Cawood Calls Basketball

By WIAS Sports Director Cawood

It's part of life I guess. We remember the best things, and it's best that way. The same is true in sports. We remember the athlete for his moments of greatness. That, I think, is best of all. We are all human and we are all unfair when we make comparisons. The Hazard Kentucky sharpshooter are 19.4 points a game, tops in Kentucky's history for a sophomore. That's what record books are for.

Kentucky's newest basketball phenom is Cotton Nash. Already the big blonde is being compared to a list of UK all-Americans: Alex Groza, Ralph Beard, Bill Spivey, Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey, Vernon Hatten, Johnny Cox and Billy Ray Lickert. Nash may not turn out to be the equal of any of them. But as a sophomore still early in his varsity career, we have a tendency to compare the 6' 5" center-forward to the players as juniors or seniors and to these former hardwood greats in their moments of greatness.

Nash is a sophomore. He has already come within 4 rebounds of tying the all-time single game record at UK. The big blonde is averaging over 20 points a game. We remember Alex Groza and Ralph Beard racing the "Fabulous Five" through some of Kentucky's greatest hours, two NCAA championships and an Olympic gold medal. We have a tendency to forget that Groza averaged 8.3 points a game as a sophomore and Beard 6.4. Bill Spivey, the tallest player in UK history at 7 feet plus, had a fabulous sophomore season averaging 19.3 points a game. He scored forty points in one game against Georgia Tech as a soph.

Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey led Kentucky through a 25 game schedule without losing a single game in 1954, but they were seniors. Hagan played as a reserve most of his sophomore season and averaged 9.2 points a game. Ramsey led SEC sophomore of the year. He later led Kentucky to its fourth NCAA champion-

He still has to prove he can carry that performance over an entire season, but until he does or doesn't his sophomore performance should be compared with the records of the stars when the stars were sophomores. I'll be missing the WIAS microphone watching the big blonde throughout the season. Will you? Remember, he's just a sophomore.

Happy Events
Still, there were some happy events that Christmas season after all. Patricia Morris, our president, called the meeting to order. Brenda Flora, our secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Louise Edson, Mrs. Kathleen Judge and Mrs. Marjorie Wilson. A medley of Christmas music was played by Mrs. Pauline Clark followed with the devotion by Mrs. Judge, readings by Mrs. Edson, Mrs. Kathleen Judge and Mrs. Marjorie Wilson. Mrs. Jean Becker and Mrs. Lucille Irvin. We also enjoyed singing many carols. A story, "I Shall Remember Him Always" was read by Mrs. Lucille Clark.

Gifts
Mrs. Weaver conducted a short business session after which we enjoyed a program prepared by the Reading, Reading and Music Chairman, Mrs. Louise Edson, Mrs. Kathleen Judge and Mrs. Marjorie Wilson.
