100 YEARS AGO

Stuart's seasons blew up. The horses pulling another fell, and the gun had to be pushed manually to the rear. A South Carolina unit and a Confederate Kentucky unit mistook each other for enemies and began firing into each other. Stuart, Dressville eventually went to writing of it later, said. "Men and horses fell around me like George B. McClellan. But McClellan was in no condition to receive it. On the same day of the battle, McClellan was struck and reinforced and he would be cut to pieces. Gradually, his men deserted and the battle ended. Stuart suffered an aggregate loss of 194 men killed, wounded and missing in 63 minutes. As a result failed to dampen Stuart's spirits. Considering his absence had its effects he had not delegated his powers, and his father-in-law and chief of staff, Gen. Randolph B. Marcy was afraid to act definitively while the young general was ill.

The end result still more deadly in McClellan's plans for an offensive against Richmond. McClellan's offensive went in a phenomenal improvement of points a game, is a ballhawking scotch. I wanted to increase on defense, and is shaping. "Why, I can't account for ing up as one of the best floor bowlers and make plenty of cards, baked items, desserts, pleasant surprise!"

For the holidays, fill the nut it," chuckled Kentucky coach general in the area. The 6 foot 7 inch, 190 lb. Blaster, in one season, has been sold on even offering a scholarship to the state's best basketball player from Bryan Station High School in Lexington. Der Baron's worst suspensions seemed one. He appeared in 13 games, averaging only about 4 minutes a game, and failed to earn a letter. Scotty has a manager 3 scoring average, and his high scoring outburst for the season was a whopping 3 points against Treves. These were hardly credentials to recommend the little guard for a starting berth this season. Something happened over the summer. The "Little Scotchman" in preseason drills hit the did less than other years." He went on. "It's easier out there than it is in practice. You get better shots, and more of them, and it's easier to look good in a game than it is in practice." What happened over the summer? Scotty's shooting game over the summer was a whopping 15 points. A fluke? As I called the shots in Kentucky, I watched Blaster make an interception after interception and bang in 15 points. A fluke? Next time out he got 20, and then 20 the time after that. He had arrived. But why? Scotty doesn't know himself. "No, I didn't do any kind of special practice during the summer," he told me. "I guess I

THE HOLIDAY TOUR

by Marty Lovelace
The holidays just wouldn't be authentic without corraling the kids and pets, and visiting friends and relatives, but let's make this year's tour a more enjoyable one by having the car in tip-top shape before the trip begins.
During the holiday season, you'll find service stations giving a thorough inspection to your car with free safety checks. You may want to ask them to check such things as the car's electrical system (battery, regulator, generator, and wiring).
The American Automobile Association reports that electrical system failures alone, accounted for over 16 million of the service calls (24%) last year. Actually, you may find very little wrong with your car, but it will no doubt cost much less to have it repaired now... than later! The "Safety Check" may prove to be just that ounce of prevention that will help in making your holiday driving more pleasurable.
Minor things like windshield wipers, anti-freeze, headlamps, and defrosters, will take only seconds to check... and you may be glad you did, later!
The holiday season is also a time for festive parties, so when you have that "one for the road," make sure it's coffee!
And don't forget that "Litter Bag," we want to help keep Kentucky beautiful even under a blanket of snow.
Have a happy holiday season, and a safe trip. Your local service station will also be helpful in assisting you with routes and maps.
Won't it be nice to drive away on your holiday tour with your family without having to worry about the car? A "Check" may help you to have the safest Holiday Tour yet!

A Christmas table centerpiece can be made by following these directions, roll a piece of colored paper into a cone shape. Decorate this with a ribbon, bits of sparkling glitter, and perhaps a sprig of holly. Then fill it to overflowing with pieces of fir, spruce or pine.

UP TO PAR... Joe Perry Baender, wife of and chairman Doug Baender, has made a donation of support in the form of a picnic at our address in Florida.
