called and brought Mrs. Reid a bouquet of beautiful Christmas Lilies.

Miss Pansy Ring was on the sick list several days the past week suffering from a very severe sore throat.

Kash House's home was destroyed by fire around noon Saturday. He was not at home and when friends and neighbors arrived they were unable to get in on account of smoke and everything he had was burned. The Christian Church is giving him a shower Sunday morning, Jan. 24. The clothes he was wearing are all he has left, so anything will be acceptable. The house belonged to Mrs. Lula Rash.

The newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reid are spending a few days with friends and relatives here.

Several ladies from the Christian Church C.W.F. visited the County Infirmary one evening last week and took gifts for the inmates.

The Community Birthday Calendar, sponsored by the 4-H Council, has finally gone to press. The calendars should be ready for distribution by March 1. I would like to personally thank all of the 4-H Leaders and members who made this project a success.

Work is well under way in planning the exchange trip to Iowa for our Teenage 4-H Club members. This trip should be the highlight of a 4-H career and an inspiration to any 4-H club member who is fortunate enough to be able to attend. Rules of eligibility will be sent to every teenage 4-H club member in the county. I would highly recommend this trip and urge all parents to aid in making this possible for those teenage 4-H members that will be selected to go.

The Experiment Station has published an excellent publication on "Adjustments Farmers can make under present Situation." If you are interested in this publication, notify the Extension Office and a copy will be made available.
