Editor The Carlisle Mercury,

Enclosed find two dimes for which please send me copies (1961) of Sept. 7 and 21, if it is humanly possible as those old pictures were therein and my father, the late A. F. Kerns in both of them — my maternal relatives started the Mercury, with the first issue and four out of six children are still subscribers. I don't know too many names but I look forward to the arrival of the Carlisle Mercury.

Yours Very Truly,
Mrs. Minnie Lee Russell

My Neighbors and Friends.

Clarence Baugus underwent surgery at the hospital.

Miss Clara B. Sapp, who has been ill for awhile, suffered a relapse during the week and has been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Watkins are parents of their first child, a daughter, born at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamer Miller were Sunday afternoon guests of Miss Nellie Crump.

I was glad to attend the revival services of the Pilgrim Holiness Church one night during the week.

Are You a Sleep-walker?

Suffering from sleep-walking or high fever, M. C. Snapp, a lad most everyone knows, walked out in the cold one of the worst nights last week and hobbled on his recently broken leg to the home of a neighbor a block away from his aunt's home where he stays. Some say he had on only a thin cotton shirt, others say he was entirely nude. (I do not know). When the neighbor could not get his own clothes on in time to overtake the child, he called the police. The knock on the aunt's door was the first she knew of what was taking place. Most of the neighbors were out by this time and the seventh grade student was apprehended and taken to his mother's apartment on Broadway. As the hours dragged slowly by, the boy grew worse and was taken to the hospital where the condition was pronounced pneumonia.

In Memory of Aunt Mollie.

The memory of all the good times I had ten days ago, was saddened by the death of Mrs. Mary Brothers Crump, my last near relative besides some cousins, most of whom I would not know should we chance to meet. She was the last of the large family of Rev. George W. and Mary Rhoden Crump who died years ago. She was the widow of Melvin "Meck" Crump, keeper of the Nicholas County farm on the Pleasant Spring road. The large house burned some years ago. Her father was "Uncle Mose" Brothers, once jailer of Nicholas County and his wife Alice Vaughn Brothers, a leading seamstress of that day. Burial of Mrs. Crump took place Friday in Carlisle cemetery. She leaves a daughter, son, grandson and great-grandson to cherish her memory.

Sight-seeing in Carlisle.

At home all alone on Sunday afternoon a week ago when the phone rang and I received an invitation to while away some time with Ruth and Ben Alexander at their home on Eastern avenue. I am always rarin' to go, so Ben came for me in a split second. The weather was a bit chilly and a cozy coal fire burned brightly in the living room grate. After a couple of hours' pleasant conversation punctuated by delicious refreshments, Ben asked if I had seen the new homes over town. I had not, so he, Ruth and I all got in the front seat and away we went out East Main to the hospital and all over Shepherd Hills, thence to Kennedy Heights, Sycamore Hill and Douglas Court, all beautiful new additions to Carlisle. Well over a hundred new homes have been built, I was told, and I believe it. It was a wonderful afternoon and trip.

With Friends on Sycamore Hill.

Early in the morning Mrs. W. M. Kendall extended a hearty invitation for us to have a spend-the-day at her home on Sycamore Hill. I was thrilled and ready when she and her husband arrived to accompany me over. It is always a pleasure to be in their home. While she prepared a delicious meal, Will busied himself with his garden-fresh horseradish (he prepares his own!) I was mighty sure to stand 'way back out of the line of fire when he entered the kitchen where I was learning new ideas about cooking and things. In their home are many pieces of antique furniture which they have re-done themselves. Also are many curios collected by their son, Major Ivan Kendall, of the world. (At present he is stationed at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines). The one special item was the camel's saddle—and I at last realized that either I do not know camels or I do not know saddles—I thought it was a footstool! Anyway, the day was very enjoyable, even though I failed to see their pet cats—they had taken off early over the cemetery hill and had not returned when I left for home.

Laundering Colored Cotton and Linens

Water temperature, warm. Agitation and Spin, regular. Time, 10 minutes. Detergent, All Purpose. Bleach, optional.

Pastel colored towels, colored table linens, and childrens play clothes which are not Wash 'n Wear are typical of the garments using this laundry recipe. Avoid hot water on pastel linens and matching mates. Be sure you launder all matching mates under the same conditions.

Garments which may make up your colored load are: Bath mats and stool covers, Bed spreads (Soft colors and pastels); Curtains (Pastel colors); Play clothes; Pillows (Feather and foam); Shag rugs (heavily soiled light colors—colorfast); Shirts (Untreated colored); Washable shoes (flats) Slip covers (Heavily soiled, white and light colored untreated cottons); Socks (Cotton and Synthetic).

Bath mats and shag rugs which have rubber backings, should be air dried. Heat may tend to soften the rubber.

Feather pillow may be dried completely in a dryer. Two pillows require approximately 110 minutes. The odor you may detect is from drying feathers. Nothing is burning.

Foam rubber pillows should not be dried in dryer.

Washable shoes should be placed on flat surface to air dry so they will retain their shape. To hasten drying, tumble, on the "Regular" or Regular Fabric" setting till partially dry.

Slip covers will look braid new with little ironing, providing they are removed from dryer slightly damp. Press only pleats or ruffles. They are easy to adjust on furniture when slightly damp and will dry in place wrinkle free.

Colored clothes will always appear fresh, and "color true", if dried in a dryer. (No sun fading).

Plan Now For Income Tax Savings

A farmer who does a little income tax planning now may save himself a lot of money. Farmers who keep their farm records on a cash basis often suffer tax consequences because of a widely fluctuating taxable income. Check your income and expense to date, estimate your expense and income for the rest of the year, then decide if your expected net income looks high or low compared with past years.

If your income looks higher than usual this year, hold off on sales until after January 1. You can also stock up on feed and fertilizer before the end of the year. If your income looks unusually low, delay purchases and make arrangements to carry purchases on account into the first of the year. Sell grain and livestock before the end of the year — but not if it means taking a cut in prices. Planned purchases and sales may do a good deal toward leveling out your income from year to year and result in a saving in income taxes.

The Importance of Leaders in 4-H Club Work

Can you image one teacher in a school teaching four hundred boys and girls more than fifty different subjects? That's how confused our 4-H Club program would be if Extension Agents had to do all of our 4-H Club work. But instead of confusion, we have a smooth operating 4-H program throughout the state, thanks to thousands of 4-H leaders who give their time and talent to teach the boys and girls.

The Extension Agents and 4-H Council, along with the 4-H leaders, have time to develop the 4-H organization and to provide the leaders with project materials with which to do the teaching.

The 4-H leaders do most of the work and should receive credit for the success of 4-H work. As our 4-H work grows the need for leaders increases. So if you can give some time and if you are interested in our boys and girls, we have a job for you as a 4-H leader.
