I'm a "Nice" Customer

But I'll Never Come Back To You Store

The fable of the apple tree

YOU KNOW me, I'm a nice customer, I never complain, no matter what kind of service I get.

I'll go to a store to buy something, I'm in the middle of the other person, I'll never complain to anyone, but I'll never complain to you if my hardware is ready. Sometimes someone who comes in after I get my hamburger, but I don't say a word.

If the soap is cold or the cream for the coffee is sour, I'm also annoyed.

When I go to a store to buy something, I'm in the middle of the other person, I'll never complain to anyone, but I'll never complain to you if my hardware is ready. Sometimes someone who comes in after I get my hamburger, but I don't say a word.

If the soap is cold or the cream for the coffee is sour, I'm also annoyed.

Once upon a time, four young men of the first line, to seek their fortunes in far places, were situated in learning something about the world and their people. When they returned they planned an apple tree. A tree of which no king had never dreamed in his land because it never grows in any other part of the world.

And so a man took a seed from the tree, and went away to the green plain. He took a seed from the tree, and went away to the green plain. He took a seed from the tree, and went away to the green plain.

ANY TOWN, ANYWHERE

Always "any town, anywhere" There's some money in every town. It's not the money you have, it's the money you make. It's not the money you have, it's the money you make. It's not the money you have, it's the money you make.

Weather just right in the West—don't let the clock.
