A credit to our Community

It is most gratifying to know that the members of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court could see the great need of improving the Johnson Memorial Convalescent Home. The improvements to the building such as painting the inside walls and woodwork, storm windows and doors, and the improvements in the hall and front room and storming the front porch when completed will mean a great deal to the patients in the home by making their general well-being and letting them know they are not our forgotten citizens.

Nicholas County Shows The Way

Residents of Nicholas County have launched a program that could well be copied by other counties in Kentucky. The organization known as the Nicholas County Development Corporation has undertaken the creation of a 70-acre tract in a 150-acre tract. There are a dozen other counties, all within a few miles of Lexington, that could undertake similar projects that would be most beneficial to their citizens and to the economy of the area.
