Not In Others: Believe In Your Friends

By C. D. Smith

Believing in your friends is a very good thing. It is a quality that is often lacking in our society. We live in a world where everyone is looking out for number one. We are often suspicious of others and do not believe in their word. This is a sad state of affairs. We need to learn to trust others and to believe in their word. This is the only way we can build a better society. We need to learn to trust others and to believe in their word. This is the only way we can build a better society.
