Letters to the Editor

Myers Route 1
August 28, 1960

Editor The Carlisle Mercury,

I am enclosing the answers to the questions you sent on my last notice about renewing for The Mercury.

Q—Broke glasses, can't read?

A—Yes, I can read and I am very thankful that I can. I am also thankful I never broke my glasses.

Q—Don't give a hoot about The Carlisle Mercury?

A—If I didn't like The Carlisle Mercury, I would just go sign for the star. For there is no one who makes me sign for it. I do, because I like the paper.

Q—Will subscribe for 100 years when my ship comes in.

A—Yes, if I still like The Mercury and my ship ever get in.

Q—Am broke.

A—Well, let's say, I am just poor and not ashamed of the fact that I am, I should be used to it by now. I am thankful I can still have $2.50 to renew for The Mercury.

Q—Lousy newspaper?

A—Yes and No. It has its good points and also bad, but I like to think the good outshines the bad.

Q—Just cancel, none of your business why.

A—No, I don't want to cancel —I sent the money to renew last Tuesday, but I never got my Mercury on Thursday. So will you please start sending it again.

Q—Haven't got time to fill in above.

A—I don't have time to do a lot of things that I do, but I do them anyway. That is why I am sitting here doing this foolishness instead of working. I like a little foolishness as I go through life.

Now once again would you please send me my Mercury. So I won't have to go to my neighbors on Thursday and borrow their paper.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Clyde Clark

(Editor's Note: We appreciate the above comments to our subscription renewal card. We asked for criticism and our wish was granted—all of which reminds us of a clipping we published once before:

Sometimes I think my competitors do more for me than my friends do; my friends are too polite to point out my weaknesses, but my competitors go to great expense to advertise them . . . If I had no competitors, no critics, I might be lazy, incompetent, inattentive; I need the discipline they enforce on me.

I salute my critics; they have been good to me. God bless them all!)

CONTACTS—When Governor Bert T. Combs took the state government to Maysville for two days, his contacts with citizens were not confined to interviews in the temporary office set up there. Residents stopped him on the street to ask questions or discuss problems. Above, he talks to Luther Linville, right, while James T. S. Nicholas, left, awaits his turn. Both men live at Maysville.

Fire destroys barn-garage and car; city swept by disastrous flood

Thursday, August 29, 1940

Harry T Letton, Democrat, and O. R. Gaffin, Republican, were named election commissioners for Nicholas County by the state board.

A total of 118 voters have registered in the office of County Clerk John F. Sugg. Of this number 72 were Democrats; 45 Republicans, and one Independent.

Tom Underwood, editor of the Lexington Herald, takes over reins of the Democratic State Central Committee, following the resignation of J. Lyter Donaldson.

A LITTLE YAPPIN'

by Nellie Crump

When the City Beckons.

Time certainly flies! More than a week has passed since the morning Bessie and I left on the bus for Covington, a trip planned for weeks. Our visit to Pajua had served as a sort of appetizer for what was to follow. Changing buses at Paris the heat was terrific and we were told that the air apparatus was not working. That held no fears for we had only had one air conditioned ride in a whole lifetime. "We will get off in Covington", I said to the bus driver and everyone smiled. Two or three girls giggled (thought we couldn't take it). The driver looked over his load of perspiring humanity and laughed, "Open the windows or just sweat, there's nothing I can do." Who ever
