CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

God's promises to mankind are being substantiated today through scientific understanding of Spirit. This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" which will be read this Sunday at all Christian Science churches.

Experiences of three men who received the fulfillment of divine promises — Abraham, Moses, and Zacharias—will be featured in the Bible readings which also include this verse from Isaiah: "For the mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed; but my kindness shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace be removed, saith the Lord that hath mercy on thee" (54: 10).

Among passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (491: 12): "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator."

Washington Reports
BY YOUR CONGRESSMAN
JOHN WATTS

Our Social Security Structure

Traditionally, since its inception, the Congress, and more particularly the House Ways and Means Committee of which I am a member, has been looked upon as the trustee, guardian and watch-dog of our Social Security trust funds. It is from these funds that the expenditures incident to the benefits provided come. Although little noticed, the post-conventions Congress passed important legislation affecting Amendments to existing law the welfare and interest of our senior citizens and those permanently disabled.

approved by the Congress increase benefits, broaden coverage and make more flexible advantages for our senior citizens and those permanently disabled under the Social Security Program.

Increased benefits in many key areas and liberalized eligibility requirements have been provided. In many areas, Federal participation, both, and assistance to the, states in their programs of public assistance, etc., has been increased.

Permanently And Totally Disabled

Heretofore, a totally and permanently disabled person, otherwise qualified, had to be at least 50 years of age before being eligible for benefits. This age requirement has been removed.

In addition, those who have apparently recuperated from their disabilities are permitted a trial work period without jeopardizing their eligibility for disability payments in the event of failure. The second waiting period for eligibility in such instances has been erased.

Permissible Earnings Increased

The income limitation was liberalized so that an individual will be able to earn more with substantially less in loss of benefits. Under existing law, for example, an individual earning $1,500 a year will lose four months' benefits which at, say, $100 a month, would total $400. If he had an eligible wife, she would also lose her benefits. Under the new bill, the same beneficiary would just lose $1 in benefits for every $2 of earnings between the exempt $1,200 and $1,500, or a total of $150.

Work Requirements Lessened For Many

Other major changes include an insured status liberalization provision by which approximately 400,000 older Americans will be able to qualify for Social Security benefits for the first time. The amendment will help people who have worked most of their lives in positions not covered by Social Security —such as school teachers and government workers who can't qualify for benefits if they have worked in a social security job for a specified time (1 quarter of coverage for every 3 quarters after 1950 and up to retirement age.)

Other Eligibility Liberalizations

The new law extends coverage to parents working in their adult children in other than household on non-business employment. It reduces from 3 years to 1 year the time that a wife, stepchild, or husband must be in such relationship to get retirement or disability benefits. It enables widows to qualify for benefits whose husbands died prior to 1940. It also extends to April 15, 1962, the time in which ministers

Concord Church closes four day program Sunday

A four-day program observing the 100th anniversary of the present Concord Christian Church building opened Wednesday night with the Rev. Raymond L. Alexander of Washington, N. C., as speaker.

The Concord church had one of the first congregations in this section. It originally was a Presbyterian Church and became a Christian Church under the ministry of the Rev. Barton W. Stone, one of the pioneer ministers of the Christian Church. The Rev. Mr. Stone also preached at Cane Ridge during the early years of that church.

The present building at Concord was built in 1859 to replace a log structure that burned.

The speaker at 7:30 p.m. Thursday will be The Rev. Keith Hutchings, pastor of Crescent Hill Christian Church, Louisville.

Friday night's speaker will be the Rev. Richard M. Pope, pastor of the First Christian Church in Paris.

Dr. Richard M. Pope will be speaker at services at 11 a.m. Sunday. The Rev. Lester D. Palmer will speak at 3 p.m. Sunday.

A basket dinner will be spread on the church grounds Sunday.

The Rev. Ashley Lovett will preside at all of the services at the Concord Church.

An invitation has been extended to all to attend each of the services.

Sales tax help offered retailers

The Revenue Department has announced it would again make available to retailers of Nicholas County, a representative of the department to assist them with the filing of sales and use tax returns.

Revenue Commissioner William Hall said a field representative would be at the Courthouse Courtroom in Carlisle on Sept. 7, 15 and 20.

The August return is due September 20.

Scent urged local retailers to visit the representative in person to clarify any questions on the reporting procedure.

He said the department is pleased with the cooperation retailers showed in the July reporting.

Scent said his department has processed about 55,000 July returns thus far.

He said some of the problems prevalent in the first months filing were:

1. Some retailers did not include the sales and use tax collected in their gross receipts. (The formula for figuring taxable receipts will not work unless the tax is included in gross receipts).

2. Lack of adequate records of all reporting information.

Money raising project offered civic clubs

The Lexington Trots announced today that the Association Civitan Club had agreed to handle the advance sale of general admission tickets to the 1960 meeting of the Lexington Trots, Sept. 28 thru Oct. 8.

The tickets will be on sale at the low price of $1.00 and profits resulting from the sale will be split evenly between the club and the track.

Civitan President Harry Barfield stated "This is the first project that I know of in Central Kentucky where the club has been able to take 50% of the sale and use same for their charities without having to deduct ticket costs and other expenses. When the public buys these tickets it is clearly stated where the money goes and they get a ticket entitling them to a day of fun at the races."

While making this announcement on behalf of the track Public Relations Director Bob Cox stated that the same offer could be made to any service club in need of a profitable project. Said he, "Any service club in Kentucky can make themselves extra charity or project money on an offer like this all they have to do is sell a few tickets. They have nothing to buy — only a little effort to put forth."

Any club in this area can make arrangements to take part in this advance sale by calling Mr. Cox by telephone collect at Lexington 2-1085.

Teacher salary increase helped by sales tax

Kentucky's new sales tax revenue will provide for a tentative increase of $37,582.13 in teachers' salaries to the Nicholas school district for the year 1960-61 and an $11,305.89 tentative increase teachers' salaries in the Carlisle Graded school district.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler said that according to the new 1960-61 state school budget, total teachers' salaries in the districts will be approximately $165,052.62 compared to $127,420.50 in Nicholas County and $75,325.69 against $64,020 for Carlisle, in last years' budget.

The new school year's total allotments may be increased by additional funds appropriated by the local district.

Superintendent Butler stated that "Kentucky now has a sound blueprint for the development of a better education program and for the first time has sufficient revenue to develop the program."

"The next step," he said, "is carrying out our program is to improve instruction in the classroom and eliminate waste and inefficiency in administration of our schools."

"Plans have been formulated that will permit each state and local levels to insure the people that tax dollars will be spent wisely," he said.

Teachers' salaries on a statewide level will show a tentative increase of $20,009,144 over last year's allotments.

The entire program will be financed by approximately $138,850,529 in funds, which includes $93,000,000 total state allotments, a $30,000,000 or 50 per cent increase over allotments of last year, plus $45,-873,319 in total district expenditures.

Young trees, evergreens, and shrubs should be cultivated during hot summer weather. Keep the soil loosened to a depth of three or four inches in a circle 24 to 30 inches in diameter around each plant.

Low-to-moderate cooking temperatures of 300 to 350 degrees are recommended for all meat. This is especially important for the less tender cuts when they are being cooked by dry heat. Broiler temperatures range from 300 to 350 degrees about 3 to 4 inches away from the source of heat.

Summer squash is perishable and should be handled carefully.
